1 – Introduction

“Our movement is about replacing a failed and corrupt political establishment, with a new government controlled by you, the American people.”

— Donald J Trump (2016)

It is a wonderful time to be alive. In previous generations, the most one could hope for was to bring in the Lord’s harvest properly. In today’s generation, one can learn, one can come up with an idea, and sling that idea around the world at the speed of light. Exchange of ideas is the basis for humanity being able to start moving to the next level.

Some of us are observers. From our observations, we detect patterns. In those patterns, we extract information. From that information, ideas form. It is our duty as citizens to share ideas. With this book, we are simply sharing an idea.

There is a worldwide phenomenon happening, that has been coined The Great Awakening. The definition of The Great Awakening is still taking shape, but has been formulated well enough that the authors think it is time to provide guidance on how The Great Awakening processes can best be used to shape the future of human civilization.

The Great Awakening, from the public's perspective, began on 5 October, 2017 when U.S. President Donald Trump made a cryptic remark² about 'The Calm Before The Storm'. This was almost one year after his historic election to the U.S. presidency.

In late October 2017, a person or group dubbed QAnon began posting in a public imageboard system called 4chan.org, on a board called /pol/. The information was intriguing, and the users of that board went through a vetting process to try to qualify the information. Vetting continues to this day, but the size of the audience that follows QAnon and believes that QAnon is fully vetted, is in the several millions, and growing exponentially. That is of sufficient size to ensure permanency of The Great Awakening phenomenon.

At the time of publication of this book, some 2 years later, we can safely say that 'The Storm is Upon Us'.

² <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=VrF7alkwdHw>

QAnon has convinced millions that Donald J. Trump, U.S. military intelligence, U.S. military, and certain members of the U.S. political leadership are teaming to help guide America, and even the world, toward a brighter future.

Some continue to accuse QAnon of being a LARP (Live Action Role Player), who is contriving to fool people into having a false hope of a brighter future, and contriving to claim that Trump is part of a group that is saving humanity from enslavement by a shadowy worldwide “cabal” of powerful people and institutions (the Cabal)³. The LARP accusations imply illegitimacy and unimportance, e.g. “It could be a kid in a basement”.

³ “The Cabal” is a popularly-used term for a group, or a (con)federation of groups, or a syndication of groups, or a set of groups only informally and occasionally aligned with each other, that secretly and clandestinely operate to corruptly manipulate and control governments, corporations and other powerful, influential or economically important organizations or institutions that, unlike the Cabal, are not fully or partially hidden from public knowledge. We will also use the term “shadow institutions” as a synonym for the Cabal, partly to reinforce the fact that we don’t yet really know the full organizational structure of the Cabal and its internal command and control mechanisms. The Cabal may not be a single entity--and even if it is, we know that large organizations typically have factions and/or internal departments/agencies that do not always fully agree with each other. Also, the Cabal is known to use “front” organizations and institutions whose existence is not secret, but whose activities and purposes are kept (at least partially) hidden. Other authors and sources have used yet other terms for the Cabal, such as “The Powers That (Should Not) Be” and the “Illuminati” (but the latter term is probably technically incorrect, at least when used to refer to the overall concept.)

One simple response to those accusations follows. If Q simply wanted to develop a cult of fooled believers in conspiracy theories that he could control at his whim, would he have chosen such a group of skeptical misfits as he did? Praying Medic, on Twitter, summarized the fallacy of that type of thinking very well, in August 2018, with this tweet⁴:

As you read this book, the legitimacy of QAnon will become very clear to you, as will the long-term goals of Trump and of QAnon. In addition, a way forward for humanity will also become very clear to you.

It is not the purpose of this book to convince the reader of the legitimacy of QAnon. In fact, by the time you are finished reading this book, you may come to the realization that the future of The Great Awakening fully depends upon the citizens embracing the concept and does not depend upon QAnon at all. You will learn that QAnon was simply a catalyst to help us realize the power that each citizen has within themselves.

The Great Awakening has many parallel objectives, some of which are likely not known to the public. Following are some of the conjectured objectives:

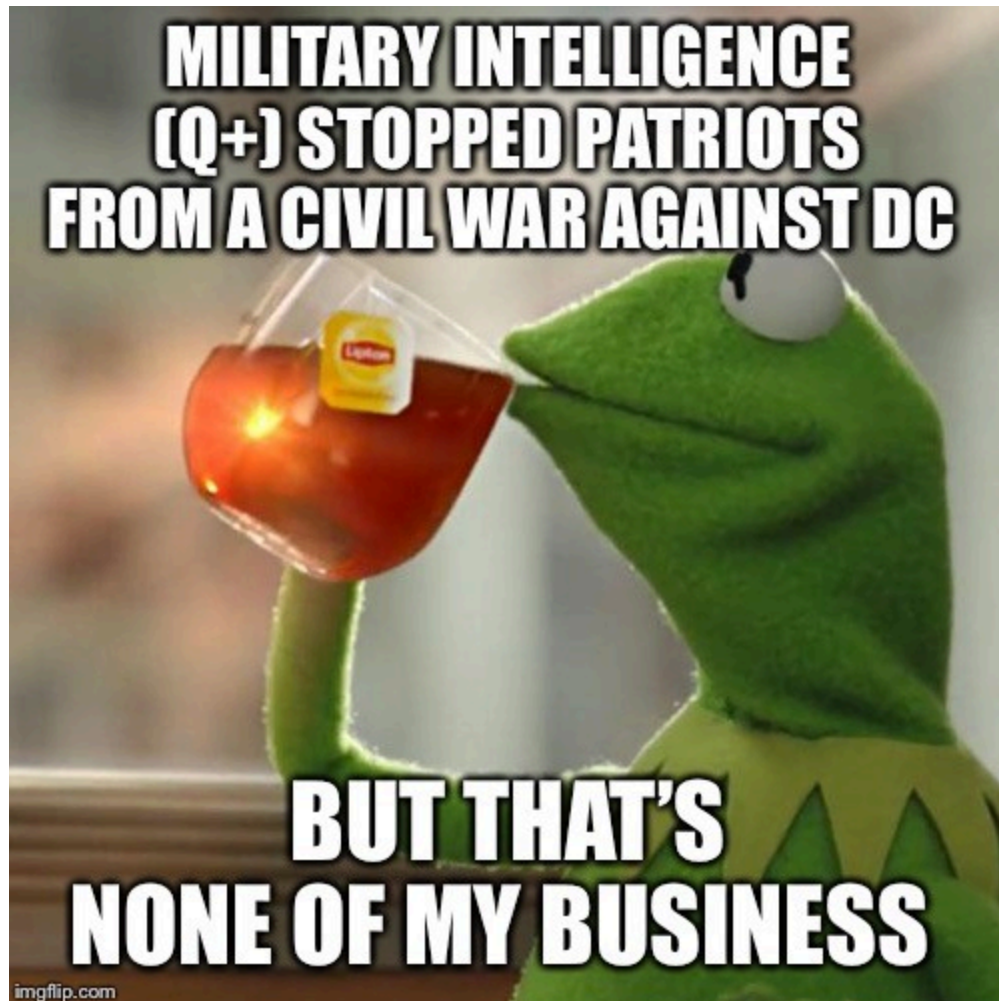

- Cutting off clandestine money flows of rogue U.S. and international agencies

⁴ <https://twitter.com/prayingmedic/status/1027743604515647488>

- Repatriating stolen funds
- Cutting the strings between controllers and their puppets⁵, to allow the puppets to operate independently once again, both domestically and internationally
- Destroying the Deep State, an amorphous and powerful coalition of elected and unelected persons whose goals are independent and mostly at odds with those of the citizens⁶
- Cleaning up rogue elements in government agencies
- Causing foreign governments to clean up their rogue agencies
- Causing banking and financial cartels to start better serving the populace
- Stopping human trafficking
- Exposing the corruption of media and social giants
- Eliminating voter fraud
- Causing humans to wake up, to start thinking freely again and to reclaim their freedom worldwide, through a slow process of repeated cognitive dissonance, with citizens researching and discussing their findings. We call this The Great Awakening.
- Accomplishing all of the above while preventing wars

⁵ A puppet is any person who is controlled by another by reasons of undue influence

⁶ The “Deep State” is not the same thing as the Cabal, although there is both overlap and collaboration between them. The term was coined by Mike Lofgren, in an essay entitled, “Anatomy Of The Deep State” (2014.) As the term was coined by Lofgren, it simply referred to the entrenched, permanent bureaucracy made up of civil servants who survive unscathed no matter who wins elections or otherwise assumes state power. The deep state is one of the levers of control used by the Cabal, but both exist independently of each other. Each synergistically makes the other more powerful, and more dangerous. The term is now commonly used to mean, at a minimum, the synergistic collaboration between the Cabal and the entrenched bureaucracies that infest all states and their institutions, but may be intended by some authors as a synonym for the Cabal.

The Great Awakening is the subject of this book, whose goal is to provide information to help humans best manage their newfound awake state, while they retain the desire to fully regain their freedom.

The Great Awakening is enabling citizens to break from old paradigms and to form new ones. It is allowing citizens to realize that they truly hold the power to shape civilization, and that the opportunity is theirs to grasp. We are no longer bound by our past or our self-inflicted inhibitions and outmoded doctrines. We are now determined to demonstrate the next phase of humanity through citizen collaboration.

The Great Awakening is well in hand with the help of the most powerful leaders and military in the world. Citizens are helping by researching, waking other citizens, exposing corruption, vetting leaders, and voting in sufficient numbers to ensure continuity of The Great Awakening process.

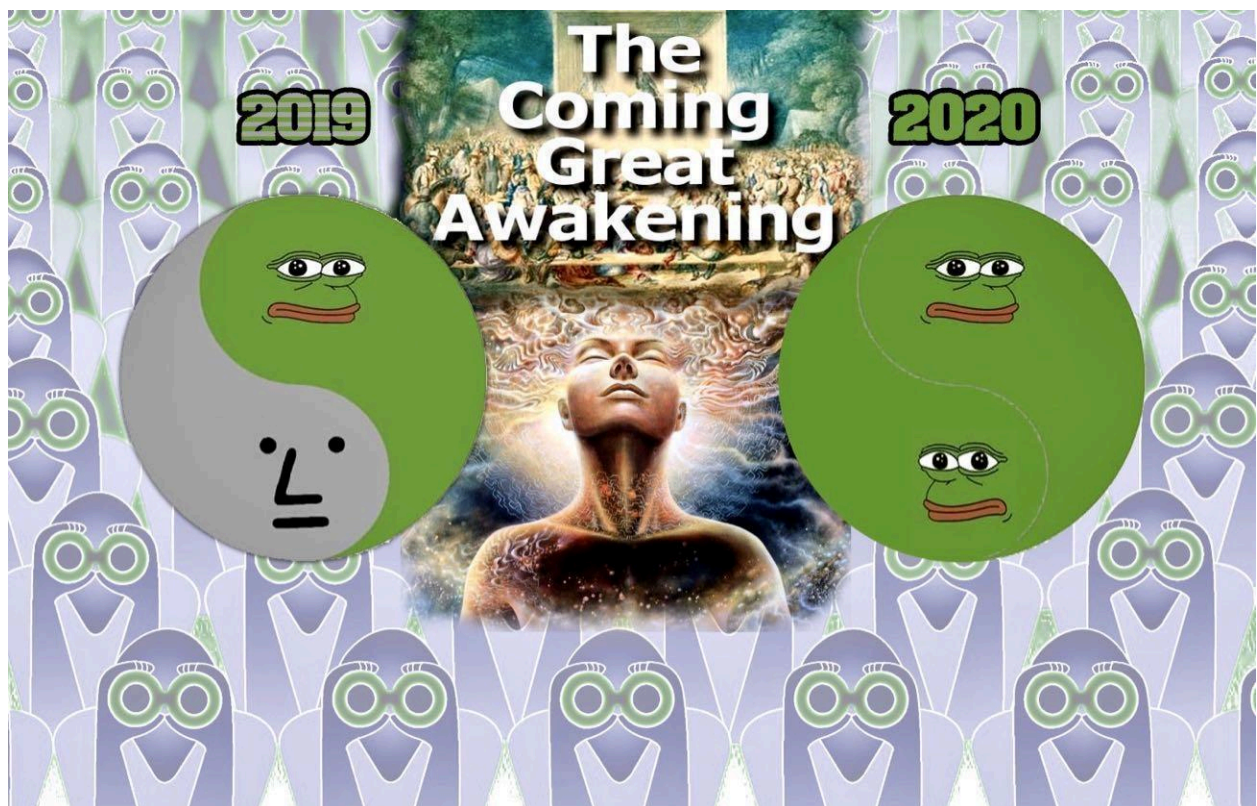

One serious risk that our awake citizens face is that they can become too complacent, thinking that all of the serious problems will be solved by our currently benevolent power structure, failing to realize that the power structure is subject to change at the next national voting event. They may typically expect that with the current U.S. leadership removing some global shackles on humanity, that we can coast for one hundred years of prosperity. However, some of these awake citizens, including the authors, realize the need for humanity to be able to operate independently of a benevolent power structure. The authors believe that humanity needs to be able to operate independently for long periods of time, regardless of the political situation at the top.

To help address the future applications of The Great Awakening phenomenon, knowing that there is real potential for achieving long-term peace and prosperity, this User's Guide to The Great Awakening was created.

Unlike some treatises on this subject, this book does not require the reader to embrace any particular spiritual beliefs, does not require the reader to hope for any particular hidden tech to be revealed, and does not require hope for a benevolent dictator or superhuman to always be here to make the world right again. Also, this book does not engender any fear about common threats to humanity beyond what QAnon has already identified, as a means of motivation to collaborate as citizens. If you expect any of those items, you should be able to find what you are looking for in other sources.

This book is designed to demonstrate the power of collaborative humans, that humans, together, using simple, easy to embrace concepts like optimism, information, determination, and collaboration, can reshape and perfect the world and all of human civilization, while ushering in long-term worldwide peace and prosperity.

It is our hope that, by the time you reach the end of this book, that you ask yourself "What is the worst that could happen? Why not join the effort?", and that you roll your shirt sleeves up and pitch in to help usher in The Great Awakening.

Purpose of This Book

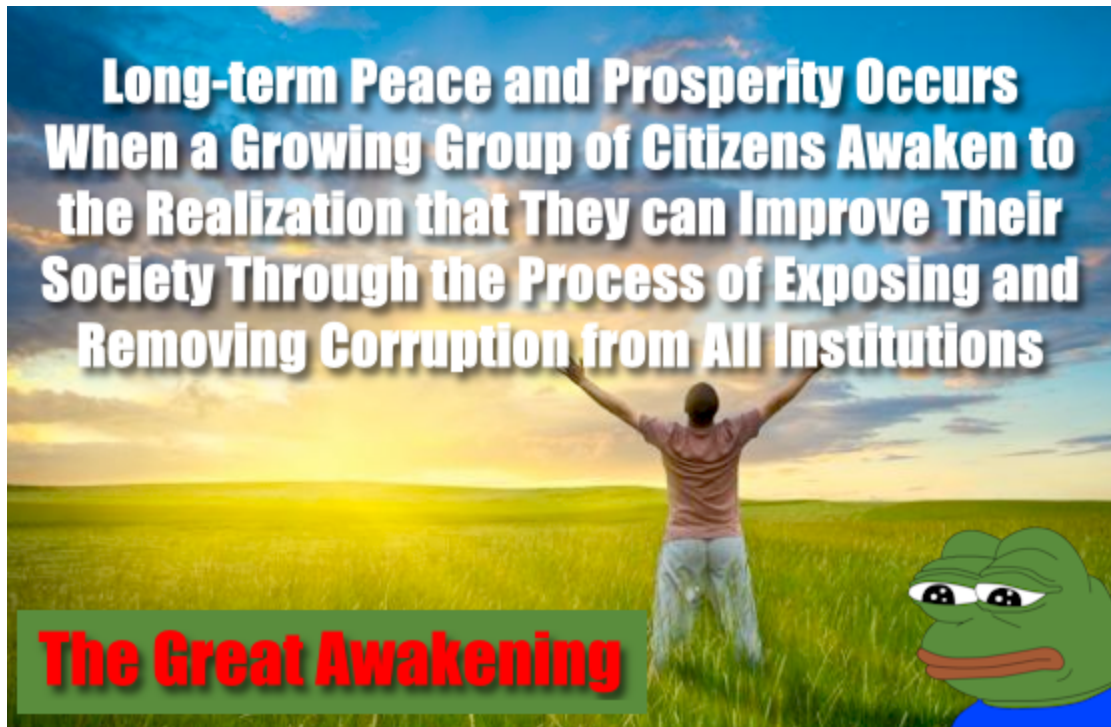

The primary purpose of this book is to help you, the reader, recognize that, as a continuation of the original Great Awakening event in 2017, that:

1. Truth is more powerful than deception
2. Optimism is more powerful than pessimism
3. Small institutions are more beneficial to society than large institutions
4. It is possible for citizens to unshackle their societal bonds non-violently
5. It is possible to continuously improve society
6. It is possible to achieve long-term peace and prosperity worldwide
7. It is possible, and necessary, to achieve these goals by avoiding the creation of large institutions
8. It is possible to embrace an inevitable positive outcome for humanity without requiring outside help
9. All that is needed to accomplish your desired future is a basic set of common principles, the Internet, and a trustworthy judicial system
10. A continuous focus on detection and removal of institutional corruption is the core thesis that you will learn in this book
11. It is worthwhile for you to join the effort that is already underway

As analysis of The Great Awakening progressed through 2018 and 2019, memes were created and refined to help summarize our understanding. The following meme is intended to encapsulate one definition of The Great Awakening, and is used as a basis for creating this book.

This book assumes that you have already been redpilled (awakened) to QAnon and The Great Awakening. If you have not, you may still benefit from this book, but it is recommended that you first study one or more of the following resources before reading this book:

1. This Video Will Get Donald Trump Elected⁹ Published 24 October, 2016. This video hints at The Great Awakening. We will reference this video multiple times in this book.
2. Q - The Plan To Save the World REMASTERED¹⁰ A video created by Twitter and YouTube user Joe M¹¹ that originally appeared on 25 June 2018, masterfully summarizing The Great Awakening
3. Articles by Martin Geddes on The Great Awakening¹², one of which is published in this book
4. qagg.news¹³, a listing of Q drops that are referenced in this book
5. Articles by Neon Revolt on The Great Awakening¹⁴, a QAnon researcher who successfully bridged knowledge from QAnon drops to the masses

<https://www.neonrevolt.com/2018/07/11/who-is-qanon-an-introduction-to-the-qanon-phenomenon-qanon-great-awakening/>

The above meme was designed to illustrate the essence of how The Great Awakening process began, where Donald Trump, U.S. military intelligence insiders and a digital army (motivated research volunteers, autists, anons), teamed up to launch a reshaping of the world's perception of human potential and opportunity. That reshaping process, aided by the U.S. military at the time of publishing, and other world leaders and organizations, is full of promise for reducing or eliminating the enslavement of humanity by an elite class of bad actors that are currently active on the human stage.

The elite class of bad actors that are currently active in human affairs defies easy definition. They are amorphous coalitions of powerful persons and institutions. The institutions can include royalty, business, government, religions, charitable organizations, foundations, societies, crime syndicates, etc. The things that all of these bad actors have in common are accumulation of power and actions that intend harm upon the non-elite classes of citizens.

QAnon (AKA Q) has been proving that Q has a direct association with President Trump and the U.S. military and has been able to energize a growing group of smart, skeptical and energized citizens and turn them into a formidable force for good, by providing seed information. This group of citizens is also known as the Digital Army, QArmy and QAnons. Many choose to remain anonymous, while a growing segment choose to publicly proclaim their support for QAnon and The Great Awakening.

Does everyone need to become a digital soldier for The Great Awakening's continued success? It only takes a portion, say 5% to 10%, of the citizenry to perform the primary functions required for The Great Awakening process to continue and grow, but greater numbers can accelerate the overall process.

The above is an example of analysis by the QAnon Digital Army. This item from 7 December, 2019, demonstrates that The Great Awakening has grown beyond the tipping point, as was discussed on the Fox News show Watters' World. That Watters' World episode¹⁵ itself was an additional QAnon milestone, being the first mainstream media analysis of QAnon.

Did QAnon anticipate the consequences of the continued operation of this worldwide united digital army beyond QAnon and Trump? The authors say yes, and we attempt to explain how and why in this book. We also intend to demonstrate that the concept is easy to embrace.

There is a story, often told, that upon exiting the Constitutional Convention Benjamin Franklin was approached by a group of citizens asking what sort of government the delegates had created. His answer was: "A republic, if you can keep it."

Imagine the following scenario: Upon exiting the White House for the final time, Donald Trump is approached by a group of citizens asking what sort of society that he had created. His answer is: "The Great Awakening, if you can keep it."

We believe the persistent actions of the Digital Army are ushering in the beginning of the next stage of human civilization, which could be called the Second Renaissance.

Can we continue to operate as a leaderless force, thinking for ourselves, while improving society? We so believe. We intend to prove that concept in this book.

We do not have to all agree, up front, on a full set of principles and methods for good things to continue happening for civilization. The authors believe that the outcome will be the same, regardless, if we adhere to a basic set of easily embraceable principles. You are in a good cause. We, as the Digital Army, can make this New Renaissance last forever.

Why do You Need a User's Guide?

The Great Awakening has been thrust onto humanity, albeit in a carefully constructed process that minimizes casualties, as citizens awake from their slumber. The “slumber” can be defined as the lack of recognition of the encroaching enslavement process, combined with a lack of confidence that the citizens can resolve all of the significant societal problems themselves. Now that we are being handed the keys to a new future, we must learn how to navigate that future, throughout the world, as efficiently as possible, and for as long as possible, on our own.

Society will inevitably be reshaped as we further learn our potential, and as we steer the evolution of civilization to the next level.

When The Great Awakening efforts of QAnon and Trump are put into the perspective of the human history timeline, the best time for citizens to take action to help to create, and to maintain, the societal advances offered by The Great Awakening, is now. Right now is the best time to apply the principles defined in this book, due to the momentum created within the first years of the Trump presidency, which can be carried forward through citizen ad-hoc efforts.

The research identifying how to refine the principles required to further The Great Awakening was based upon a few core principles:

- Some humans exhibit vile behavior and will not change¹⁸
- Those who commit vile behavior are also likely associated with efforts to accumulate power
- Power attracts pathological personalities¹⁹
- Power is accumulated using the most effective methods available
- Effective power accumulation methods include the creation of large institutions and hierarchical control systems
- Effective power accumulation methods include compromising humans--using methods such as extortion, bribery, blackmail, gaslighting²⁰ and indoctrination--so that they will act as “puppets” for their controllers²¹
- Effective power accumulation methods include the insertion of puppets into the large institutions created by others²²
- Effective power accumulation methods include using large institutions to cause free people to become less free over time, via corrupt rule making and propaganda
- The QAnon digital army, using the Internet, have demonstrated effectively how to research and expose institutional corruption

The good citizens of the world simply need to realize that they have the power to counteract the efforts of the bad citizens, or social parasites, who live among them. The good citizens also need to realize that the tools and principles that they need to embrace are simple to understand. Those basic tools and principles can have a significant and lasting positive impact on civilization, hence the true intent of The Great Awakening.

During the research required to vet QAnon and to become committed to the cause, watching how the digital army was created, and observing how it works, it became clear that the digital army can be useful for solving problems of smaller scale than the global problems currently being solved. It also became clear that the same process can be used repeatedly to solve most, if not all, societal problems.

Modeling The Great Awakening process both in scale and time, helps one to realize that the process can, in theory, be applied to resolving any societal problem, at any scale. Another part of the modeling that was performed was to be able to translate what is happening into a condensed set of concepts and principles. Once a condensed set of concepts and principles is identified, it is mentally exercised against real societal issues, to see if the model needs to be further improved. In the engineering world, these societal issues would be called use cases.

Citizens can use these same techniques to optimize a refined set of principles and methods that best fits their particular societal needs, while still accomplishing the overall benefits offered by The Great Awakening.

One thing that many have not yet realized is that this digital army does have common goals and can continue to thrive and do good for the world after we no longer hear from Q. Another thing that many have not yet realized is that as citizens wake up and become energized for the improvement process, they will be looking for some leadership, and for some answers.

This book is an attempt at providing a basis for The Great Awakening society to be able to start with a simplified set of concepts and principles, and evolve from there, rather than requiring them to try to do the modeling and simplifying effort at the point when they are in dire need of immediate guidance. The problems associated with a need for immediate guidance in the history of mankind have always resulted in a society being forced to quickly acquire non-vetted leaders, who are routinely power accumulators. This process causes human history to typically cycle through short-term prosperity cycles, only to then return to a similar dismal state at which the cycle began.

Concepts that we will learn in this book include:

- There is an inevitable good long term outcome for human civilization
- Trump and QAnon are just the catalysts, not the maintainers of The Great Awakening
- Large institutions are passé and citizen coalitions are the new norm
- Responsibility is no longer outsourced to institutions, but held by the people
- The responsibility for maintenance is now at the citizen's level, but it requires only citizen involvement to work well, not institutional involvement
- The citizens need to do continuous maintenance activity long-term, if they want to keep this great opportunity that was dropped into their laps

- A set of core principles need to be deployed in order to prevent the chains of enslavement of humanity from being re-created, and to establish long-term peace and prosperity
- The most important thesis that we will learn in this book is that a continuous focus on the exposure and removal of institutional corruption has the most positive impact on humanity

There are many reasons why we advocate the continuous focus on institutional corruption as a core principle:

- Reduce opportunities to implement human trafficking
- Reduce opportunities to conduct activities that are contrary to society's shared ethical principles and/or are hostile to accountable and upright governance
- Reduce opportunities to manipulate citizens in ways that would make it easier to further engage in institutional corruption (corruption acceleration)
- It is relatively easy to sell the concept to citizens of the need to join an institutional corruption removal movement
- A focus on exposure and removal of institutional corruption starts an accelerating process that results in a virtuous circle (cyclical feedback loop) of good behavior. This virtuous circle results in long-term peace and prosperity

The tools you need for the future good of mankind include optimism, information, skepticism, discernment, goals, determination and collaboration. You use skepticism and discernment to help sort the good information from the bad, while helping mankind move forward toward the common goals.

The common goals can be simple, such as embracing a process that, when repeated, naturally results in a future that pleases all of the good people in a civilization.

As we continue to chip away at corruption, refine our methods, watch society improve, and as we see the successful outcomes, we will start realizing patterns which will help us to anticipate significant societal problems before they occur. We will then be able to refine society further by adopting, or retiring, the appropriate heuristics²³, principles and rules of good behavior and optimal social interaction, in a way to minimize our efforts and to maximize the long term stability of society.

2 – Defining The Great Awakening

— Martin Geddes (2018)

The definition of The Great Awakening is still evolving, but in general terms, great numbers of citizens around the world are becoming aware of worldwide institutional forces working behind their backs to undermine their freedoms. The general hope is that this new awareness of worldwide evil intent will spur these citizens into resolute actions, to both correct the societal structural issues and to prevent large structural issues from ever arising again.

Many are trying to define The Great Awakening, starting with QAnon and Trump, and including authors such as Martin Geddes and Neon Revolt. This book intends to define The Great Awakening as a long term set of processes, defined by citizens worldwide, for both optimizing and maintaining society, such that there is a long period of peace and prosperity.

In this chapter and in Chapter 3 are Q drops and Trump tweets that are relevant to the purposes of this book.

The above artwork can be used to create vinyl stickers, to help spread the message of The Great Awakening and to let other citizens know that you are awake. You can download²⁴ the artwork as a high resolution PNG file, then submit it to a sticker producer, such as Sticker Mule²⁵, to produce 2" x 2" round vinyl stickers.

The Great Awakening has been referenced multiple times by Q, addressed more fully later in this book.

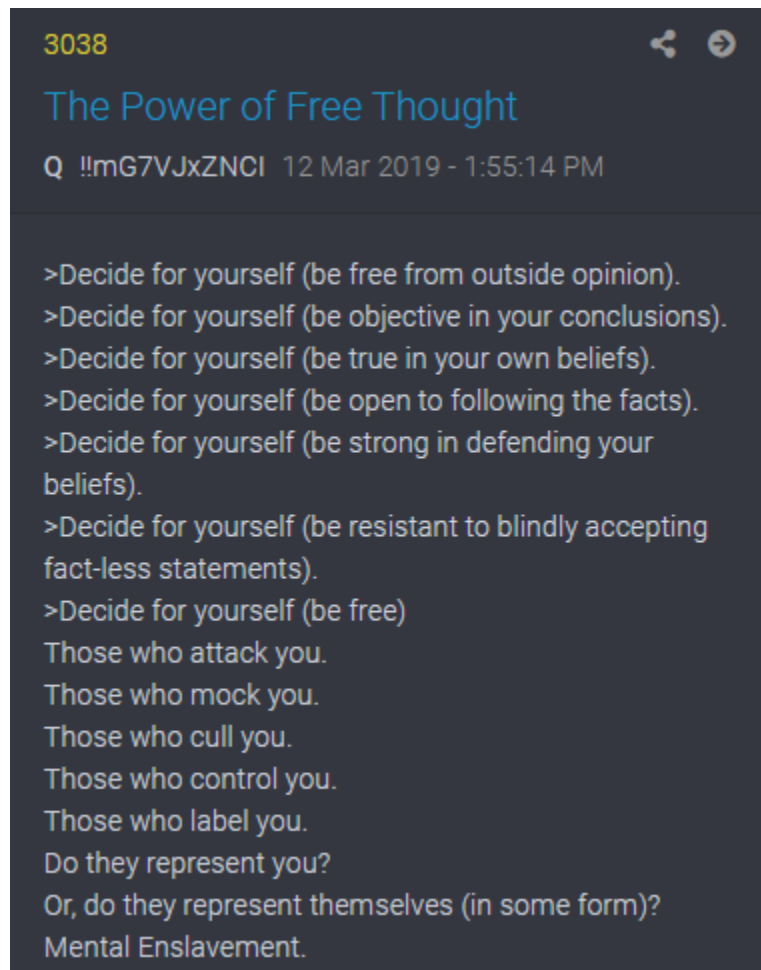

Note the phrases just above "The Great Awakening", "Disinformation is real" and "Disinformation is necessary". Disinformation is an information warfare tool, and is defined as false information, spread deliberately, to deceive. Disinformation is normally associated with deception and evil intent.

If you search qmap.pub with the search term "disinfo" or "disinformation", you will find a number of Q drops. When researching The Great Awakening, you will encounter much about disinformation. Q teaches that disinformation is necessary. That means that the good guys use disinfo as a tool for good.

There is much discussion about disinfo and how and why it is used by QAnon. Most of the discussion relates to the announcement of a particular action, such as release of evidence, to cause a reaction from the Deep State, then the release does not occur. Those feints can be used multiple times, to draw out and expose the enemy.

Near the end of Chapter 3 - Q and Trump Shape the Great Awakening, you will learn that disinfo can be used to shape the pace of awakening of the general public, where QAnon asserts that “we are in control”.

²⁷ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=3038>

The Great Awakening ('Freedom of Thought'), was designed and created not only as a backchannel to the public (away from the longstanding 'mind' control of the corrupt & heavily biased media) to endure future events through transparency and regeneration of individual thought (breaking the chains of 'group-think'), but, more importantly, aid in the construction of a vehicle (a 'ship') that provides the scattered ('free thinkers') with a 'starter' new social-networking platform which allows for freedom of thought, expression, and patriotism or national pride (the feeling of love, devotion and sense of attachment to a homeland and alliance with other citizens who share the same sentiment).

When 'non-dogmatic' information becomes FREE & TRANSPARENT it becomes a threat to those who attempt to control the narrative and/or the stable.

When you are awake, you stand on the outside of the stable ('group-think' collective), and have 'free thought'.

"Free thought" is a philosophical viewpoint which holds that positions regarding truth should be formed on the basis of logic, reason, and empiricism, rather than authority, tradition, revelation, or dogma.

When you are awake, you are able to clearly see.

The choice is yours, and yours alone.

Trust and put faith in yourself.

You are not alone and you are not in the minority.

WWG1WGA - The Greatest Communications Event in History, by Martin Geddes “Only small secrets need to be protected.

— Marshall McLuhan (HT @LionelMedia)

A time like no other in history

Having applied all of my integrity, intellect and insight to researching the matter, my belief is that we are witnessing right now one of the greatest communications events in history. Indeed, it is arguably the singularly greatest. So, what is this event, and why does it deserve this extraordinary description? The answers are to be found in how the (Western) mass media has been trapped by the most exquisitely constructed double bind.

If I am correct (and many share my view), then it portends the imminent collapse of trust in all mass media services and social media platforms [This is happening as predicted - Ed.]. That is because they are implicated in systemic, widespread and longstanding organised crime—that also encompasses much of our political and financial system. If this is unequivocally demonstrated to be so, then the public will unite in disgust at the media’s treacherous betrayal of its journalistic duties.

On the other hand, if I/we are wrong, then the power of social media and propaganda to create and inflate bubbles of insanity—trapping intelligent people of goodwill—greatly exceeds anything we dared to imagine. The information age will be darkened by having divided society, destroying a consensus reality.

That’s one heck of a story, too! For our culture shall inevitably further atomise, as our bonds of shared values and mutual understanding break apart. So too may the constitutional boundaries—and consequent rule of law—that help to keep the peace.

The stakes could not be higher

I have previously written about the #QAnon phenomenon. My assertion is that Q is a military intelligence team in the Trump administration (itself part of a global positive “Alliance”). They are opening up a backchannel with the public, bypassing the compromised mass media, to reach the “anons” and “autists” who hang out on 8chan [Now 8kun.top - Ed.]. There are good operational reasons for choosing this exotic social media platform.

A key purpose of the #QAnon operation is to facilitate a public “Great Awakening.” One of Q’s earliest posts states that “This will be considered the biggest ‘inside’ ‘approved’ dump in American history.” Q is delivering a “soft disclosure” of the end game of a “shadow war” that has been silently raging around us for years. The “drops” expose the present and past crimes and large-scale conspiracies of a transnational negative “Deep State Cabal.”

It is a matter bigger than politics itself, since presidents and administrations of both main US parties stand accused of profound corruption and war crimes. So too does the leadership of many supposed allies, including the British establishment. Once full disclosure happens, the Western public’s trust in their governing institutions will be severely shaken. Q is preparing a small slice of the population to share the load of restoring faith in the rule of law in a post-media age.

As the American Declaration of Independence asserts, when there is such an iniquitous state of affairs, “it is the Right of the People to alter or to abolish it, and to institute new Government.” We are in the midst of exactly such an event, with worldwide consequences. The present US administration—a de facto military government with a civilian veneer to prevent panic—is engaged in a complete replacement of a “failed and corrupt political establishment.” The process is a patient and judicial one, so as to minimise the risk of violent civil conflict.

As I wrote back in November [of 2017], what is transpiring is a second American Revolution, if not a global “War of Independence” from a psychopathic criminal culture. No thriller or spy novel has ever come close to the tale that is unfolding. You certainly wouldn’t dare to offer this story as fiction, as it would be deemed far too implausible for public sale! I myself am beyond astounded at what is transpiring, and find myself making unexpected new allies, while old acquaintances seek their distance.

“All we can say for sure is that humanity is entering uncharted territory.”

— Benjamin Fulford

A strange moment as we all struggle

Many others are having the same stressful experience, as family and friend relationships are strained by vehemently opposing beliefs. Either way, something epic is in progress that affects us all. It will profoundly change how we see each other and the society we live in. For it appears that we have been living under “soft totalitarianism,” complete with a shadow government and power structure, while it is falsely sold to us as freedom and democracy.

If you want to get away with war-for-profit and mass murder, it is relatively easy if you (surreptitiously) control the mass media. While the media’s role is supposed to be to hold power to account, it has instead become a way for those in power to control the public narrative—in a coordinated fashion. The mass media now manufactures distractions and deceptions, being an agent of a vilely corrupt establishment.

Fixing this psychologically abusive system of social control is where Q comes in, with an immaculately designed double-bind. How do you go about undoing decades of manipulation and lies by a media and celebrity class that is compromised to its core? You construct an alternative channel to communicate with the public. Then you work with “volunteer propagandists” of good standing (i.e. people like me) to legitimise and publicise it—denuding the incumbent rival of its power to set the narrative.

One Patriot’s take²⁹ on the Q movement. Citizen journalists like Joe M³⁰ are the mass media now. I recommend that you judge it on its whole, not the individual part messages. We’re all “feeling the elephant” of the Deep State from different stances.

MAGA is a revolt and revolution

Whatever your political persuasion, I consider these to be unquestionable facts on the ground:

²⁹ <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=KVeDKuHPDK8>

³⁰ <https://twitter.com/StormIsUponUs>

- The “Make America Great Again” (#MAGA) message got Trump elected to US President against long odds and a powerful set of incumbents. Hence the appeal of #MAGA is broadly held, and not a small “alt-right” view (noting that popularity and probity are orthogonal matters). I, for example, have never voted for a right-of-centre political party.
- Trump’s election campaign was run along classic military psyop techniques, and the #MAGA campaign was likely organised by the US military—who were in open revolt following treason by the Obama administration, and wanted to avoid a bloody coup.
- The Q subculture is a central plank of the wider #MAGA movement—which is a desire for the rule of law, liberty, and constitutional government. Without Q’s “anon army” #MAGA would lose much of its core support. Therefore Q has clear social and political significance in promoting the policies and actions of the Trump administration.
- There is extensive evidence being offered that directly links Q’s “crumbs” to the Trump administration—see Qproofs.com (which Twitter has been caught actively censoring... another story). For example, details of the DoJ Inspector General report, such as the precisely 13 illicit email accounts, were advertised five months in advance. The location and nature of the North Korea summit was also flagged up before any public knowledge existed.
- Trump’s own political “brand” is now inextricably linked to the Q movement, since he has consistently offered implicit “confirmation” (and no explicit denial). These acts are in person—such as vigorously pointing out people at rallies wearing ‘Q’ shirts—as well as online through Twitter.
- Furthermore, the US military is also implicated, as the DoD, Marines, etc. echo Q’s phrases and emblems. The warriors of the only superpower are visibly aligning to the #MAGA message, having been abused for decades in dishonourable conquests.
- Q has gained some limited recognition in the mass media, being consistently dismissed as crazed ramblings of loons and larpers. The most notable example is TIME choosing Q as one of its top 25 online influencers—but damning the whole movement in the same breath.

I have lived and worked in Kansas City for over three years; spent at least five years of my life in the USA; have a brother who lives in California; and slept a night in 30 US states. I find my European friends generally have little real understanding of American culture. Even American ones from the coastal cities seem wildly out of touch with the heartland.

As I have learned more, and done the hard work of fact-checking, my own views have shifted. I once saw Trump as a loud-mouthed billionaire with a colourful history, and the probable lesser of two evils. Now I realise that I was hopelessly wrong—in his favour. I have therefore totally changed my perspective as more verifiable data sources have arrived (with Q just being one of many).

My observation is that many strong political views about Trump and MAGA are underpinned with little experiential reality—being exclusively shaped by the corporate media that serves only its own interests. If my thesis is correct, the mass media’s hostility has a very self-serving purpose: to constantly lie and libel, so as to protect itself from public accountability and painful justice for its institutional criminality.

“We have it all” terrifies the “mafia media”

Given how Q has consistently and accurately predicted major and minor world events, the last bullet above should grab your attention. The catch-22 the media faces is that Q accuses them of complicity to cover up treason, sedition, human trafficking, widespread corruption, false flag terrorism, paedophilia, murder, organ harvesting, and more. (Most disturbingly—even worse—but this isn't the time or place to go there.)

#FakeNews doesn't really begin to convey what's being said here: the mainstream media has become a "mafia media." There is plenty of historical evidence available to back this assertion up, notably and famously the CIA's Project Mockingbird. Q points to a number of Congressional documents on how the CIA (a rogue "deep state" intelligence agency) infiltrated the media after WW2.

As former CIA Director William Casey famously said, "We'll know our disinformation program is complete when everything the American public believes is false." If you believe that this was an idle boast, or that it was all ended decades ago, then I have yet another mineral and opium war to sell to you.

But it doesn't stop there. Google, Twitter and Facebook — and by implication the Silicon Valley culture — are all singled out by Q as being corrupt by inception and operation. Q tells us that once the awful reality is known, "some [media] platforms will collapse under [the] weight of [their] illegal activities."

If Q is indeed a military intelligence operation—and to me, the evidence is overwhelming—the team has access to everything the NSA has ever collected (and that of over a dozen other US intelligence agencies). Q has said ten times: "we have it all." They know exactly what has been going on: the criminal surveillance state has been turned upon itself. As a responsible citizen, can you in good conscience continue to ignore this?

The perfect double-bind

If the mass media engages with Q, and asks the Trump administration if Q is legitimate, then absolute proof of their crimes will be offered at their own behest.

If the mass media continues to ignore Q, then public outrage will grow as they by association are accomplices to traitors, thieves and murderers as those crimes are revealed.

Either way, the mass media's credibility and legitimacy is destroyed—until they come clean and/or "flip" to serve the painful truth.

That time is rapidly approaching. Q has even offered a list of compromised journalists who face jail for racketeering. The "deep state" securely sends daily talking points to their media assets at 4am, with closely coordinated stories resulting. Criminals who occupy anchor positions on the daily news are hardly going to be sources of objective coverage of those seeking transparency and truth. If you aren't outraged yet, then maybe you ought to be!

By covering all of this here, I am publicly placing a large bet, and for a good reason. If what I say is anything approaching reality, then we must unite against this evil, and abandon old divisions. It's not conservative vs liberal, or left vs right, but criminal psychopaths vs the rest of us. The military, executive and judicial systems cannot transform society and legitimise the outcome alone. The people have to participate, demanding truth and justice, and give their consent to the new system of government.

I feel compelled to use my (rather isolating) "autist gift" to tell you exactly what I see, no matter how queasy it makes you feel. If you all unsubscribe, my clients abandon me, and I am never invited to speak in public again—then so be it! My conscience is clear, and that is what matters to me. If I learned one thing from a childhood in the Jehovah's Witness cult, it is the fatal loss of freedom you risk from the comfort of the crowd; critical thinking can be a distressing and lonely path.

"Question: What has been your biggest disappointment?"

Answer: Learning that even intelligent people can be cowards and that courage is a much rarer attribute than intelligence."

— Julian Assange

A “great awakening” is now imminent

The good news is that this journey towards collective awareness is already underway, with many upstanding fellow travellers. Its “call to memes” is the inscription from the bell on JFK's boat—“Where We Go One We Go All” (WWG1WGA). This is a desire for righteous intent and collective unity in order to overcome shared foes. Q regularly reminds us of this catchphrase—although unhelpfully lapsing at times into the fast-fading Red vs Blue political paradigm. This is understandable, given the critical November mid-term elections ahead, but we should look far beyond that.

The sense of our unity—the brotherhood and sisterhood of all humanity—is the antithesis of the ego worship of the psychopath. As such, WWG1WGA is the sacred honour code of loving people against the wicked moral doctrine of “Do What Thou Wilt”. What it offers—possibly for the first time ever—is the prospect of defeating those interests that have knowingly animated the suffering of war, slavery and poverty. For there is no greater prize than to end the racket of war, and this is why the “in history” qualifier is not hyperbole. The sudden progress with North Korea is an example of this not being empty rhetoric.

As Washington, Roosevelt, Eisenhower, and JFK himself have told us, secret societies and dark power—who adhere to this wrongness and perpetuate conflict and tyranny—have held sway over us for too long. My homeland is a soggy European archipelago, and not America. Yet this fight for independence and freedom is everywhere the same, and transcends national boundaries. My loyalty is to all good citizens of this planet, not to parasitical monarchs or power-mad egomaniacs.

Death of the deep state and its mafia media

Q has made a hard commitment that July is the month when the truth is made manifest, with resolution by November. If these promises are kept, then we do not have long to wait until the lights of disclosure are turned on. The darkness will begin to lose its grip of fear upon us, as we awaken from our induced narcosis. [See Epilogue below and disinfo discussion at the beginning of this chapter - Ed.]

This means that the next few weeks and months promise to be ones of unprecedented revelation and global revolt. If there is any recent historical parallel, think of the surprise and rapid fall of the Soviet empire, but on a worldwide scale, and without the calamitous fallout. Traumatic—maybe, but troublesome—emphatically not.

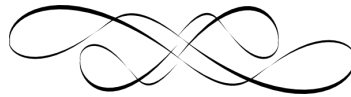

The “mafia media” is the last bastion of this “Deep State” organised crime network that has slowly infiltrated and hijacked many critical institutions. Its days are numbered, and the collapse will likely be fast and shocking to those unaware of what is unfolding. For where we all go—they are no longer coming with us. Good riddance and WWG1WGA!

Epilogue

The above was written in July of 2018. I am writing this in May of 2019. A lot has happened since then. Specifically, we have hard evidence of abuse of the FISA process, and the promise of imminent declassification of critical documents demonstrating treason and sedition. Q has delivered on giving us evidence, and we are waiting for the hammer to fall.

What we have learned since last year is that—as Q told us explicitly—disinformation is real and necessary. On matters of timing, we were purposely led astray. This forced the Deep State to expend its assets and make mistakes. In retrospect, that’s unsurprising: all war is deception. However, in terms of direction, we are now demonstrably bang on target. For instance, the Russiagate media hoax conclusively demonstrates this.

If the information in this article is right, then please be kind in how you use it, since many others will have to confront the surprise that their core beliefs have been “hacked.” If it turns out to be wrong, then be kind anyhow to those that offer it, for their strong beliefs have been “hacked” instead! Either way, there is emotional pain to deal with, and the blame should be on the hacker, not their innocent victim.

The Great Awakening from a Sociological Perspective

The key elements that are inserted into existing sociological models by what is happening with The Great Awakening, include activated optimistic citizens, adding collaborative functions that auto-correct growth of the administrative state and auto-reduce deviant collections of effective power.

The key arguments in a sociological impact discussion would be:

- If citizens are optimistic about their future, what's the worst that could happen?
- If citizens can collaborate to solve large problems without adding institutional growth of the administrative state, what's the worst that could happen?
- If citizens can collaborate to identify and remove institutional corruption, what's the worst that could happen?

Once those arguments are satisfied, you would simply ask, "What's the best that could happen?"

The French sociologist Emile Durkheim³¹ defined the term “collective consciousness” in 1893. The Great Awakening takes advantage of helping citizens adjust their collective consciousness, by injecting optimism about their innate power and their ability to achieve societal optimization through persistent collaborative efforts.

The Internet and communications technologies, such as social media and information access systems, provide a leveraging effect to the collective consciousness, finally allowing effective use of collaborative citizens in the corruption removal process.

3 - Q and Trump Shape The Great Awakening

“The two enemies of the people are criminals and government, so let us tie the second down with the chains of the Constitution so the second will not become the legalized version of the first”

— Thomas Jefferson

This chapter uses Q drops and Trump tweets to illustrate that both Donald Trump and QAnon are helping to ensure that enough citizens awaken, such that The Great Awakening phenomenon can result in long-term peace and prosperity, worldwide.

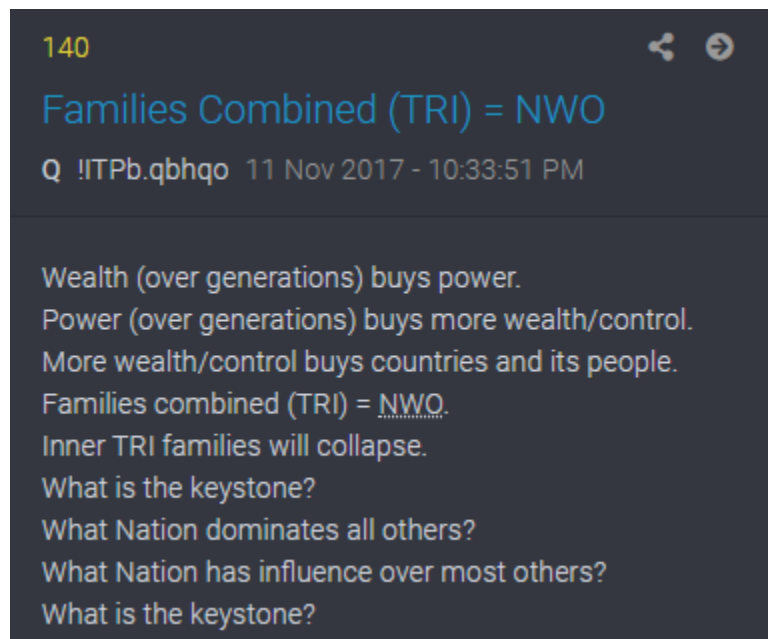

The Q drops in this chapter are categorized by type of information, using categories that benefit the goals of this book, with each category sorted by date of posting. Trump tweets are interleaved among the Q drops.

We will not try to explain everything in the Q drops and Trump tweets, but we will discuss relevant information, as necessary.

QAnon on Institutional Corruption

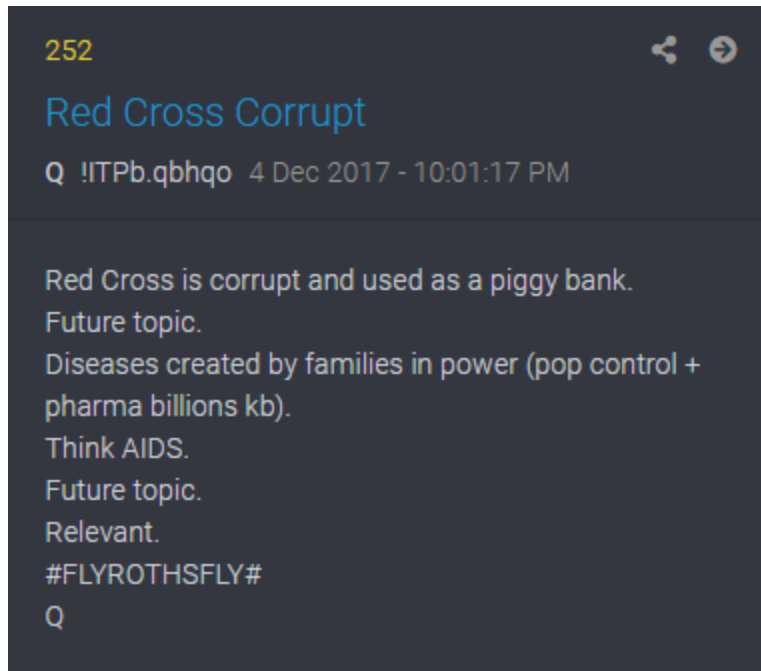

Q has told us much about institutional corruption since late 2017, and continues to do so. Learning about institutional corruption is key to understanding the purpose of this book. We will more heavily discuss institutional corruption in Chapter 5 - Core Principles of The Great Awakening.

When you search for the keyword “corruption” at qmap.pub, there are 98 Q drops, at the time of publication, which contain that keyword.

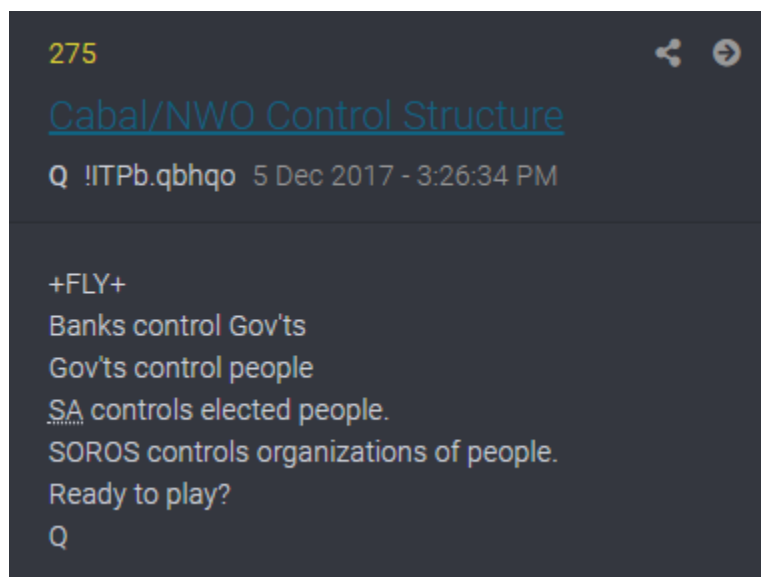

The full text of Q drop #140 (Q140) is not presented here, but the relevant knowledge gained from Q140³², for purposes of this book, is that institutional corruption grows over time, and can grow in scale and intensity, such that, as Q and Trump have made clear to us, it has now gotten to the point where the future of humanity is threatened.

Q252³³ teaches us an example of how a good institution, e.g. the Red Cross, can become a bad institution, given enough growth and enough time. We are learning that institutions want to control other institutions, and to grow to a worldwide scale, as a means of accumulating power and leverage.

Q275³⁴ teaches that the worldwide financial system has become corrupt, and that corruption has caused other institutions to become corrupt. Examples include one or more, or even many, national governments. In the given example of institutional corruption involving the global financial system, there are many layers of corruption, with each layer controlling the lower level layers.

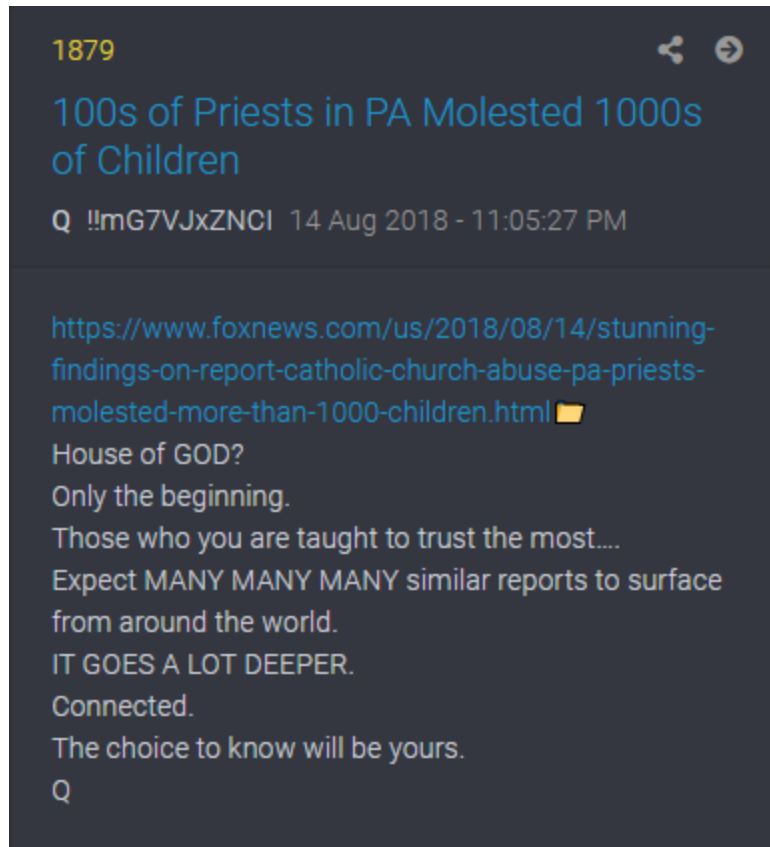

³³ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=252>

Q1632³⁵ teaches that as institutions grow and become powerful, they become corrupt. These corrupt institutions develop sinister methods to grow and maintain their power and leverage.

³⁵ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=1632>

Q1879³⁶ helps to teach that institutions of any type, including charitable, religious, business, government, and even non-profit organizations, naturally become corrupt, given sufficient time. The Catholic Church is one example that demonstrates the depth of corruption that can occur if an institution is allowed to grow for long periods of time, compounded by the fact that the church, as an example, teaches its adherents to trust it based on faith.

The Q drop referenced a Fox News article: *"Stunning findings on report of Catholic Church abuse: Pa. priests molested more than 1,000 children"*³⁷.

Q

Q1950³⁸ demonstrates that the Catholic Church is an example of an institution that has been able to position itself as a sovereign international entity. Why would the Catholic Church position itself to be above the law of any nation? This provides opportunity for additional corruption due to limited oversight from outside auditors. Q1950 (above) references a U.S. State Department page³⁹.

³⁸ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=1950>

Q2651⁴⁰ demonstrates that the United Nations (UN) is now a fully corrupt organization. We learn that organizational corruption accelerates, like a cancer, when you have a background worldwide shadow organization whose principal goals include corrupting all large institutions. That Q drop referenced a UN Foreign Assistance page⁴¹.

That Q drop also referenced a YouTube video⁴² of President Trump explaining his purpose. Yes, President Trump's purpose happens to coincide exactly with, you guessed it, The Great Awakening. Q refers to this video multiple times in subsequent Q drops.

As a side note on the UN subject, President Donald Trump made a speech to the UN⁴³ on 24 September 2019. An entire book could be written on that single speech, dissecting it word-for-word, and explaining what it really means. The message of that speech also coincides exactly with The Great Awakening.

Q2685⁴⁴ reminds us what the great U.S. President Ronald Reagan told us about limited government. That Q drop referenced a Ronald Reagan video⁴⁵.

— Ronald Reagan

⁴⁵ <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=c6MwPgPK7WQ>

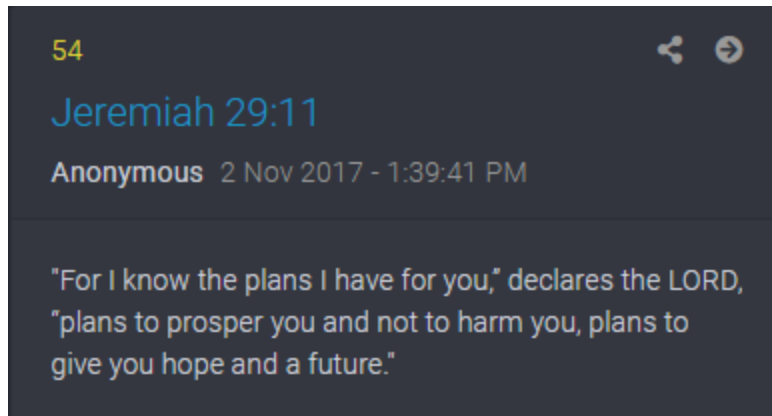

Q2770⁴⁶ demonstrates how the entire U.S. mainstream media is now corrupt, via infiltration by the Cabal. We learn that the process of inserting a controlled person at the top of news media institutions is rampant. The insertion of “puppets” in executive positions within the mainstream media is a means of controlling what is presented on the news. Controlling what the news reports, and what it avoids reporting, is euphemistically referred to as "controlling the narrative," but is more honestly and straightforwardly called simply "propaganda." Or as Trump prefers to call it, "Fake News."

QAnon on The Great Awakening

Q has been guiding us about The Great Awakening and continues to do so, since late 2017. Learning about what The Great Awakening means is another key to understanding the purpose of this book.

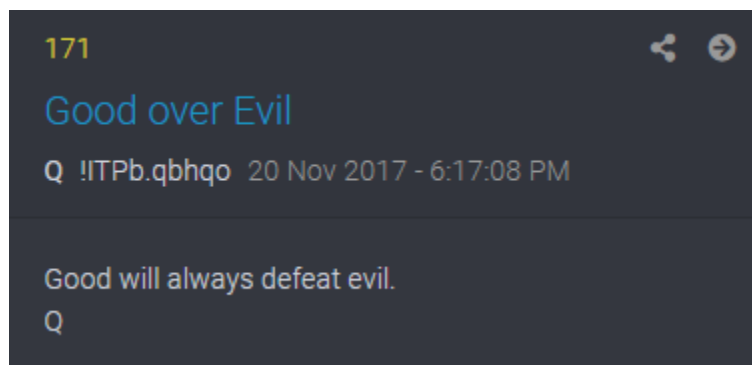

We next analyze some Q drops that help to define The Great Awakening. Although President Trump did not Tweet specifically using the term The Great Awakening, he did hint at it in the YouTube video that we referenced earlier, as well as in comments made during campaign rallies.

In Q54⁴⁷ Q is giving us a hint that the purpose of Q's messages, and that of the team behind Q, and of the Great Awakening, is trying to help humanity prosper in the future and to give the citizens hope. Q is also hinting that a belief in a higher, beneficent power is a necessary part of The Great Awakening.

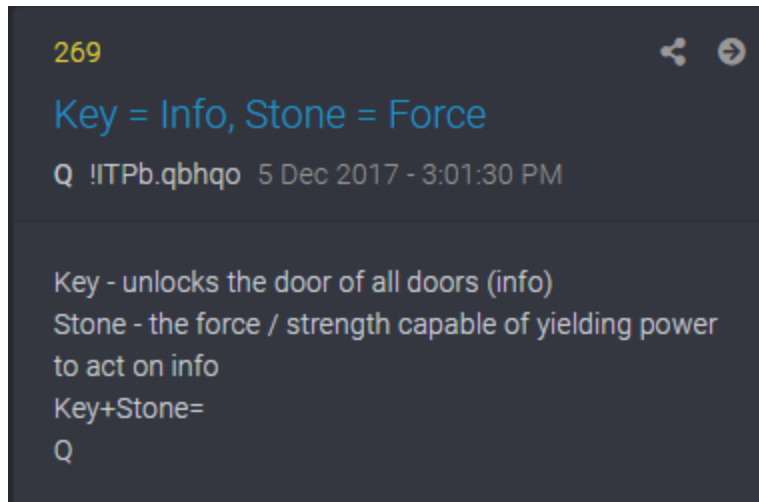

Q157 and Q158 are relevant to defining The Great Awakening, and were presented at the beginning of Chapter 2 - Defining The Great Awakening.

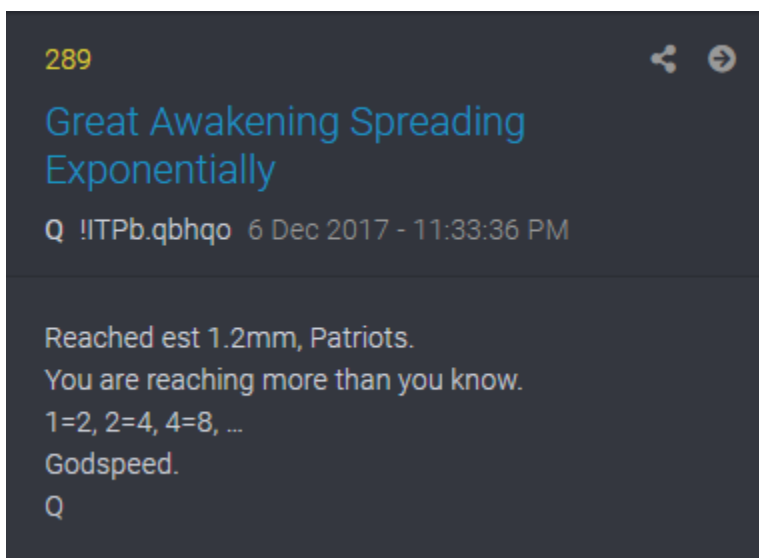

Q171⁴⁸ helps to provide us enhanced confidence that good will always defeat evil, and that the good humans will triumph over the evil humans. We also learn that truth always prevails over untruth.

Q269⁴⁹ teaches us one definition of Keystone, a term that is used frequently in Q drops. The Keystone could be defined as truth wielded by the people to remove institutional corruption and to end enslavement by the elite. Q's words also imply that the Keystone involves information of such power that it will galvanize, motivate and encourage effective action, freeing us from our apathetic acceptance of the current corrupt system we've been passively tolerating.

Q289⁵⁰ inspires confidence in the growth of The Great Awakening, which was just over one month old when that drop occurred. It claims an estimated 1.2 million citizens became aware of Q drops by that date. Today, that number has exponentially increased.

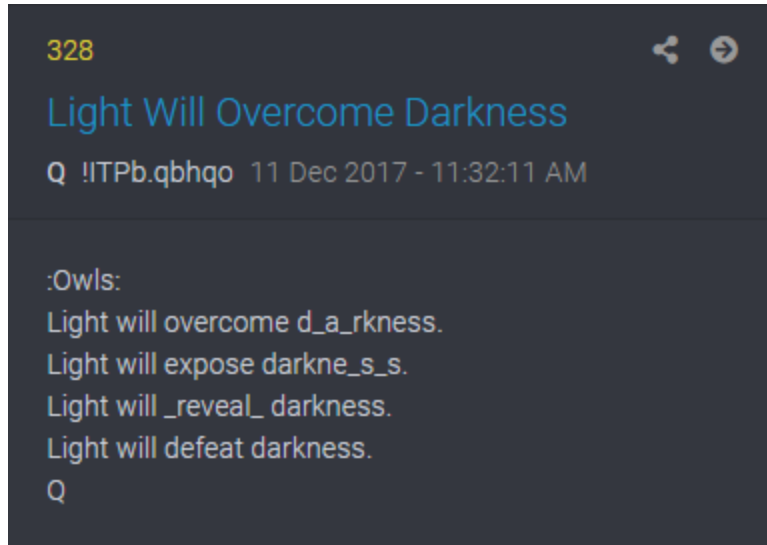

⁴⁹ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=269>

Q310⁵¹ referenced President Trump's mentioning of the U.S. military to provide justice throughout the world, already striking a note for the worldwide impact of The Great Awakening.

⁵¹ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=310>

Q328⁵² teaches us that light and truth will always overcome and defeat darkness. It encourages patriots to keep shining light on the institutional corruption around the world.

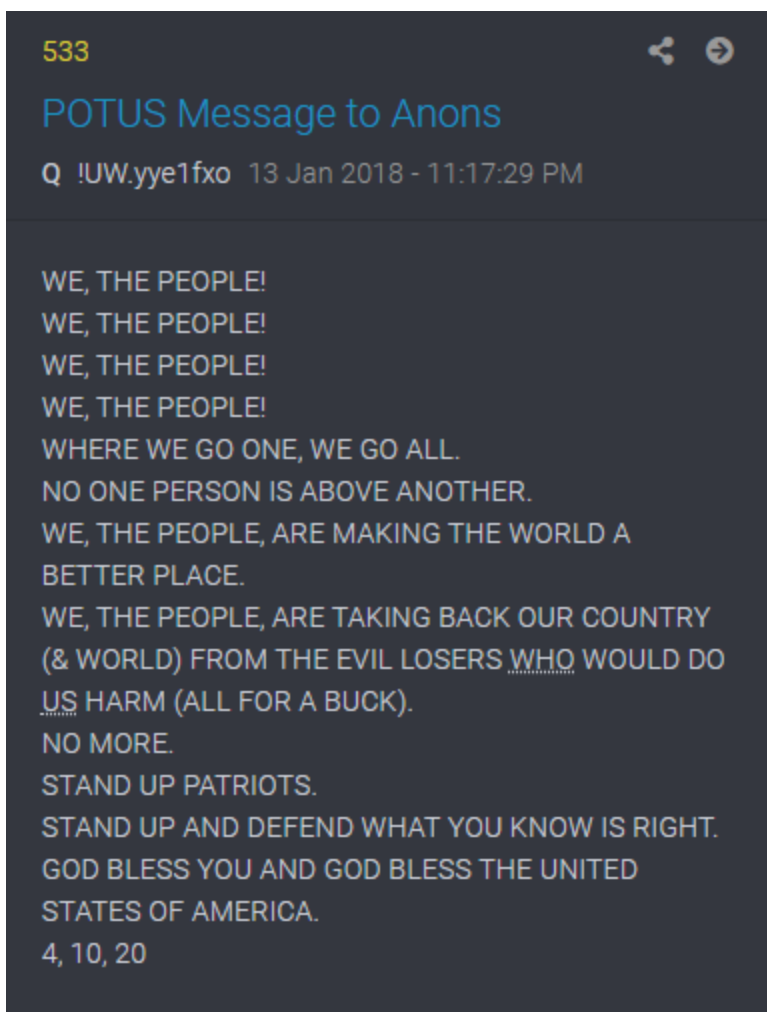

If you observe today, you will find many forms of The Great Awakening research and exposure that are growing exponentially, using formats such as YouTube, Periscope, blogs, social media groups, and even Twitter to coordinate and expose all forms of corruption.

Q512⁵³ reminds us that the truth belongs with the people, likely as a means to further energize citizens to demand the truth. It further relates to the concept that truth allows exposure of the ongoing propaganda and disinformation efforts by most large institutions.

⁵³ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=512>

Q533⁵⁴ defines where we go one we go all (WWG1WGA), that we stand equally, that the people can make the world a better place, and that we are restoring stability and prosperity worldwide. The phrase "4, 10, 20" in that post is translated to 4=D, 10=J, and 20=T, which means DJT, or Donald J. Trump. It is commonly believed that President Trump composed that Q drop. Later Q drops will start using Q+ as a signal that is commonly accepted as a sign that the drop was composed by President Trump.

Q3747, dropped on 22 December, 2019, posted a meme confirming that President Trump signs his drops with Q+.

THE GREAT AWAKENING

THE GREAT AWAKENING.

Q

Q543⁵⁵ reminds us to start using the term The Great Awakening more frequently.

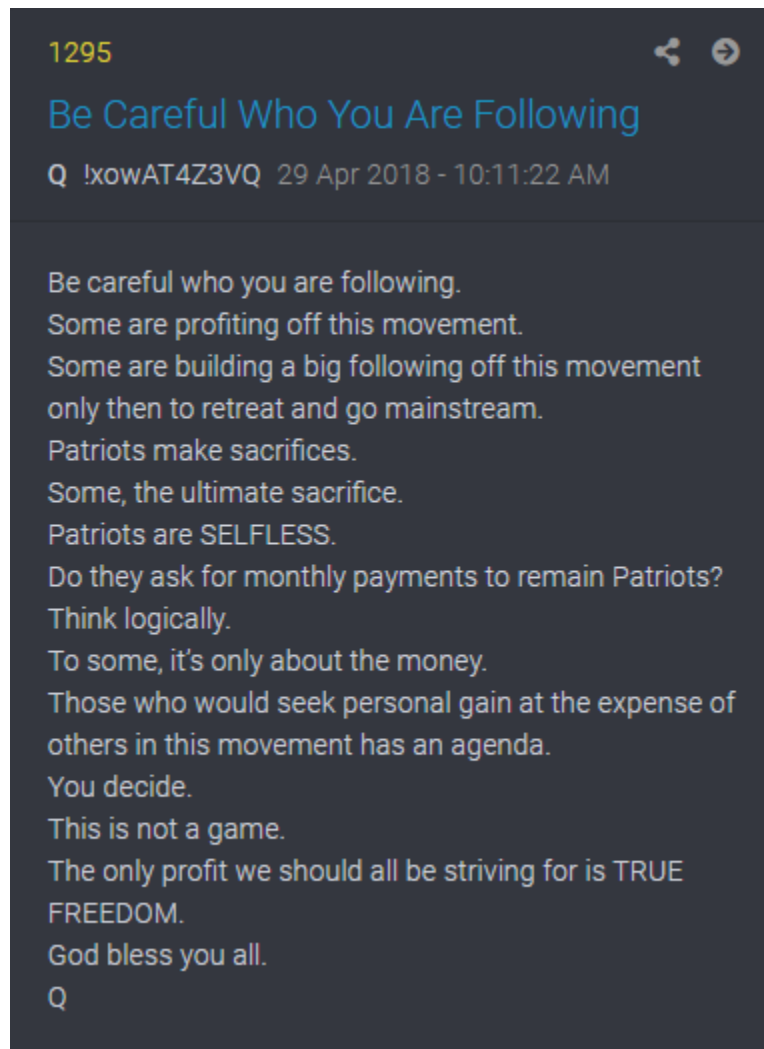

⁵⁵ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=543>

Q1269⁵⁶ demonstrates how the Cabal is using its propaganda tools via the mainstream media, and via the major social media platforms, to try to marginalize the awake citizens and to cause dissension and tension. This is the phase of The Great Awakening during which the media started trying to tag the awake citizens as conspiracy theorists and potential domestic terrorists.

The mainstream media had an assigned goal to intimidate those fledgling researchers that wanted to start believing in The Great Awakening and who wanted to actively research and report their findings. They know that fear is a powerful tool in their arsenal.

In spite of that, the movement continues to grow at an exponential pace.

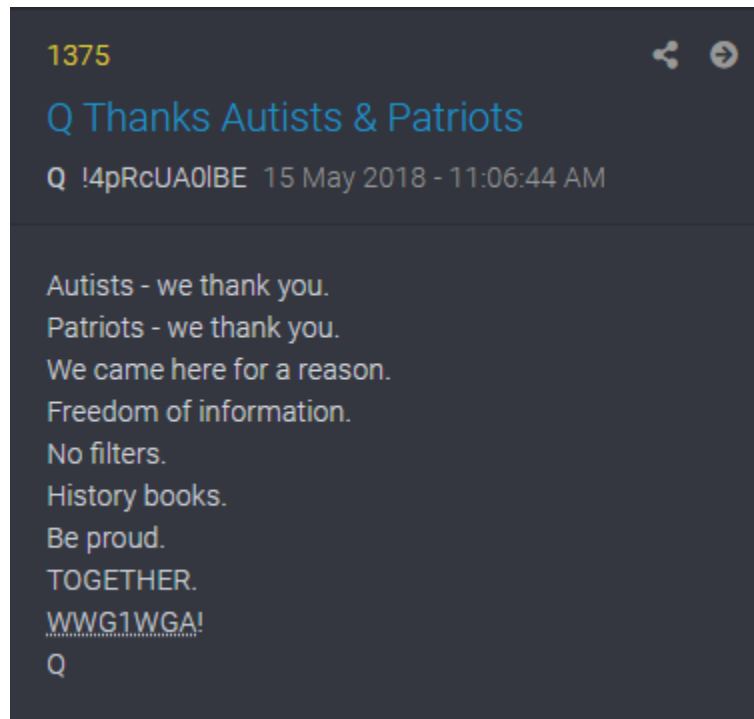

Q1295⁵⁷ warns about the deliberate attempt to sow confusion into The Great Awakening, via paid shills, who would spread disinfo and who would try to cause division within the ranks.

This Q drop occurred about the time that Jerome Corsi, the MAGA Coalition, and Alex Jones became accused of being disinformation agents, and a few popular patriots were tagged with the term "payriot" as an epithet. The implication is that "paytriots" were more interested in making money than in helping humanity win their freedom. Allegations were also made that some were inserted into the conversation to try to create a large following and to subtly misguide their followers, in an effort to subvert The Great Awakening. Although that ploy failed, we should always use our discernment and critical thinking to continuously vet all of our information sources.

Q1375⁵⁸ motivates the autists (a contraction of autistically enhanced artists) and patriots to grow and cultivate The Great Awakening movement. Q makes it clear that, for the long term benefit of The Great Awakening, it must be fully embraced and internalized by 'We, the People.' And that is exactly what is happening.

Q also says the movement will be written in the history books. This book documents part of that history and describes how we can shape our future.

The authors believe that The Great Awakening will have a profound positive impact on civilization for a long period of time.

⁵⁸ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=1375>

Q1528⁵⁹ is reminding the QArmy that the entire world is watching, and that The Great Awakening is a worldwide phenomenon.

This drop is a reminder that truth and light always overcome untruth and darkness. Also, it is an encouragement to let other citizens know that we are awake, in a non-violent manner.

In mid-2018, when this Q drop occurred, it started becoming obvious that citizens around the world were resonating with a powerful messenger. That messenger had become a trusted source, by proving that it wanted to help citizens all around the world to achieve a long-lasting freedom.

Patriots one & all!

Q1615⁶⁰ demonstrates that redpilling is occurring exponentially, and that citizens are willing to publicly demonstrate that they know about The Great Awakening, and that they are determined to see it through to completion.

Q is also encouraging that public display. About the time of this Q drop, in summer 2018, the propaganda media, which is actually a puppet of the Cabal, started a further campaign to associate Q supporters as mentally deranged, and as security risks and troublemakers. In addition, Trump rally officials started asking people to no longer display Q paraphernalia at the rallies, to minimize the risks of tarnishing the fledgling image of QAnon and The Great Awakening.

The authors assume that you already know about redpilling. The red pill is a metaphor (from the movie The Matrix) about taking medicine to allow you to open your eyes and finally see the truth. The actual process requires being exposed to several small instances of cognitive dissonance, or one large instance. As citizens redpill their fellow citizens, the gentle, multiple exposure method is used.

WE, THE PEOPLE!
FROM SEA TO SHINING SEA.
LET FREEDOM RING, PATRIOTS.

IF AMERICA FALLS, THE WORLD FALLS.
UNITED WE STAND!
GOD BLESS YOU ALL.
Q+

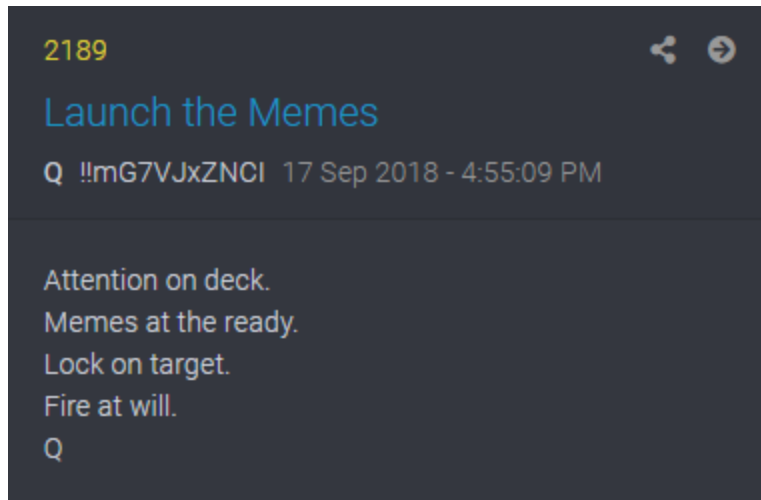

Q2039⁶¹ is a message from Q+ (Donald Trump) letting us know that the U.S. is the last bastion of freedom in the world, and is encouraging us to stand united. Things that are typically associated with freedom in the U.S. is the freedom of speech and the right to keep and bear arms. Personal freedom is critical for the citizens to be able to use the processes of The Great Awakening to create a stable and prosperous future for themselves.

In Q2174⁶² Q is encouraging us to visibly proclaim our support for The Great Awakening, to encourage our friends and neighbors to grow the movement, and to expose the motive of the mainstream media to be one of the propaganda arms of the Cabal.

In Q2189⁶³ Q is encouraging us to help awaken our friends and neighbors using memes (memetic warfare), to cause people to start thinking once again. We call that process "providing daily doses of cognitive dissonance". When truth nuggets are included in memes, it is difficult for the naysayers to refute the memes with logic. The only ammunition they typically have is their emotions.

Citizens learn to communicate with rational thoughts while some of their debate opponents continue to use emotion. The contrast between rational debate and emotional debate is a form of cognitive dissonance that helps to train the emotional communicator to start communicating rationally. One of the symptoms of cognitive dissonance is using emotional, instead of rational, argument. When we use rational argument, while our critics use emotional argument, we will be more effective at persuading the neutral observers who are not emotionally committed to any particular position. We will also help teach by example those traveling with us on our chosen path of continuous enlightenment how to be more effective persuaders. And, although we won't convert the trolls and/or those emotionally invested in the comfortable lies they've been sold in any one debate, over time they may eventually have an epiphany as a result of repeated exposure to the truth--that's the way cognitive dissonance works.

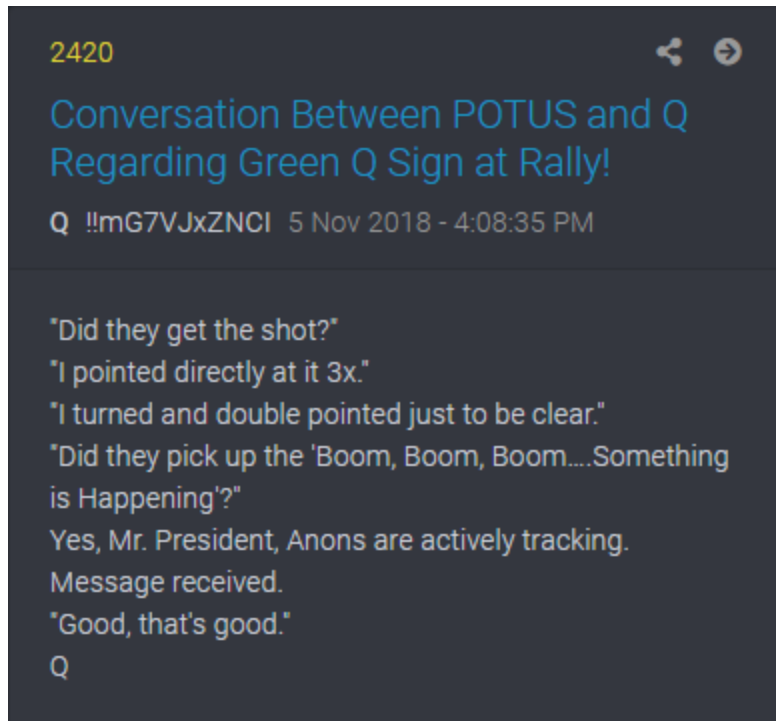

Any evidence of rational thinking by a human is a positive sign that they may be affected by The Great Awakening, unless that human has ulterior motives and tries to use words to misguide humans.

In Q2234⁶⁴ Q is reminding us that tens of millions of people are following The Great Awakening as of September 2018. Q also indicates that the citizens should provide relentless feedback to the mainstream media that they are fake news, that we want real information, and that we are the news now.

Q2420⁶⁵ is a summary of a conversation between Q+ and Q after a rally, to ensure that the public saw further evidence of the direct association between Donald Trump and QAnon. It also reminded us to be observant of actions and comments of President Trump, as potential validation indicators for QAnon.

Q2450⁶⁶ tells us that we will soon start to see the vision of a better future, that the movement is growing, that it takes time, and that we are going there together.

⁶⁵ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=2420>

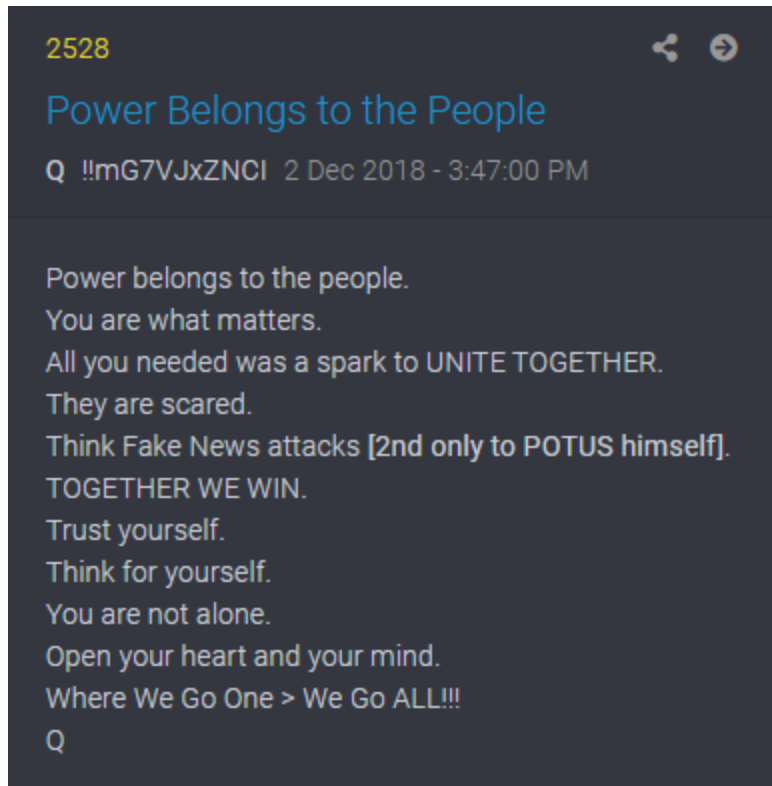

⁶⁶ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=2450>

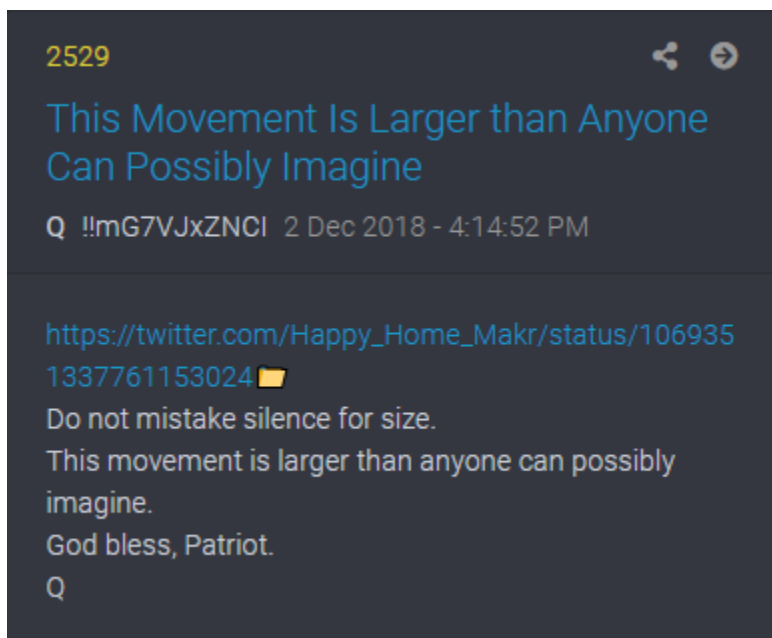

Q2526⁶⁷ tells us that The Great Awakening movement is growing worldwide and that we have common goals. Below is a photo from the referenced tweet.

⁶⁷ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=2526>

Q2528⁶⁸ tells us that the people really hold the power if they can just recognize it. Trump and Q are the spark. Become awake, think for yourself, and coordinate with others.

⁶⁸ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=2528>

In Q2529⁶⁹ Q is reminding us to encourage one another, to gain confidence, to organize, and that we are out there in great numbers. Below is a photo from the referenced tweet.

⁶⁹ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=2529>

Q2535⁷⁰ is Q again reminding us that The Great Awakening is intended to be a worldwide movement, and that it is gaining momentum. Our very own co-author André van Delft is the subject of this Q drop. Below is a photo from the referenced tweet. This photo was taken in The Hague, Netherlands, in solidarity with the beginning of the Yellow Vest movement in France.

DuEUUnUsVsAAveT0.jpg-large.jpg

Q2574⁷¹ references a Ben Garrison cartoon that nationalist movements are starting to grow around the world, which will help remove globalism, and the rats associated with it, from the world stage. Since nationalism is associated with nation-state level institutions, it is better than a worldwide institution, which is associated with globalism. We will learn that since smaller is better, that some nations should cede some power to their regions and communities, so that the power distribution is a pyramid, rather than an inverted pyramid. We will discuss this more in Chapter 7 - Long Term Possibilities for Mankind.

This specific cartoon is referencing the “yellow vest” protests which had recently begun in France. We have used the term “Trump effect” to describe the confidence that is building in people around the world, knowing that “now is the time” to join hands around the world and make this happen. As corrupt global institutions crumble, that momentum and our associated skills as citizens, can be applied to other corrupt institutions, on a smaller scale.

⁷¹ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=2574>

Q2719⁷² refers to the often referenced Donald Trump campaign video which hints at The Great Awakening. That Q drop references a 10 second Donald Trump video⁷³ calling for a Great Awakening.

Q2994⁷⁴ helps to educate us on why the Cabal and their shadow institutions are trying to divide the people, sow discord, and eventually fully control us. Q also says that The Great Awakening is their greatest fear.

⁷⁴ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=2994>

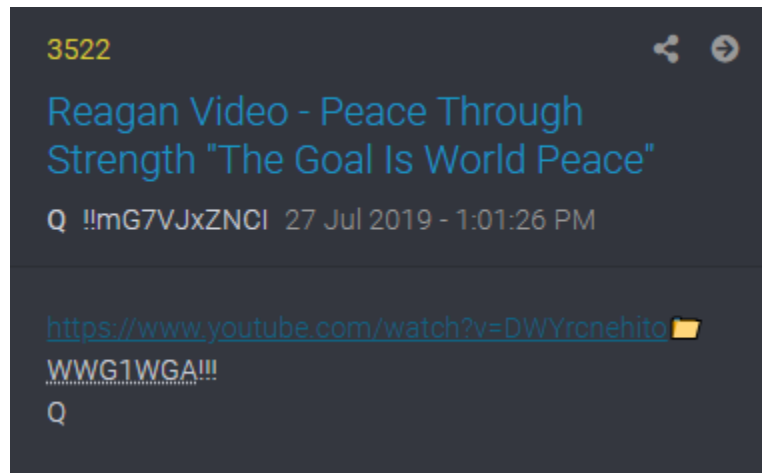

Q3075⁷⁵ is President Trump, as Q+, telling the world that the United States stands with patriots worldwide.

Q3348⁷⁶ again demonstrates the worldwide growth of The Great Awakening, with a reference to a Japanese public demonstration for freedom. Below is a photo from the referenced tweet.

⁷⁵ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=3075>

Q3522⁷⁷ references a Ronald Reagan video, to reinforce the concept that peace is the prize. It is the author's contention that Q is also trying to educate the citizens to recognize that the determination of awake citizens is necessary to maintain long-term peace and prosperity. That Q drop referenced a 5 minute Ronald Reagan video⁷⁸.

QAnon/Trump on Propaganda, Truth, Trust and Freedom of Speech

Many of Donald Trump tweets, from as far back as 2015, during the initial Trump presidential campaign, discuss how Donald Trump is associated with the truth. As we have learned, truth always wins. Citizens learn that any candidate that primarily uses truth in their campaign, should be the candidate of choice.

Following are several tweets associated with truth.

Trump points out that mainstream media will fail, as they are propaganda, and that the people want the truth.

Q2982⁸⁷ is Q telling us that we need to understand that we should be awake and thinking, and to not allow others think for us. Those who offer to think for us include political leaders as well as the mainstream media.

Truth is a force of nature. What does that really mean for us? It could mean that truth is more powerful than falsehoods and that truth will always win. Donald Trump ran on a truth platform and his presidency is engaged in allowing the citizens to once again know the difference between truth and propaganda, to expose the truth, and to demand the truth.

A twitter account named Chicken Little with handle @skyfallingsoon recognized that Donald Trump may be paraphrasing Carl Jung with a tweet reply⁸⁸ to the above tweet:

"It is the truth, a force of nature that expresses itself through me – I am only a channel – I can imagine in many instances where I would become sinister to you.

For instance, if life had led you to take up an artificial attitude, then you wouldn't be able to stand me, because I am a natural being.

Now that you know what is going on, we believe you may now be able to do well in answering the question posed by the other World Leaders to Donald Trump.

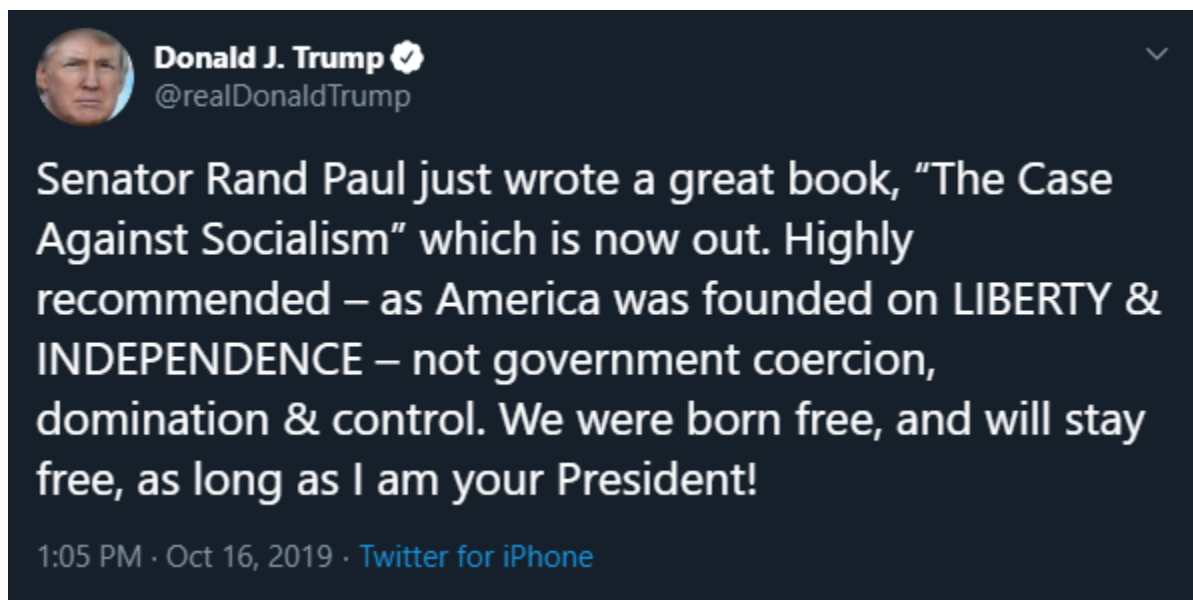

As events are unfolding with The Great Awakening, as of early 2020, the mainstream media still does not change their game plan. They use obvious and blatant non-stop propaganda that does not contain truth and/or interprets ("frames") facts dishonestly (this is called "spin,"). Putting obvious lies on blast 24/7, in eerie emulation of Soviet propaganda, clearly demonstrates that the mainstream media is definitely "Fixed" and Corrupt. They also use a technique that we call "lies of omission", where they fail to report important facts, or even choose to not report news items that should obviously be reported.

As we will learn in the following section, perhaps some in the mainstream media are now acting as puppets for the “good guys”, making themselves look bad as a form of punishment for their previous treasonous behavior in trying to prevent Trump from winning the election, and attempting to unseat an elected President.

Donald Trump is implying that it was necessary to re-energize the U.S. economy early, in order to have momentum for all of the other objectives of The Great Awakening strategy. Gaining support from asleep citizens is more difficult than gaining support from awake, rational thinking citizens. Trump also makes it clear that world peace is a goal, which perfectly corresponds with the expected outcomes of The Great Awakening.

Trump again focuses on personal freedom, and unshackling from our bonds. This corresponds exactly with the expected outcomes of The Great Awakening movement.

This tweet reflects the campaign video referenced in Chapter 2, where Trump explained that the U.S. was under great risk from within, and that efforts are being made to restore its greatness.

What Happens When 90% of the Media Is Controlled/Owned by (6) Corporations?

Q !!mG7VJxZNCI 21 Nov 2019 - 4:00:19 PM

What happens when 90% of the media is controlled/owned by (6) corporations?
What happens when those same corporations are operated and controlled by a political ideology?
What happens when the news is no longer free from bias?
What happens when the news is no longer reliable and independent?
What happens when the news is no longer trustworthy?
What happens when the news simply becomes an extension/arm of a political party?
Fact becomes fiction?
Fiction becomes fact?
When does news become propaganda?
Identity creation?
How does the average person, who is under constant financial stress (by design), find time to research and discern fact v fiction?

Q3613⁸⁹ explains how the mainstream media has become further corrupted through mergers and acquisitions, which is an effective technique used by the Cabal to insert “puppets” into executive positions. Those puppet executives are directed to act for the benefit of their handlers. Such actions are typically designed to marginalize the common citizen over the long term. Q3613 is continued below.

Majority of people more prone to believe someone in power sitting behind a big brand 'news' name?
Do people [human psyche] tend to follow the 'majority/mainstream viewpoint' in fear of being isolated and/or shunned?
'Mainstream' is used for a reason [dominate trend in opinion].
[If majority of people believe 'x' then 'x' must be validated / true]
Why do 'mainstream' media heads, within different orgs, always use the same keywords and/or catch phrases?
Coordinated? By who? Outside entity providing instructions?
Do they count on the fact that people [human psyche] are more prone to believe something if heard over-and-over again by different 'trusted' sources?
Do 'echo chamber' tactics provide validation / credibility to the topic/point being discussed?
Threat to intellectual freedom?
Would control over[of] these institutions/organizations allow for the mass control of a populations viewpoint re: a desired topic?
Read again – digest.
Would control over[of] these institutions/organizations allow for the mass control of a populations viewpoint re: a desired topic?

Logical thinking.

Why, after the election of 2016, did [D]'s and media corps jumpstart a [coordinated & planned] divisive blitz intended to create falsehoods re: illegitimacy of election, character assassination of POTUS through sexism, racism, every other 'ism'?

Pre/post 2016 election?

Why were violent [masked] terror orgs such as Antifa immediately created/funded?

Why were these orgs tasked w/ immediate intimidation/shut down of any pro-POTUS rally[s] and/or events?

Why were marches immediately organized to counter and silence pro-POTUS rally[s] and/or events?

Why were marches immediately organized which divided people into sex/gender, race, [ism]?

When you control the levers of news dissemination, you control the narrative.

Control of the narrative = power

When you are blind, what do you see?

They want you divided.

Divided by religion.

Divided by sex.

Divided by political affiliation.

Divided by class.

When you are divided, and angry, and controlled, you target those 'different' from you, not those responsible [controllers].

Divided you are weak.
Divided you pose no threat to their control.
When 'non-dogmatic' information becomes FREE & TRANSPARENT it becomes a threat to those who attempt to control the narrative and/or stable [livestock kept – sheep].
When you are awake, you stand on the outside of the stable ('group-think' collective), and have 'free thought'.
"Free thought" is a philosophical viewpoint which holds that positions regarding truth should be formed on the basis of logic, reason, and empiricism, rather than authority, tradition, revelation, or dogma.

QAnon - A Positive Outcome is Assured

2442

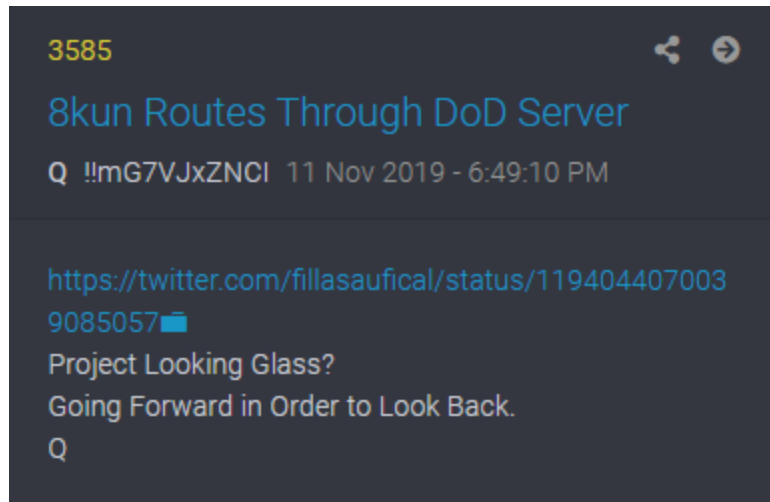

We Are The Saviors of Mankind

Q !!mG7VJxZNCI 6 Nov 2018 - 3:16:21 PM

History is being made.
You are the saviors of mankind.
Nothing will stop what is coming.
Nothing.
Q

Q2442⁹⁰ encourages us that The Great Awakening movement's successful outcome is inevitable and that our efforts will save mankind, or make mankind's future much better. Much of this book is designed to address and support the concept that the future of civilization can be positive, if we want it.

⁹⁰ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=2442>

The key phrasing in Q3585⁹¹ for purposes of this book is “Project Looking Glass? Going Forward in Order to Look Back.” It is the author’s conjecture that this phrase should be understood as Q telling us that a positive outcome is assured for humanity. When you compare this concept against all of the Q drops and Trump tweets shown above, a pattern emerges that helps build confidence in an “Assured Positive Outcome” theory. That Q drop referenced a tweet⁹² that analyzes the 8kun routing.

In analyzing that concept, it became clearer that it could be possible for QAnon and military intelligence to deliberately guide humanity toward a more positive outcome, or to accelerate what might already be an inevitable outcome. One element that helps one to better understand this factor is the concept of President Trump becoming what is known as a “trusted source”. A trusted source is someone or something that you can rely on for truth, to help guide your own actions. When the most powerful person in the world becomes a trusted source, that person can catalyze human efforts worldwide into highly powerful actions.

An analysis⁹³ of Q3585 was performed on 19 November, 2019, a week after Q made that drop. That analysis is fleshed out below.

In Q3585, Q blends two apparently disparate subjects together, routing to 8kun via DoD server, and Project Looking Glass. You have to dig through that post to dig for the nuggets of truth.

In looking up Project Looking Glass, most researchers looked at a Project Camelot video⁹⁴ that interviewed Mr. Bill Wood, who was purportedly a U.S. government insider. Much of the video requires mentally sorting through information and prioritizing it in real-time, so that you will be able to avoid overloading your belief systems with esoteric information.

The Project Camelot video was discounted previously, due to the marginalization of the insider's reputation after that video was recorded. We wish to stress here that it is not necessary to interpret Q's reference to Project Looking Glass as an outright claim or confirmation that all (or even most) of the claims made by the alleged insiders are true. Given the nature of their claims, the prudent approach is to understand Q's message here in the least-extraordinary, least-esoteric way that is still consistent with known facts. That means that we need only understand Q as using Project Looking Glass as a metaphor for a technology that provides the ability to model or forecast probable future outcomes using only known (conventional) physics and technologies, or at least ones that are generally accepted as what might have already been achieved in Special Access Programs, knowledge of which is "outside of the public domain."

⁹³ <https://threadreaderapp.com/thread/1195094437833129990.html>

⁹⁴ <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=GxliVJCWI80>

Since that Project Camelot video was recorded in 2012, listening to it with what we know now, and thinking about the details that we are hearing, it is now making almost perfect sense. Instead of using electromagnetism, or gas, or quantum physics to look into the future, the key element could simply be a societal model run on a powerful computer, where the results of the model show a convergence that is no longer influenced by large changes in the input variables.

The Awakening event described in the video, is interpreted to be the convergence point in the systems model. That convergence point could be interpreted as simply being the point at which humans recognize their power of collaboration as the opportunity to move civilization to the next level of societal evolution. When you start folding in variables to The Looking Glass systems model, such as the Internet, Trump, QAnon, U.S. military, efforts etc., the convergence point could be moved closer to the current time, because those are large influence factors. The combination of the accumulated knowledge base provided by the Internet, combined with the most powerful person in the world as a trusted source, can be the catalyst to accelerate humanity getting to that convergence point.

Did the Looking Glass model predict the outcome of Trump's election campaign? Probably not, but the inevitability of society's ascension to the next level was likely assured by the model, with plus/minus variation in exact timing. Introducing Trump and Q to the model provides exact precision on evolution of the model. Now they can inject minute and detailed variations into the system and compare scenario runs of the model, to get detailed and precise probability projections.

When the white hats use a tool like this, they can both help guide humanity in a positive manner, and do so with maximum efficiency, and minimal casualties.

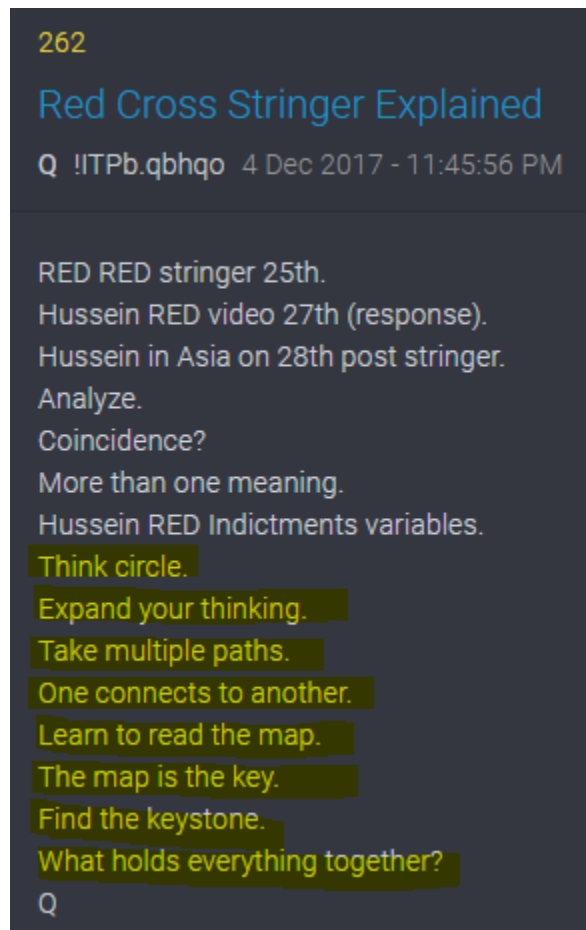

Nothing can stop what is coming.
Nothing.
History books.
Q

The Looking Glass likely provides guidance on highest probability outcomes for society. They likely feed real-time event information back into The Looking Glass, to decide what to do next in helping to guide The Great Awakening. They might run 10 or more scenarios at a time, mixing up variables, such as IG (Inspector General) report release timing, etc. They would keep re-computing results to determine the highest probability of success for achieving maximum awakening with minimum casualties.

In the video, it was reported that the controllers of The Looking Glass project wanted to suppress the findings of the model, as it demonstrated not the end of the world, but the end of THEIR world. When you model that comment further, it helps to further reinforce the vision of the inevitability of The Great Awakening and its long-term positive repercussions.

Suggested reading: Reread Q posts in light of Project Looking Glass. Q262⁹⁵ is just one example.

Imagine the implications when the world finds out the inevitability of The Great Awakening. We have been feeling it in our bones for some time. Those feelings can be translated into actions that are beneficial to humanity.

When supercomputers predict positive outcomes for humanity, combined with government insiders and leaders predicting positive outcomes, and you blend that with a growing group of optimists who also believe in that positive future, and who also actively pursue that future, then you have what can be called a self-fulfilling prophecy⁹⁶.

It is possible to conclude that Q modeled what it would take to create a self-fulfilling positive prophecy in their supercomputer, and learned that it did not take any more effort than what they are currently doing, in order to kick off that inevitable positive event.

⁹⁵ <https://qagg.news/?q=&q2=262>

⁹⁶ <https://www.thoughtco.com/self-fulfilling-prophecy-3026577>

Once humanity embraces an inevitable positive outcome and embraces the responsibility and effort necessary to achieve that outcome, synergistic effects can start happening. Those effects would allow acceleration of the positive outcomes, via virtuous circles. Virtuous circles are synergistic effects that occur as cyclical feedback loops, and allow change events to stabilize through positive interactions with other events, and to become resilient to inputs that would normally be considered destabilizing.

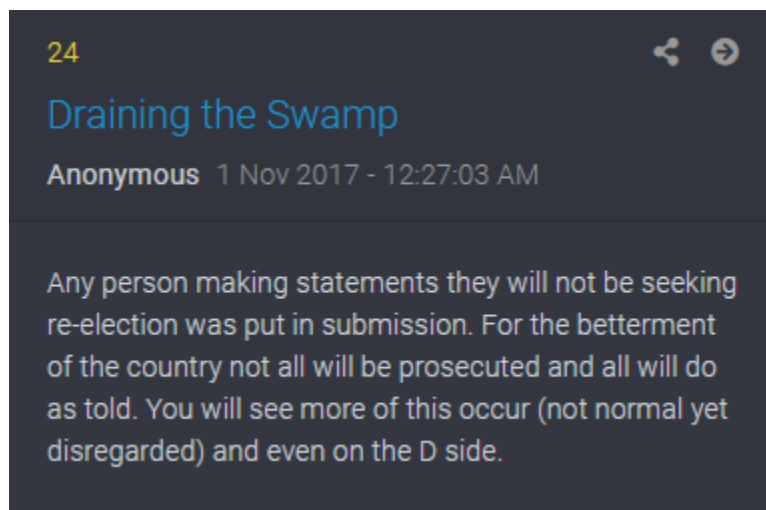

The Cabal does not want mankind to get to that next level, as it will then become almost impossible for them to gain control over the common citizens.

When Donald Trump got elected, many people instantly switched from being pessimists to being optimists, while others switched from being non-thinkers to being pessimists. As The Great Awakening progresses, more and more will make the switch from pessimist to optimist.

Now imagine the resonance and power if the majority of people on the planet switched to being optimists and that optimism was applied in common ways, such as voluntarily collaborating and cooperating to achieve common goals and objectives to better the planet.

QAnon - We Are In Control

Q told us at the beginning of the process in late 2017 that they were already in control. Keep this information in mind as you watch events unfold, and as you build your confidence in The Great Awakening.

The key phrases in Q24⁹⁷, for purposes of this book, are “all will do as told.” and “even on the D side.” This means, as Q highlights later, that we are “watching a show”, a scripted series of events, whose purposes are multifold. When you observe the behavior of our political leaders since early 2018, you may sometimes observe odd, and even fully absurd behaviors from them. As you observe, you may learn to readily detect patterns of behavior that indicate what we like to call “puppet” behavior.

A key element of global institutional corruption is to directly control institutions by compromising and controlling their top executives, or by inserting well-trained “puppets” into key executive positions. We may be learning that Trump and QAnon are now using the trained behavior of the deep state puppets for the benefit of The Great Awakening.

The phrase “for the betterment of the country” in Q24, becomes more clear when we research later Q drops and Trump tweets. The authors believe that the phrase indicates that a combination of hidden and public justice, combined with controlled acting by the previously “bad actors”, serves to awaken citizens around the world that the good guys are in control. Citizens now have the power and means to continue The Great Awakening process.

Some theorize that Q hinted to us that military tribunals have already occurred in 2017 and that the top Deep State leaders who are visible to the public are simply acting per script by direction from their new controllers, as a way of receiving more lenient sentences for the crimes.

This theory of military tribunals in 2017 is so outlandish, that if true, would need to remain classified information for many years, so as not to harshly disrupt the current social strata. This theory is expected to be a conspiracy theory that is researched for many years.

If everyone knew it was just a show that they were watching, they wouldn't work as hard at developing Ninja level researching or meme warrior skills, and would not be as energized to go to the voting booth. The citizens do want to be angry and do want to be part of the non-violent justice process. The citizens do need to develop excellent researching skills.

Those who assume this theory is correct remain energized, because they can redpill within the QAnon community, they can enjoy the multi-layered reality happening around them, and they can help society gear up for managing the process themselves after the “Show” is complete.

Finally, if we are truly watching a show unfold, why did QAnon encourage citizens to learn how to research and to expose the corruption? It is the authors’ conjecture that the true purpose of that effort was to help citizens get prepared for continuing the effort to improve civilization once the show is over.

Incoherent Puppet Nancy Pelosi is Just Following Orders

Puppet following orders.

Q

Q3731⁹⁸ was dropped the day after the U.S. House voted to impeach Donald Trump. The phrase “Puppet following orders.” caused some discussion. The Q drop referenced a tweet⁹⁹ that showed House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, with another bout of absurd behavior, in a press conference after the impeachment vote. Whose puppet is Nancy Pelosi? Did puppet masters change for Nancy when Q arrived on the scene? I believe you know what the authors think. #EnjoyTheShow

If we are truly watching a show, one might ask, why are whistleblowers and witnesses still dying? Or one might ask, why are false flag shooting events still happening. Following are some thoughts on that subject.

To successfully follow a scripted “show”, there must be a limited number of “actors” or it gets too complex to manage. Those actors are key leaders that are visible to the public. The Deep State (to say nothing of the Cabal) is composed of many invisible and rogue elements. If we assume that the key, visible leaders are actors in “the show,” and that rogue elements are still fighting against The Great Awakening transition in the background (exposing themselves in the process,) then we are likely to see a reduction in the frequency of both false flag events, and of witnesses/whistleblowers dying in the background as the battle rages.

That means that we can be watching both a show and a background fight at the same time. The observation of whether we are winning or not should be made over a long timeframe, e.g. several months, in order to see a statistical improvement of what is happening in the background.

For those of you who are having great difficulty accepting that we are watching a show and that Trump/Qanon are in control, then Rush Limbaugh has a narrative for you with an article¹⁰⁰ from The National Sentinel that was published on 11 December, 2019. Limbaugh does a fine job describing the Deep State, from the U.S. perspective. Limbaugh says that it is taking so long for justice to occur due to the broad scope and great complexity of the process, with the need to do it right the first time. Even the slightest mistake or failure might result in death and disaster. Major mistakes almost surely would. The powers against whom we fight are ruthless, devious, and professional killers who are used to being able to do as they wish with impunity. They are also grandmasters of intrigue, deception and mass manipulation/gaslighting.

Great Awakening Memes

The Great Awakening will mean different things to different people, as they wake up and analyze what is happening around them. QAnon has not formally defined The Great Awakening, but a look at Q drops and associated research makes the picture a bit clearer.

Some ask why Pepe the green frog is used so heavily in The Great Awakening. Pepe has been through the Great Meme Wars of the 21st Century, and is a useful icon for the common citizen and for the

We know what the elite class thinks about memes¹⁰¹. They are a threat to the status quo. We expect the meme wars to continue, as we fight battles of ever-smaller scale, getting civilization to the next level. The Great Awakening memes are expected to evoke the following kinds of themes:

- Optimism
- Knowledge
- Determination
- Standing Equally
- Collaboration
- Freedom
- Synergy
- Worldwide
- Peace
- Prosperity

Ingulf Richter, who provided the photos for this book, coined the phrase "World Peace One" as a metaphor for all of the world wars that the elite class and their shadow institutions have promoted throughout world history. Since the logic of those who are claiming that Donald Trump is harming the U.S. and the world is so blatantly upside down, the meme below summarizes what they are so afraid of. The photo is attributed to an Iraqi insurgency against Iranian holdings in Iraq, and beautifully demonstrates the desire of the people for long-term peace.

4 - The Great Awakening Code of Ethics

"Only a virtuous people are capable of freedom. As nations become corrupt and vicious, they have more need of masters."

— Benjamin Franklin

Inspired by the original QAnon Code of Ethics meme, we created The Great Awakening Code of Ethics. The Great Awakening Code of Ethics is designed to define a set of ethics that can be useful for citizens around the world while managing their affairs and while collaborating with other humans to further the progress of The Great Awakening.

THE GREAT AWAKENING CODE OF ETHICS

We are awake.	01	We recognize the infinite worth of all.
We stand equally.	02	We value trust over authority.
We are rational.	03	We do not let emotions cloud judgment.
We are patriots.	04	We voluntarily sacrifice to protect our society.
We are warriors.	05	We secure the weak from predation.
We are justice.	06	We defend our innate rights.
We are freedom.	07	We support choices that harm nobody.
We are truth.	08	We use truth to fight for liberty.
We are speech.	09	We support all rightful expression.
We are light.	10	We illuminate evil & darkness.
We are love.	11	We love others unconditionally & oppose hate.
We are united.	12	We support each other, WWG1WGA.
We are skeptical.	13	We examine motives & sources.
We are receptive.	14	We can listen to others & adjust beliefs.
We are independent.	15	We are critical thinkers, not followers.
We are accountable.	16	We do not outsource personal responsibility.
We are integrity.	17	We cannot be bought or blackmailed.

17 is a special number in The Great Awakening, as it represents the letter Q in the alphabet. There are 17 elements in The Great Awakening Code of Ethics, some of which will become clearer as you read this book.

01 - We Are Awake. We Recognize the Infinite Worth of All.

Being awake means being aware of your surroundings and knowing the value of real information. Awake also means knowing the infinite potential of all citizens of the world as they awaken, and knowing that you need to apply The Great Awakening principles and methods to ensure its long-term success. For example, it means fully accepting that 'we are all one,' and therefore 'where we go one we go all.'

Infinite worth of all means that not only can all citizens of the world apply their potential toward The Great Awakening, all citizens can have the opportunity to achieve their maximum potential as humans, as The Great Awakening evolves.

02 - We Stand Equally. We Value Trust Over Authority.

Standing equally means that we apply the principle of reciprocity to our interactions and relationships with others, such that we apply the same rules to everyone symmetrically, and without exceptions. It means that we understand that valid rights can only be those that each person can exercise equally, and without logical contradictions. The right to property, to liberty, or even to life itself, cannot rightfully be transmuted into any right to make others your unwilling slaves. Valid rights can do no more than keep others out of your affairs; they cannot conscript others into your army. One person's rights are not a lien on the life, liberty or property of others. Otherwise, logical contradictions would be created. That's why you are not ethically required to allow yourself to be harmed in order to benefit others.

Standing equally also means that we recognize that every person in the world should have equal opportunity to improve both their own condition and the condition of the world--because opportunity can be equally shared reciprocally, but outcomes and tangible things cannot.

Valuing trust over authority means that authority is earned by trust, and not the other way around. It means that violating trust delegitimizes authority. And it means that we recognize that the bright future of our world depends upon the collaboration of groups of citizens, and that those collaborations must be built on trust relationships and common, shared goals. It means that we understand that there is one overriding goal that all sentient creatures necessarily share: the freedom to strive to achieve one's individually defined goals. That truth makes cooperating and collaborating so that we can each maximally enjoy the freedom to work towards our own goals the most important goal for every individual. This freedom applies to all, regardless of race, ethnicity, sex, sexual orientation, national origin, religion or profession. The alternative is a state of interpersonal war.

Authorities should be trustworthy: they must continuously earn our trust through merit. We should only respect their authority and hold it as legitimate as long as they behave well. Citizens worldwide right now see President Donald Trump as a trustworthy authority. Trusted authorities are rare in these modern times. When the most powerful person in the world becomes a trusted authority, citizens around the world are recognizing that they can use his guidance to help them vet their new leaders as they regain control of ensuring and exercising their freedoms in their own nations.

The rules of personal interaction, of social engagement, of civil behavior that we do honor are those created by the reciprocal treaty of peace that we make with each other, and by our trust that others will reciprocally respect our rights as we respect theirs. Each person in the world, with their equal opportunity and reciprocally equal rights, can choose what they want to do as a free person, within limits defined by the equal rights of others, and as defined by the conventions and trust relationships of each society.

We recognize that hierarchies can be detrimental to maximum human potential, due to development of elitism, and due to inevitable corruption that occurs in large institutions. Hierarchical power structures create a single point of failure, and a high-value target of corruption, at the top of the hierarchy. For those reasons, we place more emphasis on our horizontal, rather than on our vertical, relationships.

Martin Geddes has created an article entitled Understanding #QAnon as the Antidote to Authority¹⁰². That article helps to address this item, as well as item 15 of The Great Awakening Code of Ethics.

03 - We Are Rational. We Do Not Let Emotions Cloud Judgment.

Being rational means that we make decisions based on facts and valid information. It means that we collaborate with others to ensure that emotions do not have a primary impact on decisions that affect the group. It also means that we have the humility to accept the possibility that we are wrong, and so hold all of our beliefs as falsifiable (at least in principle.) It means that we hold no premise as categorically uncriticizable.

The skepticism of awake citizens allows a natural and continuous rational evaluation of our belief systems, keeping those beliefs that can withstand the scrutiny both resilient and validated.

04 - We Are Patriots. We Voluntarily Sacrifice to Protect Our Society.

Being patriots means that we individually and voluntarily sacrifice ourselves, as necessary, for the good of our community and society. It means that we each boldly represent and defend our principles and shared values. It means that we live by the principle “United we stand, divided we fall.”

05 - We Are Warriors. We Secure the Weak From Predation.

Being warriors means that we recognize the fallibility of human behavior and work to ensure that the weak among us are protected so that they can maximize their human potential. It means that we understand that the price of liberty is eternal vigilance, and that freedom is not free. It means we understand that it’s better to be a warrior tending a garden, than to be a gardener who’s forced to fight a war.

Being a warrior can take the form of both exposing institutional corruption and preventing institutional corruption. We understand that institutional corruption is a primary enabler of the systematic predation of the weak.

06 - We Are Justice. We Defend Our Innate Rights.

Being justice means that we are committed and dedicated to honoring and defending each other’s basic, innate human rights. That means that we take responsibility for ensuring that all humans have the maximum opportunity to develop their ability to contribute to society, and that whatever wrongs we discover are exposed. The victims of such wrongs are made whole (to the extent that that is possible, and can be done in ways that are consistent with our principles.)

07 - We Are Freedom. We Support Choices That Harm Nobody.

¹⁰² <https://mailchi.mp/martingeddes/understanding-qanon-as-the-antidote-to-authority>

Being freedom means that we understand and accept the fact that we each are free to choose to do whatever does not violate the reciprocal rights of others, such as the rights to:

- life
- anonymity
- sovereignty
- pursuit of happiness
- speech
- pursuit of material wealth
- spiritual beliefs

08 - We Are Truth. We Use Truth to Fight for Liberty.

Being truth means that we allow ourselves to be exposed to all information sources, and that we use logic, skepticism and discernment to sort good information from bad. We zealously extract the truth from all available data. It means we use the truth to improve the overall liberty of mankind, by relentlessly exposing and seeking to remove institutional corruption. And it means that we practice what we preach: We strive to identify any and all logical contradictions in our thinking and behavior, and eliminate them. We are not hypocrites.

“The further a society drifts from the truth, the more it will hate those that speak it.”

— George Orwell

09 - We Are Speech. We Support All Rightful Expression.

Being speech means that, with our innate right to speech, we can express ourselves as we wish, provided that we honestly believe that what we say is true. We do not defraud others by deliberately lying to them or about them.

Being speech also means that we understand that we each have the responsibility to react appropriately as adults to the speech of others, especially by maintaining an adult level of control of our emotions. We understand that the principle of proportionality must be applied when responding to wrongful or hurtful speech: Insulting words do not justify being fined, imprisoned, maimed or murdered. Speech is not violence. It is speech.

10 - We Are Light. We Illuminate Evil & Darkness.

Being light means that we recognize that in order to improve humanity, we must relentlessly pursue the exposure of institutional corruption, shining light upon it, so that the citizens can collaborate on corruption removal methods via a trustworthy judicial system. We also do not keep silent when we see injustice, or when we see dangers or risks that should be dealt with. Silence is consent, and we do not consent to evil.

11 - We Are Love. We Love Others Unconditionally & Oppose Hate.

Being love means we recognize that, due to the infinite worth of each human, it is in our rational self-interest to express love to all, while opposing those that express hate to others. It means that we recognize that we are all one, that “where we go one, we go all”. It means that “united we stand, divided we fall,” and that the optimal way to create a world in which we would like to live, is to be the change we’d like to make.

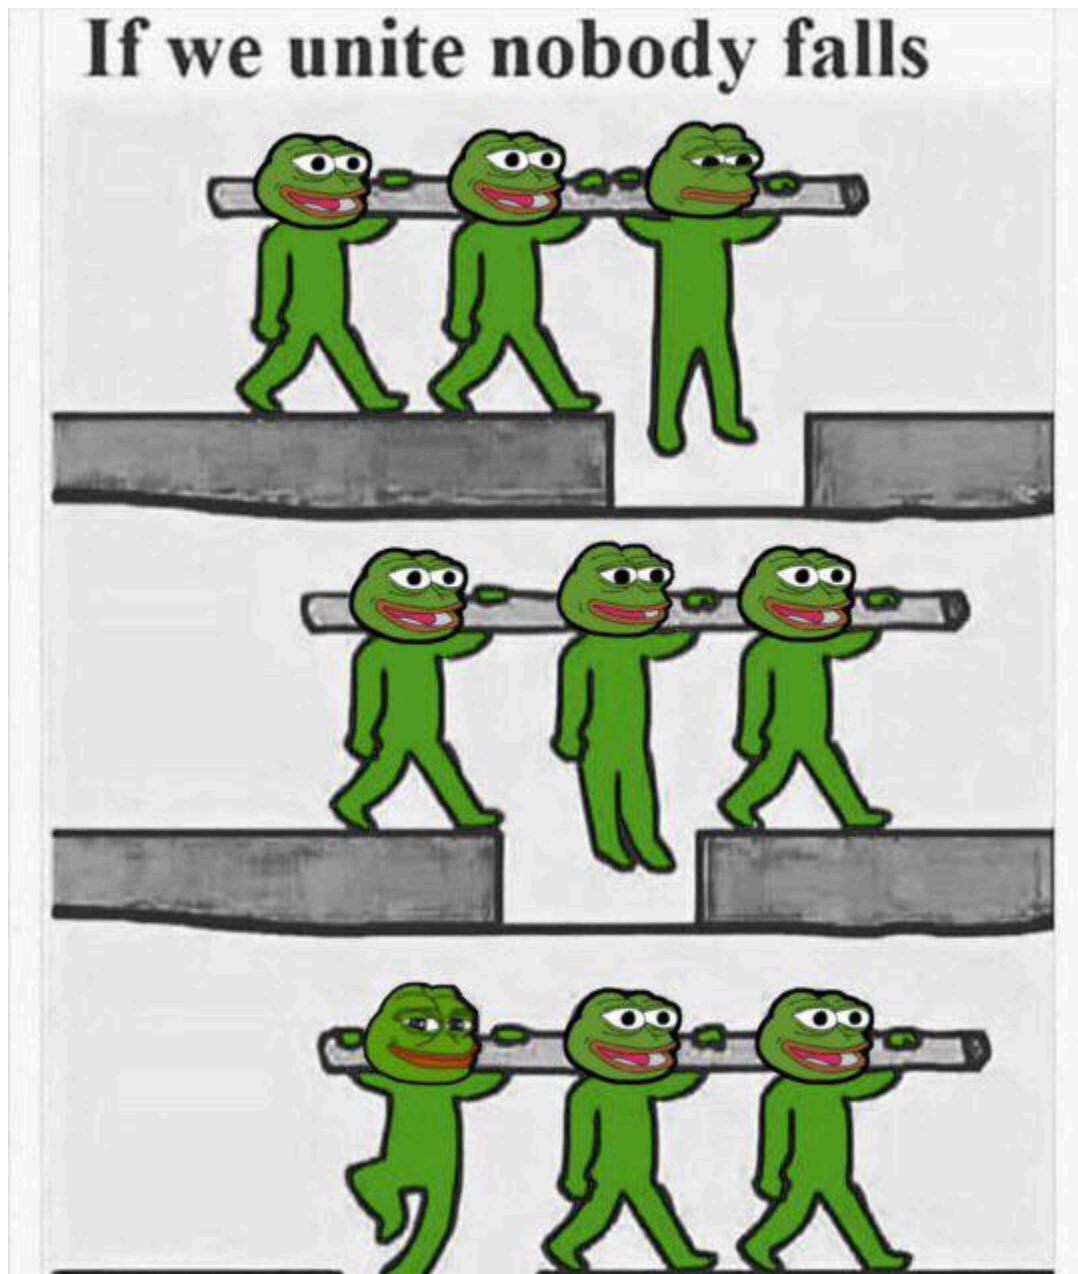

Love requires comprehensively applying the principle of reciprocity, using wisdom and intelligent rationality. To love one’s neighbor as oneself is the only viable strategy for reliably creating a free and just society. It is from our enhanced sense of personal responsibility and desire to help all citizens flourish, that we help our neighbor. We express our love individually rather than outsourcing that love through institutions.

12 - We Are United. We Support Each Other, WWG1WGA.

Being united means that we recognize the value of collaboration and cooperation with others to accomplish any task that faces humanity, and at any scale. WWG1WGA is the rallying cry of Where We Go One, We Go All. United we stand, divided we fall.

We are united in the task of continuous exposure and removal of institutional corruption, and in the maintenance activity required to ensure long-term peace and prosperity worldwide.

13 - We Are Skeptical. We Examine Motives & Sources.

Being skeptical means that we allow ourselves to be exposed to all information sources, and to treat new information, from untrusted sources, as probably false until it has been subjected to--and survives--diligent, rational criticism and attempts at proving it is truly false.

One usually applicable and sufficient way to reasonably identify probable truth is to demonstrate that essentially the same information can be obtained from multiple, independent and trusted sources. Information may also need to be checked for logical inconsistencies and internal contradictions, and checked for statements/assertions that are contrary to known facts that are matters of public record (including authoritative reference works and generally accepted scientific findings and theories.)

Information may also need to be checked for mathematical correctness, and for falsifiability. Falsifiability¹⁰³, or refutability, is the ability to test the assertion in ways that would change the odds that the assertion is true (or false.) If the assertion is falsifiable, the odds of the information being true are higher than for information that is not falsifiable. If the claims are not falsifiable, they are not objectively testable, and so are unverifiable (Although that may not be a permanent condition: Future events may make a claim verifiable.)

Being skeptical also means that we regularly audit our trusted sources, to ensure the trustworthiness remains. That requires keeping track over time of the veracity/reliability of each information source we use.

Being skeptical additionally means that, when a new piece of information is received, we consider the motive behind the release/publication of the information, to help guide our decision regarding whether an information source should be considered 'trustworthy,' either in general going forward, or in the specific instance at hand.

14 - We Are Receptive. We Can Listen to Others & Adjust Beliefs.

Being receptive means that we optimize our ability to readily adjust our belief systems, when we identify valid information from trusted sources. It also means that we choose to not be bound by dogma and doctrine as we move through life. The strength of our belief systems relies on the ability of our beliefs to be able to withstand repeated scrutiny by our peers. We recognize that institutional dogma and doctrine are only valid when they can also withstand repeated rational scrutiny by society.

It's critical that we realize and humbly accept that we can be wrong, deceived, misinformed, ignorant or suffering from cognitive dissonance. That means we must hold all of our beliefs as falsifiable, at least in principle. Therefore, we must be willing to consider any hypothesis or position as potentially true, no matter how low the odds of that may appear to be. We must hold all of our hypotheses, theories and positions, including our most fundamental standards, goals, and decisions, open to criticism. Even our basic beliefs about how to decide what we should accept as (probably) true and what we should reject as (probably) false, should be open to criticism. We must protect none of our beliefs from criticism by justifying them irrationally or emotionally, or by considering them to be beyond any possibility of falsification. We must never cut off an argument by resorting to faith or irrational commitment to justify some belief that has been under severe critical fire. We must not be unshakably committed, irrevocably attached, or hopelessly addicted, to any position or belief.

Committed belief--holding to a position so adamantly that we reject any possibility that it could be false--is irrational. There is no belief or position that cannot be challenged by asking, "And why is that true?"

15 - We Are Independent. We Are Critical Thinkers, Not Followers.

Being independent means that we make our own way in life, that we do not allow others to think for us. It means that we continuously examine information and dynamically adjust our life choices accordingly.

Being critical thinkers means that we seek to do the best we can at determining what's most probably true, and what's most probably false--without being unwilling to adopt any working thesis at all, just because there's some doubt (perhaps significant, or perhaps just residual) in the thesis (and there's always doubt, no matter how small.) We do that by adopting as our working thesis, from among all those that compete with each other as alternative, mutually-exclusive theses on the same topic or issue, whichever one best withstands all criticism and attempts at falsification. We further select a thesis from those whose probability of being true is sufficiently high to justify adopting it as a working thesis at all (there may not be one that so qualifies.)

If new information becomes available that might influence what's most probably true, we redo our analysis, and adopt a new working thesis if the result of the re-analysis indicates we should.

16 - We Are Accountable. We Do Not Outsource Personal Responsibility.

Being accountable means that we choose to take full personal responsibility for ensuring our success in life.

17 - We Are Integrity. We Cannot be Bought or Blackmailed.

Being integrity means that we choose to never allow anything or anyone to cause our full dedication to the code of ethics from ever becoming compromised.

"The first step in the evolution of ethics is a sense of solidarity with other human beings"

— Albert Schweitzer

5 – Core Principles of The Great Awakening

“Nearly all men can stand adversity, but if you want to test a man's character, give him power”

— Abraham Lincoln

When citizens wake up and begin to communicate with each other, they will each try to reach their own conclusions on what the core principles should be for maximizing the benefit of The Great Awakening. Flexibility can be beneficial when defining core principles. The authors have made an attempt at identifying core principles, primarily driven by the need to identify the smallest set of principles that achieve the desired effect, and that are easily understandable by citizens throughout the world. The desired effect is long-term peace and prosperity, worldwide.

We have learned in the earlier chapters of this book what The Great Awakening can be. In this chapter we can learn what the minimum, or core, principles need to be, so that it is easier for citizens to understand and agree on a starting set of principles.

In Chapter 1, we discussed the purpose of the book and the concepts that we learn in this book. The core thesis of the book that you should learn is that we need to be continuously working to expose and remove institutional corruption from all levels of society. Following are some core principles that can be derived from our research.

Truth is more powerful than deception

As we examined QAnon and Trump shaping The Great Awakening in Chapter 2, they helped us to recognize that truth is more powerful than deception. When we embrace that fact, and become motivated to separate truth from deception, we can use truth as a basis for developing trust relationships with other citizens, so that we can amplify our power through citizen collaboration efforts.

The stabilizing benefit to society of citizens individually taking personal responsibility for seeking, verifying and honoring truth is one of the core principles of The Great Awakening.

Optimism is more powerful than pessimism

At the moment that Donald Trump was first elected as President of the U.S., I (Curtis) instantly switched from being a pessimist to being an optimist about the future of civilization. You may have detected a notable shift in those around you. As time progresses, the results of the mass optimism are being reflected in the economy. There are other indicators, such as those that QAnon helped us to notice via his drops. It is obvious that Trump and QAnon want the citizens to be optimists. These are clear indications that they also want the citizens to be free and happy.

When we recognize the value of optimism and embrace it, it helps us to visualize possibilities. When we collaborate with citizens that are like-minded, we can leverage the odds in our favor that the impossible can become possible.

The synergistic power of optimistic citizens collaborating to solve societal issues is one of the core principles of The Great Awakening.

Small institutions are more beneficial to society than large institutions

We have learned how the deep state is being dismantled by Trump, QAnon, military intelligence, the military, and by other no longer compromised (unshackled) world leaders. We now see that they are simply removing the inevitable corruption that occurs in institutions and with high net worth families over time. The removal or hampering of worldwide shadow institutions naturally causes those institutions to shrink, fail, and/or behave less corruptly.

The authors have been continuously decoding Q drops, and researching those drops to put together clues from publicly available information. It is the authors' belief that QAnon has been teaching citizens how to research from clues and patterns, and to prepare us to repeat this process on our own as The Great Awakening evolves. The evolution of The Great Awakening thus includes further exposure of institutional corruption. This evolution can cause a virtuous circle (cyclical feedback loop) of awake citizens causing institutions to behave properly, and leading to citizens becoming more awake and more empowered.

The self-fulfilling prophecy of the inevitable positive outcome for mankind that Q introduced us to with his Project Looking Glass reference, is an example of the implementation of the virtuous circle affecting implementation of a prediction. Continuous application of the corruption exposure/removal process allows full fruition of this outcome.

Properly behaving institutions are like good citizens, they can be honorable, accountable and effective. Just like citizens, institutions require a healthy fear of justice if they misbehave, in order to remain pure and trustworthy. As institutions and their associated bureaucracy grow, their sense of trustworthiness diminishes, and the members of those institutions behave as bureaucrats, e.g. cogs in a machine, rather than as humble servants to the citizens.

Even worse, the larger institutions can easily be completely co-opted by replacing key executives at the top. The bureaucratic underlings will continue to obey commands from above, even when the commands shift from the norm due to the different motives of the new leaders. Examine how the U.S. military, NASA, the Red Cross, and the Catholic Church have been co-opted through leadership change, as examples of the co-opting technique. It is the authors' contention that all institutions become corrupt, given enough time and/or growth.

When we recognize the value of identifying and removing corruption from worldwide shadow institutions, we can extrapolate from that knowledge to realize that continuous improvement is possible. Continuous improvement to civilization can occur if we collaborate with other citizens to expose institutional corruption.

The thesis that institutional corruption becomes manageable when institutions remain relatively small is one of the core principles of The Great Awakening.

It is possible for citizens to unshackle their societal bonds non-violently

If it were possible to unshackle all societal bonds in a non-violent way, wars could be a thing of the past. Wars could also be a thing of the past if large institutions could be made to behave. QAnon, President Donald Trump, and The Great Awakening phenomenon are demonstrating the possibilities for long-term peace and prosperity. The WorldPeaceOne meme in Chapter 3, the peaceful response of normally irrepressible patriots to the outrageous misdeeds of evil shadow governments, and peace breaking out around the globe during the Trump administration, all represent examples of the possibilities.

Wars typically occur when people and/or institutions seek more power. They use a tactic of pointing out a common perceived enemy, while escalating tensions. Fighting then breaks out, which can further escalate into war.

Some blame wars on nationalist tendencies. Others blame wars on elite class corruption and on institutional corruption. The authors tend to believe that elite class corruption and associated institutional corruption are the root causes of wars. If the root causes of wars could be identified and eliminated, a world full of competing nations wouldn't sound so bad after all.

Wars and violence can occur at any scale. Since wars and violence are always associated with societal bondage, the citizens of the world have an opportunity to take the knowledge learned from our research of The Great Awakening, and learn how to apply it at smaller scales. Collaborative groups of citizens can break the bad societal bonds at lower levels, without violence. Those bad societal bonds occur at all institutional levels, including world, national, state, region, and community levels of society. Those bad societal bonds also occur with types of institutions other than governmental ones.

We might be motivated to unshackle societal bonds once we are convinced that societal problems in the world are always associated with powerful people and large institutions. We might be fully motivated once we have the optimism necessary to form citizen collaborative efforts.

"You never change things by fighting the existing reality. To change something, build a new model that makes the existing model obsolete."

— R. Buckminster Fuller

"The secret of change is to focus all of your energy, not on fighting the old, but on building the new."

— Dan Millman

"Resolve to serve no more, and you are at once freed. I do not ask that you place hands upon the tyrant to topple him over, but simply that you support him no longer; then you will behold him, like a great Colossus whose pedestal has been pulled away, fall of his own weight and break in pieces."

— Étienne de La Boétie

"The state is not something which can be destroyed by a revolution, but is a condition, a certain relationship between human beings, a mode of human behavior; we destroy it by contracting other relationships, by behaving differently."

— Gustav Landauer

"The only way to deal with an unfree world is to become so absolutely free that your very existence is an act of rebellion."

— Albert Camus

"Every system has a flaw. Even the tightest state system has a flaw. No matter how total the state is there is always a zone of freedom. If you can find it, exploit it, live within it you can live a better life. And if everybody does this eventually the state breaks down. This is how states break down."

— Jeffrey Tucker

The thesis that all societal problems can be solved non-violently by citizens is one of the core principles of The Great Awakening.

It is possible to continuously improve society

The improvement of society as an objective is commonly sold to others by laying out a utopian vision of a society, with hopes that the observers fully embrace that vision. There is a fallacy in that approach, as it is difficult to get humans to agree on a common vision of a future society. It requires much mental modeling of many variables to obtain that type of vision, and in the process, your vision may not match that of others.

The authors have learned that it is easier to sell the concept of simple and useful processes rather than selling an ultimate vision of society. We expect that citizens around the world will be able to see immediate potential value in a process that they can adopt. Once that process is proven, they will want to use that process again on a wide range of societal problems.

QAnon and Trump have used that method to teach us a process that is proving useful. That process is the exposure of institutional corruption. We can call that process the “Corruption Exposure Process”. A trusted judicial system is then used to remove that institutional corruption.

The Corruption Exposure Process can be used by the citizens for any societal problem, at any scale. That process can be used in parallel by multiple collaborative groups of citizens, on a multitude of societal problems.

Some have the ability to envision this process shaping civilization over time. Civilization could evolve toward one of those original utopian visions that we had problems originally understanding from the visionaries.

The strategic benefit of having citizens continuously collaborating for the purpose of exposing institutional corruption is one of the core principles of The Great Awakening.

It is possible to achieve long-term peace and prosperity worldwide

Citizens around the world can use the Corruption Exposure Process, while combining it with a trustworthy judicial system. They can then repeat the process, starting with the largest societal shackles and working downward. The virtuous circles mentioned in Chapter 3 can begin accelerating, and society can reach an optimum and stable position, where long-term peace and prosperity can occur.

Nations can collaborate with one another to address the societal issues at global scale. Each national society can help to reinforce the stability of other national societies, in a mutually collaborative effort similar to the citizen level collaboration efforts.

We may yet learn that current systems that foster/exhibit bad human behavior, such as North Korea, the Taliban, Iranian mullahs, Islamic bad elements, perhaps even communist China, are all manipulated by the worldwide shadow institutions that are currently being marginalized. If that is the case, then the Corruption Exposure process, synergistically combined with a trustworthy judicial system, can be used to ensure that peace can break out worldwide, and that humans will have an unprecedented opportunity to maintain that peace and prosperity.

The strategy of collaboration across national boundaries to expose institutional corruption is one of the core principles of The Great Awakening.

It is possible, and necessary, to achieve these goals by avoiding the creation of large institutions

We have learned that the efforts of Donald Trump and QAnon in The Great Awakening are related to breaking the hold of large shadow institutions on the freedoms of citizens. We have learned that corruption is inevitable as institutions grow^{104 105}. Refer to the Chapter 3 section entitled QAnon on Institutional Corruption, to understand more about why large institutions need to be avoided in order for humanity to flourish.

The following factors are known to increase both the probability and severity of institutional corruption:

- Large size: Corruption typically accelerates as institutions grow in size, as larger institutions are more difficult to govern, audit, monitor and control. They are also more resistant to external authority and market forces, because their size gives them a larger capital base, more political pull, and less dependence on the good will of others. And larger size makes an organization a higher-value target for corruption. The size threshold at which a particular institution should deserve more scrutiny than others is not a clear number, but would vary based upon several factors, including history, level of influence, age of the institution, current level of turmoil, budget, etc. What is clear is that smaller is better.
- Monopoly status: Being a monopoly confers great power. It insulates an institution from competitive forces or concerns, gives it maximal pricing power and a captive customer base. Monopoly status necessarily makes any institution that has it a single point of failure, and a high-value target of corruption. That's partly because monopoly status can easily be used to greatly increase an institution's power and wealth far beyond what it could achieve in the absence of that status--and usually is so used. That's especially true if the institution has the most valuable monopoly there is, the one on providing justice and security services. We call an institution with that kind of a monopoly a 'state' or 'government.' The unsavory consequences of that kind of monopoly were beautifully explained by the philosopher Gustave de Molinari¹⁰⁶, in his seminal treatise The Production Of Security:

"Now if we consider the particular nature of the security industry, it is apparent that the producers will necessarily restrict their clientele to certain territorial boundaries.

They would be unable to cover their costs if they tried to provide police services in localities comprising only a few clients. Their clientele will naturally be clustered around the center of their activities. They would nevertheless be unable to abuse this situation by dictating to the consumers. In the event of an abusive rise in the price of security, the consumers would always have the option of giving their patronage to a new entrepreneur, or to a neighboring entrepreneur.

¹⁰⁶ https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Gustave_de_Molinari

This option the consumer retains of being able to buy security wherever he pleases brings about a constant emulation among all the producers, each producer striving to maintain or augment his clientele with the attraction of cheapness or of faster, more complete and better justice.

If, on the contrary, the consumer is not free to buy security wherever he pleases, you forthwith see open up a large profession dedicated to arbitrariness and bad management, justice becomes slow and costly, the police vexatious, individual liberty is no longer respected, the price of security is abusively inflated and inequitably apportioned, according to the power and influence of this or that class of consumers.

The protectors [e.g. national governments] engage in bitter struggles to wrest customers from one another. In a word, all the abuses inherent in monopoly or in communism crop up. [Note: The state is a business, one of whose principal products is security]

When they saw the situation of the monopolizers of security [i.e. those in command of the state], the producers of other commodities could not help but notice that nothing in the world is more advantageous than monopoly. They, in turn, were consequently tempted to add to the gains from their own industry by the same process. But what did they require in order to monopolize, to the detriment of the consumers, the commodity they produced? They required force. However, they did not possess the force necessary to constrain the consumers in question. What did they do? They borrowed it, for a consideration, from those who had it. They petitioned and obtained, at the price of an agreed upon fee, the exclusive privilege of carrying on their industry within certain determined boundaries. Since the fees for these privileges brought the producers of security a goodly sum of money, the world was soon covered with monopolies. Labor and trade were everywhere shackled, enchained, and the condition of the masses remained as miserable as possible. [Examples: Patents, copyrights, professional licensing, anti-competitive government regulatory requirements and geographic barriers to trade]"

— Gustave de Molinari

At the time of publication there were 98 Q drops that contained the phrase “corruption”. Q15¹⁰⁷ discusses the scope of corruption in the U.S. government when Trump got elected. One might argue that the corruption that we are currently fighting is a new form of corruption, but it is the same methods of corruption that man has been fighting throughout history. Q helps us to now see a way forward where reduction of corruption enables humanity to flourish. The authors are trying to help the audience see that long term application of these processes can sustain the peace and prosperity.

The shadow institutions desire to control other institutions, as institutions give them the most leverage. The shadow institutions have learned that it is efficient to take control of large institutions, and that large institutions, especially those with monopoly power, provide the most leverage over common citizens. The shadow institutions simply replace one or more top executives in a target institution. The larger the institution, the easier it is to change its leadership.

QAnon lists some of the corrupt institutions, including US government agencies such as the CIA, the Federal Reserve, the Democrat and Republican political parties, the Red Cross and the Catholic Church, among other examples.

We have learned that corruption occurs in all institutions, including business, religious, charitable, government, philanthropic, etc. We have learned that large institutions, and/or those with monopoly power, are easier to corrupt and more difficult to correct. To help prevent corruption from occurring, society should avoid creation of large institutions and/or of ones with the power of monopoly. When society does not allow large and/or monopolistic institutions, it must become creative at solving complex societal issues and managing large societal projects.

Item 16 of The Great Awakening Code of Ethics helps us to realize that we should not outsource personal responsibility. A creative solution is to form ad-hoc collaborations of citizens for temporary purposes, to resolve societal issues, using flat organizational structures.

The strategy of solving societal issues without creating or growing institutions is one of the core principles of The Great Awakening.

It is possible to embrace an inevitable positive outcome for humanity without requiring outside help

This book is about the flowering of humanity. When citizens research the potential for a flowering of humanity, their confidence is sometimes dependent upon the belief that we will need to be exposed to some outside help in order to succeed as a civilization. They might expect the appearance of previously hidden technology, or previously hidden alien life forces, or an all-powerful superhuman person or group of persons to usher in an advanced civilization.

It is obvious that President Donald Trump, QAnon, the U.S. military, military intelligence, and other world leaders, have collaborated to kick start The Great Awakening. That is one example of outside help. It is the authors' position that any outside help we have seen is temporary. Even if that is not the case, it would be imprudent to assume otherwise.

It is the authors' goal to help citizens embrace both an inevitable positive outcome for humanity and to embrace getting there without further outside help. It is our contention that society should simply plan for and embrace the following scenario, of humans improving:

- how they work with each other
- how they trust each other
- how they motivate each other
- how they optimize their desire to discover knowledge and truth
- how they optimize society through the simple, repetitive process of exposing institutional corruption

The strategic benefit of embracing an inevitable positive outcome for humanity without requiring outside help is one of the core principles of The Great Awakening.

All that is needed to accomplish your desired future is a basic set of common principles, the Internet and a trustworthy judicial system

If one were to examine all competing concepts on how to optimize civilization, using the minimum requirements necessary, we contend that one of those concepts could be defined by what is presented in this book. The core principles defined above include:

- Citizens seeking and honoring truth
- Optimistic citizens collaborating to solve societal issues
- Institutional corruption becomes manageable when institutions remain small
- All societal problems can be solved non-violently by citizens
- Citizens continuously collaborating to expose institutional corruption
- Collaboration across national boundaries to expose institutional corruption and to solve global issues
- Solving societal issues without creating or growing institutions
- Embracing an inevitable positive outcome for humanity without requiring outside help

The Cabal did not realize, as Q has pointed out several times, the power of the Internet in allowing citizens to have the potential to take civilization to the next level. Knowing how crucial the Internet is in allowing citizen collaborative efforts to occur, it is sobering to think of how close the worldwide shadow organizations came to total world domination. That domination would have included heavy Internet censorship, if not total outages, as we are seeing in totalitarian states today.

If institutions need to be created to solve societal issues, the citizens should ensure that those institutions are created with temporary mandates, including a directive for dissolving the institution on a particular time-frame.

It is imperative for readers and citizens to know that freedom of speech and the Internet are the weakest links in the toolset that humanity needs to further civilization. They are the weakest links because they are the easiest to eliminate by those who wish harm on humanity.

A trustworthy judicial system is also key to societal success. The judicial system can be examined as an institution. Exposing institutional corruption in the judicial system is a primary citizen collaborative effort, which can result in full trust being established in existing judicial systems.

It is worthwhile for you to join the effort that is already underway

Those early citizens that noticed the unusual information presented anonymously by QAnon honed their research skills. Those citizens taught others both how to research, and how and why that research benefits them. They learned that the truth of the information to which citizens get exposed can start becoming more evident and undeniable each passing day, as the citizens persistently demand truth.

The primary reason that NOW is the best time to join this effort is that the global shadow institutional organizations are currently being stifled and broken up. In order for the citizens to start exposing and removing corruption in all organizations, starting with the largest and/or most corrupt and working down, it is easier to do that before the worldwide shadow organizations can regroup and resume their march toward the total domination of world citizenry.

It is imperative that citizens make the protection of the freedom of speech and of uncensored Internet access to all citizens of the world the highest priority, so that the other elements of The Great Awakening can be fully organized.

Imagine an accelerating curve of people waking up to the possibilities of civilizational advancement. Imagine what could be accomplished, as more citizens switch to optimism, and build trust relationships with other citizens around the world.

Imagine that information can be vetted in real-time by technology that is citizen managed, so that information will have to be presented truthfully in order to experience mass acceptance.

The Great Awakening Code of Ethics Aids the Process

The Great Awakening Code of Ethics is designed to provide a concise list of ethical guidelines, using the “special” quantity of 17 elements ($17 = Q$). When citizens are trained to use The Great Awakening Code of Ethics, they can be better prepared for aiding their fellow citizens in furthering The Great Awakening and in gaining the benefits to humanity that The Great Awakening offers.

6 - The Great Awakening in Action

“And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are called according to his purpose”

— Rom. 8:28

There are many ways in which The Great Awakening is advancing, including citizen collaboration, finding the truth, exposing corruption, protests, voting, organizing, engaging the enemy in rational argument, etc. Following are some ways to put The Great Awakening into action.

Collaborating with Others

Figuring out how to collaborate with others will help solve some of the major societal problems. Resilient collaboration systems are a key element of citizen collaboration efforts. Social media systems are typically the most effective, due to their private chat functions, and information storage functions. Joining multiple social media systems, in order to spread your risk of being censored, is a good resilience strategy.

The Digital Army is advancing The Great Awakening. Redpilling and cognitive dissonance are working to awaken more citizens.

Successfully changing one's belief systems via low doses of cognitive dissonance is a slow process. It can occur through information that people read. It can occur through people waking up and arguing from truth rather than emotion.

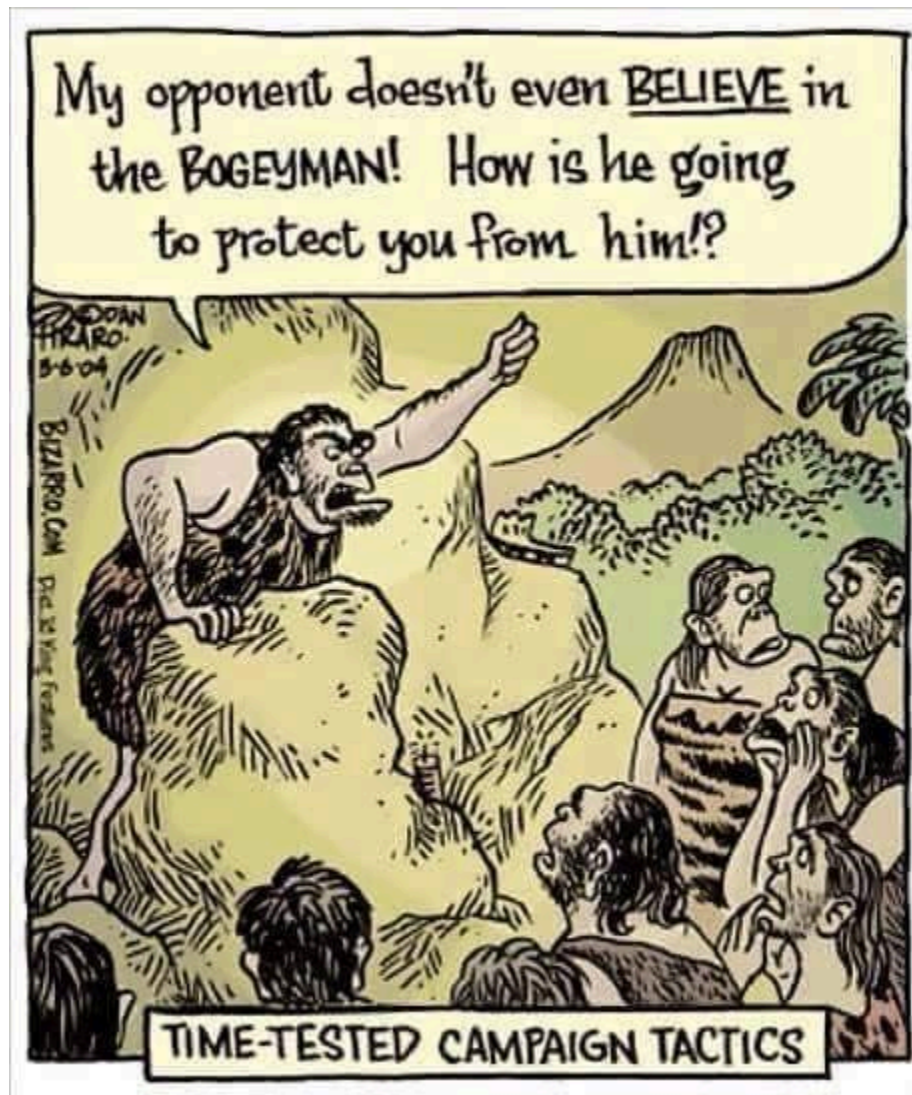

Every effort counts. Each of us chooses what our priorities are. Stepping into the lion's den is sometimes necessary. How can you best leverage your time and effort to further the cause in a non-violent manner?

In my case (Curtis), I chose to start writing a book. Each of us should choose to use what leverage we have, as effectively as we can e.g.:

- Relay information
- Dig for details
- Dig for connections
- See patterns in the information
- Summarize information
- Speak from truth, wearing down the opposition via memes, articles and conversation
- Create open-source tech solutions, such as free apps and distributed social media

How do you fix the world one step at a time? All you need is optimism, followed by initiative, persistence, and a few friends that believe the same way. Take the initiative by the use of reasoning to overcome fear, enabling you to finally take action, using truth as your sword. Ask yourself, what motivates someone like Veronica Wolski to place banners on pedestrian bridges over interstate highways in a place like Chicago Illinois? Is her effort making an impact? Ask yourself, "Could I do that type of effort?".

Examining the Motives/Discovering Truth

It benefits the ill-meaning shadow institutions to have turmoil occur in the world. It also benefits them to have an enemy to point to, so that they can claim to protect the citizens from that perceived enemy. As you observe any political unrest, protest, shooting event, war event or regime change event, you should always examine the motives to see who is actually guiding those efforts. Examining the funding of activist groups is the simplest tool to use to understand their motives.

Motives should always be considered, but especially anytime you see a group of people who seek to control and/or cause harm to others. Significant societal problems are caused by subversive activities that spread disinformation and cause unrest.

We know that mainstream media is currently one of the propaganda vehicles for the shadow institutions. When you read a news article or view a news report, treat it with skepticism and validate the information before accepting it at face value. Assume the motive is to shift the truth to fit a narrative, until you confirm that the asserted facts are true, that material facts have not been omitted, and that the facts are not being dishonestly mis-interpreted.

Key points:

- Even if the facts are as stated, a common tactic of the “journalists” who work for the Cabal (directly or indirectly, whether they know it or not) is to “spin” the “news” by offering up a dishonest or false interpretation of the facts. So you should also ask yourself whether or not the facts are being fairly interpreted, or whether there might be other valid interpretations of the same facts.
- “Journalists” may also fail to disclose materially relevant facts or news stories (lying by omission).

As you hone your skills, you may develop the ability to translate from propaganda to truth in real-time. Or you may develop an alternative journalism site to dissect the day’s news, to help citizens sift the truth from the falsehoods.

Exposing Institutional Corruption

Institutional corruption is the basis, for those who intend harm on citizens, to wield their power. Institutional growth allows the associated corruption to grow and to accelerate, as large institutions gain the attention of the already powerful humans who intend harm. Corruption of powerful people affords The Powers That Should Not Be the safety of anonymity and plausible deniability. Exposure of such corruption is therefore a high-priority activity.

The intention to harm grows as power grows, and can begin simply as a desire to protect one’s wealth and power, but it typically evolves into a domination game, with efforts to justify those corrupt protection efforts via skewed rationalization, such as feelings of entitlement and genetic, social, cultural or religious superiority. To grow the corrupt organization, a key process is to convince underlings that they are now also special if they join into the corruption efforts. Part of that convincing effort is claiming to have special knowledge that is only divulged once the underling is properly initiated. That special knowledge typically involves ritual and religious significance, as it involves an element of trust without validation, while being combined with taboo behavior.

Once commitment to a corrupt organization occurs, the affected person must submit to direction from their “handler”, and act like a “puppet” for the organization. As that behavior becomes second nature, the affected person has difficulty breaking free from the organization. An element of fear normally accompanies that difficulty in breaking free, due to the handler always holding damaging evidence about the affected person that would make it difficult for them to smoothly assimilate back into normal society.

Citizens, using the Internet and social media as tools, can perfectly expose institutional corruption, and raise enough of a hue and cry to get trustworthy judicial systems to take action against those institutions.

As part of our training for QAnon’s digital army, we were tasked with answering questions, and were given hints, clues and actual facts about the hidden substrate beneath the surface reality we’ve been (wrongly) taught was the entire truth. QAnon refers to that body of questions, hints, clues and facts as the “map.” QAnon asked us to learn to “read the map”--which we’ve begun to do, and will continue to do. We have learned to use the Internet and social media to collaborate on our findings from researching “the map,” and to bring them to the forefront of public consciousness. Those efforts both have developed our skills, and have woken up additional citizens. Once those skills were developed, we began to apply them in research beyond “the map” that QAnon directly provided.

It is the authors’ contention that the long-term intent of The Great Awakening is to repeat the institutional corruption exposure process on all forms of corruption, at all scales, starting first with the largest and oldest institutions.

Learning that both our digital media and our consumer products are being consolidated by a small number of global companies might be a good starting point for where to focus exposure of institutional corruption. We already learned from Q about the 6 companies controlling digital media. Here is a ZeroHedge article¹⁰⁸ discussing the fact that 11 global companies control everything that consumers purchase. As we learn that smaller, more competitive institutions are good for humanity, perhaps citizens can collaborate to change this number from 11 to 1,000.

Worldwide Protests/Globalism Receding

Protests are happening all over the world by citizens that want their freedom back. Elections are being won all over the world by leaders offering citizens their freedom back. The more free citizens there are in the world, the easier it will be to free the remaining shackled citizens. Freedom is infectious.

Protests have been identified in over 150 countries. The mainstream media might identify causes for these protests that are different than reality¹⁰⁹. “Spin”--misinterpreting the meaning/significance of events--is one of the principal jobs for which the Cabal makes sure their puppets are paid princely sums.

French protests have been ongoing since October 2018¹¹⁰. The French protesters will eventually win, as will citizens all over the world.

We know that Donald Trump feels empathy for honorable protesters. Our empathy for Trump's efforts motivates us to show initiative also.

The Cabal enjoys the turmoil that we are seeing. In fact, they initiate, fund, and even guide much of the turmoil. Turmoil provides an additional opportunity to consolidate the Cabal’s hold on power and control of the populace.

It is the duty of citizens to constantly examine the shifting allegiances of resistance leaders, to see where their funding comes from and to see if they have become Cabal controlled. With Donald Trump being a trusted source, watching his signaling, via Twitter and more official means, helps in the vetting process of resistance leaders/election candidates. An honorable election candidate would get Donald Trump’s endorsement. After Donald Trump leaves the scene, new trusted sources will need to be developed, so that the citizens can know which candidates are good for The Great Awakening process.

Here is an example of Donald Trump signaling via Twitter. There are many such signals in his Twitter feed.

Internet/Social Media

The most significant tools available for advancement of civilization are science and the Internet. The Internet will be critical to maintaining the long term stability of human civilization, as it will be highly dependent upon citizen collaboration to solve problems before they become too large.

The worldwide shadow institutions that wish harm to humanity have been establishing their infrastructure for hundreds of years. The Internet was developed only after the effort to enslave humanity was already well underway.

As you awaken, you must decide how to cross each obstacle in front of you, such as a stream. Do you stay there and wait for someone else to come along and build a bridge over that stream, or do you do something about it yourself?

It is the duty of all citizens of the world to ensure access to an uncensored Internet and uncensored social media, combined with freedom of speech. You should already be well aware of censorship efforts to stop the dissemination of inconvenient truths via uncensored social media, and to censor users on most social media sites. We will not go into the history of the social media censoring process, but rest assured, the Cabal is driving the censorship efforts.

When you examine censorship, you will learn that what is really being suppressed is the truth. Truth is critical to The Great Awakening. Censorship is harmful to the process of exposing institutional corruption, which requires identifying and disseminating the truth.

Anna Brees, a former BBC journalist, created a YouTube channel¹¹⁴ that helps citizens become citizen journalists. The trust relationship with mainstream media has been broken. The technology is now available to bypass the mainstream media and to get the truth to the masses. Anna is also discussed in the 'Engaging the Media' section below, on her recent efforts to help get the subject of QAnon better discussed in public.

Organizing The Great Awakening

Principles drive goals. The Great Awakening Code of Ethics and goals drive methods. Methods and goals are adjusted as goals are achieved.

Methods can include Internet research, social media exposures, investigative reporting, public banners, non-violent protests, and speaking at public hearings.

¹¹⁴ <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=Wz5Y-Re3k1Y>

If we focus our goals based upon the principle of continuously exposing institutional corruption, we can learn that it is easy to get others to agree on those types of goals, and that maximum benefit can occur for humanity. Once corruption is exposed, the judicial system removes that corruption, and the affected institution responds with policy adjustment, breakup, dissolution, or other measures designed to temporarily appease public sentiment and/or the judicial system.

As humans fine-tune their corruption detection and investigative skills, many institutions will self-correct by observing the damage done to other institutions by the citizens. In turn, shadow institutions may also reform themselves and take defensive actions to reduce their exposure and/or minimize punitive judicial judgements against them. Eventually, as the process continues, the shadow institutions will have nowhere to turn and will also shrink, evolve to act more ethically, or simply disband.

A tongue-in-cheek look at Great Awakening related jobs of the future:

- Corruption Detector
- Motive Examiner
- Truth Miner
- Redpilling Cold Caller
- Investigative Journalist
- Regulation Auditor

Restoration of Power to the Citizens and Lower Level Institutions

Citizens can restore their freedoms by reclaiming their natural power. As citizens collaborate, their combined efforts amplify their effective power.

Similarly to how citizens can collaborate, lower level institutions can collaborate to restore their power taken from them by higher level institutions. An example of this is what happened in the state of Virginia in late 2019. Virginia counties and cities created a tidal wave of Second Amendment sanctuaries¹¹⁵, in direct defiance of expected state level regulatory changes and enforcement.

Controversy in the state of Virginia began in November 2019 when state elections gave Democrats control of both the Virginia Senate and House of Delegates for the first time since 1996¹¹⁶. Gov. Ralph Northam pledged¹¹⁷ to pass "common-sense gun safety legislation" after the November election.

At time of publication, the new General Assembly was expected to vote, in early 2020, on two bills in particular -- SB 18 and SB 16 -- which would ban assault weapons, raise the minimum age of purchase to 21 and require background checks for any firearm transfer.

Q

QAnon has helped us to realize that the big tech organizations were either created for nefarious purposes, or started developing harmful behavior. Amazon, Google, Facebook, and Twitter are examples¹¹⁸.

Since big tech is typically represented by large institutions that affect citizens worldwide, they are a prime target for exposing institutional corruption.

Researching Connections

A list of research tools has been compiled on 8kun.top¹¹⁹ that can be useful to citizens exposing institutional corruption.

Forensic tools for examining digital images are available here¹²⁰.

As an example of engaging with the media, Jim Edwards at Business Insider wrote an article¹²¹ on 11 December, 2019 examining the President Trump impeachment process, while trying to marginalize Trump's reputation. As the reader knows, it is the job of mainstream media to try to marginalize Donald Trump, as he represents the biggest threat to their current interests.

The article caught our attention only due to the blatant marginalization attempt in the title of the article and that the article triggered a Google Alert based on the keyword "qanon" (Yes, we use big tech tools to fight big tech).

"Trump's very real impeachment is based on his own false beliefs — and it represents a suicidal step-change in conservative thinking"

— Jim Edwards - Business Insider

Why would an innocuous media organization like Business Insider go through the effort to produce such an opinion piece on Donald Trump at that time? Let's examine the motives. Start with Internet research, trying to answer:

- Where is the organization located?
- Is the organization part of a conglomerate?
- Who owns the organization?
- Who leads the organization?
- How are those leaders connected to others?
- Are there similar articles that demonstrate they were all produced from the same talking points?

Internet research on this specific example shows us the following:

- The article was an opinion piece (opinion journalism allows insertion of author's opinion and lower standards for validated research)

¹¹⁸ <https://mises.org/wire/silicon-valley-gulag>

¹¹⁹ <https://8kun.top/qresearch/res/7680433.html>

¹²¹ <https://www.businessinsider.com/trump-impeachment-false-beliefs-step-change-conservative-thinking-2019-12>

- The article cited numerous other articles, to give it an air of deep well-cited research and general truthfulness. (The numerous sources can't all be wrong, right?)
- Jim Edwards is located in the UK (44 country code on phone number)
- Business Insider is part of a large German owned conglomerate with worldwide aspirations^{122 123}
- The German conglomerate is in the business of digital media^{124 125} (Is propaganda a motive?)
- The German conglomerate, Axel Springer has a goal of European reunification¹²⁶ (codeword for EU/globalism?)
- The CEO of Axel Springer is also on the boards of Netflix and Warner Music¹²⁷ (Connections to known compromised institutions)
- The UK general election was being held a few days after the article came out, with the risk of harming the EU due to Brexit, if Boris Johnson won the election

Based on the above research, examining the motives, what do you think was the motive for Jim Edwards to write that article? Select one or more of the following:

- Jim Edwards wrote the article in order to inform the audience of socially necessary truth (do you feel the cognitive dissonance here?)
- Jim Edwards wrote propaganda because he is driven by emotions
- Jim Edwards wrote propaganda because he is deluded by the articles that he cited
- Jim Edwards wrote propaganda because he is a cog in a large institution that might have motives that clash with the common citizen

Recognize that Axel Springer is a relatively small institution in the overall scheme of things, but through digital media, it has much leverage. You could use a term called “Effective Power” to examine which institutions to research, as it is the institutions that have the most effective power that attract the attention of the shadow institutions that have nefarious intent.

Axel Springer is likely one of those institutions that had one or more controlled puppets inserted into the executive committee.

For those in the media who seek the truth, we offer our support.

In the case of those in the media who are stuck in the propaganda business for their handlers, here are some points that can be made with those so-called journalists when engaging them in an argument about an article or news story:

- Creating an article that cites other articles does not make one's article true, when the cited articles are untrue. Journalists can no longer stand on an argument that their article is valid because it is well-sourced and cited, when the reality is that it's analogous to a pyramid scheme constructed from a circular citation chain.

- Opinion journalism¹²⁹ is being replaced by investigative journalism, which is real journalism (research how opinion journalism growth correlates with Cabal control of mainstream media)
- Truth overcomes disinformation; citizens are thinking now
- Presenting extreme positions in an article in order to maximize marginalization of the intended target is a demonstration of the true intent of the article
- To keep their careers as journalists, they will eventually need to change, as the market will demand it

One or more of the following statements will apply to these journalists:

1. You are either not aware that your market is shrinking because the citizens are waking up, or you are aware, but do not care
2. You are deluded by your information sources
3. Your emotions are the primary driver of your writing
4. You are a puppet, and your handlers are telling you what to write

On 23 December, 2019, QAnon dropped post #3753¹³⁰, which referenced a Chuck Woolery tweet¹³¹, to remind us again that the citizens are now the news. Our author André van Delft replied¹³² to that tweet with a reference to a video taken at a farmer's protest on the premises of NOS, the Dutch counterpart of the BBC. A newscaster had "NOS = Fake News" stickers attached to him during a live broadcast.

This is an example of how citizens can engage the media in non-violent ways, to help wake up other citizens to the propaganda that is being pushed on the citizenry.

"We have an army of digital soldiers.

We have what we call citizen journalists.

The American people decided to take over the idea of information.

— US Army Lieutenant General Michael Thomas Flynn

7 - Long Term Possibilities for Mankind

"It is not in the nature of man--nor of any living entity--to start out by giving up, by spitting in one's own face and damning existence; that requires a process of corruption whose rapidity differs from man to man. Some give up at the first touch of pressure; some sell out; some run down by imperceptible degrees and lose their fire, never knowing when or how they lost it. Then all of these vanish in the vast swamp of their elders who tell them persistently that maturity consists of abandoning one's mind; security, of abandoning one's values; practicality, of losing self-esteem. Yet a few hold on and move on, knowing that that fire is not to be betrayed, learning how to give it shape, purpose and reality. But whatever their future, at the dawn of their lives, men seek a noble vision of man's nature and of life's potential."

— Ayn Rand, The Fountainhead

It is a goal of the authors, and a primary focus of this book, that citizens worldwide will recognize that institutional growth is equated with corruption and potential evil intent that can harm citizens.

When you examine corruption in all forms, personal or institutional, the breadth and depth of harm to other citizens grows as the power of the person or institution grows.

There are many enticements to switch from the good side to the evil side: money, dirt, extortion, threats to friends/family. No wonder it is rare to find a person in power who is not aligned with the dark side.

We have learned that small is good when examining institutions. That knowledge makes it clear that some nations should cede power to their regions and communities, so that the power distribution is a pyramid, rather than an inverted pyramid. The bottom of the pyramid is the widest, where all of the power should be concentrated. The citizens then hold all of the power in a nation.

Optimized Societal Power Structure

The model for the optimization of human civilization requires close coordination of citizens all over the world, who must take active, personal responsibility for ensuring that power is distributed as broadly and equally as possible, instead of concentrated at the top of power hierarchies. That's especially important in light of the history of the United States, whose Constitution mandated essentially a 'most power at the bottom' model, but which incrementally evolved into the reverse.

If you model continuous exposure and removal of institutional corruption, you can start mentally picturing a leveling-out effect, which affects both how institutions are formed and maintained, and the level of effort required by citizens to "correct" the system. As corruption removal efforts move from the large scale downward to the smaller scale, the level of effort required by citizens will decrease and will start leveling out. The leveling-out effect presents to the citizens an opportunity to move into a phase of activity that could be called "system maintenance" from one that could be called "system redesign and debugging."

Once a societal system approaches the maintenance phase from a corruption management standpoint, one can then start picturing acceleration of the long-term peace and prosperity that can occur. Top-heavy governments will have ceded power back to lower levels, so that the power is distributed like a pyramid. Personal freedoms will be maximized and the opportunity incentive inherent in free individuals will cause the creation of jobs and security for all citizens.

When corruption has no place to grow, its level of leverage is minimized, and the incentive of those wanting that leverage is diminished. The citizens, in effect, create small “sandboxes” for the psychopathic elements of society to play in, thus resulting in minimal damage to society, and long-term stability. This is part of the virtuous circle, where maintenance is much easier than system redesign and debugging (parasite removal,) and good behavior reinforces good behavior in others.

How a nation decides to advance their civilization to the next level by systemic redesign and parasite removal, and how they decide to maintain their society afterwards, is completely the responsibility of that nation. However, it benefits all citizens of the world for all of the nations to collaborate on ideas and regulations that work best for the good of humanity. Having multiple nations fully exercise the “competition of ideas”, such that good ideas get adopted by nations that observe those ideas working well in other nations.

Following are some goals that the authors suggest can help mankind to elevate mankind to that elusive goal of long-term peace and prosperity.

Maximize Personal Freedom

Item 7 in The Great Awakening Code of Ethics presented in Chapter 4 addresses personal freedom.

Personal freedom can be maximized by having all national societies around the world ensuring that their citizens control the power of the nation, and by ensuring that they have entered the maintenance mode of The Great Awakening through application of the removal of institutional corruption.

Minimize Corruption

By continuously applying the process of removal of institutional corruption, institutions will naturally become and remain small, nimble, and competitive, as well as wholesome. This positive outcome would occur, in spite of many humans continuing to retain their inherent proclivity to gain power.

Maximize Information Quality

The quality of information is simply based upon how much truth is in the information. To maximize information quality, as institutions naturally become and remain small, nimble, and competitive, the average quality of information will rise as the average size of institutions becomes smaller.

Larry Sanger, a founder of Wikipedia, has recently expressed¹³³ the need for a new, freer version of Wikipedia, called the Encyclosphere. Here is what Larry had to say on the subject:

¹³³ <https://twitter.com/lsanger/status/1174717769616674817>

Knowledge is very powerful. More specifically, authoritative statements of what is known on various subjects are powerful. How?

Such statements can be used to influence elections, justify policies, and articulate controversial points of view—in effect to gain, wield, and build and consolidate power. The power to declare what is known is nearly the power to rule the world.

No small group—no person, corporation, oligarchy, or cadre of insiders—should wield such power. We believe in democracy: we believe that political power is best spread out, not concentrated in the hands of a few, where it is apt to be abused. We should also believe, therefore, in epistemic democracy: the power to declare what is known should also be very widely distributed.

So the power to declare what is known should not be concentrated in the hands of Wikipedia, Facebook, Twitter, The New York Times, governments, or any such exclusive groups.

The history of publishing, including Internet publishing, makes all too clear that the authority to declare what is known is wielded by selfish, powerful interests to advance their own agendas, which always unsurprisingly have the effect of consolidating their own power.

Epistemic power should be spread out among the public. But how?

We can imagine an Encyclosphere, which does for encyclopedias what the Blogosphere (and its defining technical standards) did for blogs—not an app, but the encyclopedia layer of the Internet.

The democratic promise of the Encyclosphere is that, by meaningfully decentralizing the publishing and rating of encyclopedic content, we will spread epistemic authority out among the public, disempowering giant, and sometimes abusive, corporations and totalitarian governments.

I argue that the root problem about encyclopedias and knowledge resources generally today is that they are in the hands of big centralizing organizations—even as it becomes increasingly normal to use such resources to push a political and cultural agenda.

Wikipedia, for example, has become more strikingly biased as the years have passed, representing Establishment and moneyed interests, and increasingly rejecting any challenges from outsiders. But such challenges are absolutely essential to the advancement of knowledge.

Ordinary smart people and good writers are essentially prevented from participating meaningfully in, or even having significant input on, "the official story" according to most knowledge resources. What happened to the "encyclopedia anybody can edit"?

It's the world's biggest encyclopedia. But if you want to contribute, you must work on exactly one article and negotiate about what it says with whoever is already there—anonymous volunteers frequently with enormous amounts of time on their hands, for some reason.

That's not how it should work. How should a more democratic Encyclosphere work?

- Writers should be able to publish their own articles wherever and whenever they want, without asking anyone.
- Readers around the world should be given easy and unfettered access to those articles.
- Raters—either the general public, or people that others should be able to identify as experts—should be able to rate those articles.
- Users should be able to sort and re-sort articles according to all ratings, or selected ratings.
- The control over whose ratings to pay attention to should always be in the hands of the user.

This way we can, in a decentralized and democratic system, do an end run around Google and Wikipedia.

Larry created a place to sign up to help¹³⁴, and an open source development project¹³⁵ for the Encyclosphere. This is an example of citizens collaborating to create technology to help make the world freer, without creating institutions.

The same principles of operation and design that Larry Sanger proposed for the Encyclosphere could, and should, be applied to the creation or redesign of social media platforms.

Gab.com and other social media tools have been recently created, to maximize freedom of speech and to limit censorship.

Gab is also now leading the world with the vetting of info sources, using the Dissenter commenting system at trends.gab.com, which allows Dissenter users to write comments on any web page, whether or not the web site owner allows comments.

In order to help force information sources, such as mainstream media, to start being more truthful in their reporting, the authors envision a truthfulness rating system that society could develop.

Perhaps Dissenter or similar technology could offer a form of a truthfulness rating system, where a rating number is assigned to a particular article, and even to a particular information source, such that consumers can choose to filter their feeds to only those whose rating value exceeds a particular threshold that they set.

The rating number could be calculated based upon how often an article is marked as either truthful or untruthful, and also based upon the earned trustworthiness of the reviewers who mark the article.

Information source rating systems can only achieve trustworthiness if individually trusted reviewers are able to assign these numbers. Reviewer trust rating factors can be adjusted based upon the rating history of a reviewer. A simple method to examine for automated adjustment of a reviewer's rating is that those who mark a known truthful article as truthful improve their trust rating, compared to those who try to mark known trusted articles as untruthful. The inverse would apply to reviewers who mark a known-to-be-false article as true.

Rating systems could further improve. The trustworthiness rating should allow for multiple viewpoints, as Larry Sanger pointed out above. People should be free to choose between rating systems. Rating is about trust. It applies to content as well as to raters.

There will likely be rating communities and commercial rating services that will rate content, and rate other raters. End users should be able to select trusted raters, by rating them. Users could choose which rating system they would like to use. A Rater Rank algorithm could be like Google Page Rank, but it would offer freedom for users to specify initial ratings for raters, and how ratings propagate in the rating chain.

Once a truthfulness rating system is put into place, the info providers may be forced, through pure capitalism, to start doing truthful reporting once again.

Optimize Justice

A key element in both “fixing” and “maintaining” society in The Great Awakening is a trustworthy judicial system.

As we observe the “slow roll” of Trump/Q correcting the U.S. deep state problem, part of the drive for the slow roll is the structural corrections required in the U.S. federal judicial system, in order to allow “proper” justice to occur for the deep state perpetrators.

Structurally correcting a judicial system uses the same process as correcting society in general, via exposure and removal of institutional corruption. The judicial system is worth rethinking. Corruption may well have been a design goal. Someone with the account name @Vat_city tweeted:

Funny how the historical Roman Empire serves, not only, as the basis and justification for modern government, legal systems, materialist science, and philosophy, but also as a precedent for consumption of stupefying alcohol and aggrandizement of elite pederasty...

Maximize Creativity

The Great Awakening causes citizens to become awake and start critically thinking again. It also causes citizens to assume personal responsibility again. When you are both awake and personally responsible, you become self-motivated. Self-motivated citizens are normally creative citizens. Active brains will engender advances in product creation, art, architecture, engineering and all thinking related disciplines.

The Renaissance of the 15th and 16th centuries can pale in impact compared to the new Renaissance that The Great Awakening can cause.

Optimize Personal Health

The medical and pharmaceutical industries have become a gargantuan cartel¹³⁶ that is only focused on the bottom line. As the Great Awakening removes institutional corruption, it will make these industries competitive and responsive to the citizens. We will see faster and bigger innovations in health maintenance as well as innovations in disease cures, in addition to ready access to experimental health treatments.

Tort reform, through the process of removing regulations and maximizing personal freedom, can be a natural improvement caused by The Great Awakening, allowing services to become less bureaucratic and more streamlined.

Optimize Spirituality

The Great Awakening, through the process of institutional corruption removal, will help citizens to recognize that flat organizations are better for society. Citizens will also recognize that they can have a relationship with God without relying on a human intermediary between them and God. Spirituality can flourish when citizens can regain trust through collaborative relationships between citizens of equal standing.

Optimize Trust Relationships

When citizens realize that they must collaborate to solve societal problems and avoid creation/growth of easily-corruptible institutions, then they should also realize that those collaborations must be based upon identifying trustworthy partners. When collaborations operate as a flat organizational structure, it is easier to trust others. When institutions have a flat organizational structure, it is easier to trust the institution to properly serve the citizens.

Maximize Peace and Prosperity

When the citizens both correct their society, and continuously maintain their society, and this occurs across many nations of the world, a virtuous circle can spontaneously emerge, allowing freedom to spread worldwide. When freedom spreads worldwide, and citizens are maintaining their individual national societies via The Great Awakening processes, long-term peace and prosperity will naturally occur.

Can you embrace the concept that all of the shackles on citizen freedom are starting to become unshackled?

¹³⁶ A cartel is a syndicate or (con)federation of commercial entities that collectively have a (near) monopoly in some set of goods and/or services. A cartel typically depends for its existence upon its members voluntarily adopting and conforming to a set of business rules that operate to create and maintain the cartel's monopoly, motivated by the advantages that monopoly confers on all the members of the cartel. Some cartels may also have the power to compel cooperation by their members, perhaps because they buy such power for a fee from an entity that offers it for sale (e.g., an organized crime syndicate.) A cartel may also purchase its collective monopoly power from a governmental authority, perhaps by engaging in some form of "quid pro quo" with the politicians and or regulatory agencies of a nation-state--which is exactly what the medical and pharmaceutical cartels do.

Can you embrace the concept that the citizens hold the power for taking their civilization to the next level of evolution?

Can you embrace the concept that a simple repeated process of exposure of institutional corruption can lead to long-term worldwide peace and prosperity?

Can you embrace the concept that you should be an optimist rather than a pessimist?

Can you embrace the concept that now is the time to join that cause?

Let's do this!

What Does The Great Awakening Mean to You?

At the time of initial publication, there are several not-yet-fully-answered questions regarding the intent of The Great Awakening strategy.

Now that you have read this book, and as The Great Awakening phenomenon advances into the future, you should be able to improve your answers to each of these questions. We will provide general commentary on each of them.

Why does Q and/or The Great Awakening appeal to me?

Typically the answer may be that you want to improve the world for yourself and for your children and your descendants. Some may want to improve the world in general as one of their purposes in life.

What do I expect to get out of my active involvement in The Great Awakening?

There is joy in seeing citizens collaborating to guide the world in a continuously more positive direction, reducing the odds of wars, while increasing the odds of general prosperity. There is also direct benefit, possibly in improved opportunities for employment or to become an entrepreneur.

What benefit is there of me passing information and analyzing information if Trump/Q are already handling the issues for us?

Assuming Trump/Q are already handling the societal issues for us, our work of analyzing and passing information helps to amplify the benefits of their work. This book teaches us that Trump/Q are not handling all of the issues for us, but are handling the core issues that could stifle our individual ongoing efforts. Our types of efforts in both cases are the same, which is the exposure of institutional corruption. The world won't change unless we do.

When will I know when I can stop doing this effort?

If you assume that Trump/Q will handle enough issues to ensure long-term peace and prosperity, then you can stop when Trump/Q stop. If you embrace the premise of this book, then the effort continues until corruption detection/removal plateaus, and maintenance efforts predominate. That means that the effort transforms into mostly maintenance effort and less corruption detection/removal effort.

Do we stop when Q stops?

You can stop any time that you feel that you have received the most benefit. This book teaches that there is a long process of institutional corruption removal ahead of us, and that we should not stop when Q stops, but should slow down our efforts as the scale of active cases of institutional corruption shrink to a level that society deems to be of sufficiently low risk. In parallel with that slowing down of institutional corruption removal, citizens can implement appropriate regulations and oversight such that the risk of the need to repeat this large-scale Great Awakening process will be minimal.

Will Trump/Q solve all of the major problems of society before they leave the scene?

Some will say yes, and will be prepared to live with the consequences of that observation, and go back to a less awake mode. This book teaches that there will remain many unsolved societal problems after Trump/Q leave the scene, and that mankind best benefits when they apply their existing determination and collaborative skills toward the detection and removal of institutional corruption problems of ever decreasing scale, until they reach a natural plateau, worldwide.

If Trump/Q are solving or have already solved the major problems, do they just want us to be cheerleaders?

It is possible that cheerleading the efforts of Trump and Q will aid their efforts in dismantling the worldwide shadow institutions. This book teaches that the awakesness and skillset and determination that we are learning are for long term application via citizen collaborative efforts rather than simply cheering on Trump and Q.

If all of the problems have not been solved when they leave, do we elect another Trump/Q team to keep the process going?

Some will say that is the easiest course. The odds are low that we would elect a President that provides continuity of The Great Awakening process. The only way continuity occurs after Trump is that the citizens take on the responsibility of exposing institutional corruption in a manner that can withstand the machinations of new national leaders who are at odds with the goals of The Great Awakening.

For the Great Awakening to have a permanent benefit, it must result in a permanent change to the way we think, the way we behave, and the way we manage ourselves and our society.

What are the odds that there is another Trump/Q-like benevolent entity waiting in the wings to keep the process going?

One might hope that there are several qualified benevolent entities prepared and waiting in the wings to continue the process from the U.S. Presidency. The problem, as history teaches us, is getting the appropriate persons elected to ensure continuity. That is why it is the responsibility of the citizens to gain the momentum necessary to withstand leadership changes in the White House (and elsewhere) that are not beneficial to The Great Awakening.

What are the odds that there will be many more societal problems to solve after Trump/Q leave the scene?

If one assumes that removing the global shadow institutional power base is good enough, then all is good. However, the risk of re-establishing global shackles on humanity will remain great for a long period of time. The reduction of corruption, and of the high risks of corruption, through citizen collaborative efforts emphasizes the need for citizen direct involvement for the foreseeable future.

Does being awake, skeptical, rational and able to discern truth from falsehood make you a better human? If so, why?

There might initially be more stress in being awake, skeptical, rational and able to discern truth from falsehood, but the benefits to humanity are immeasurable. Those benefits will lead to less stress as information sources reform themselves to pass citizen vetting processes, allowing for an ever-less-stressful auto-corrective process based on trusted sources of information. The removal of major corruption will eventually lead to less stress as more institutions reform themselves to satisfy citizen vetting processes.

Those who lead the way forward as awake citizens, will be more productive in society, resulting in them being better able to collaborate with other awake citizens to solve societal issues. Society will consider awake citizens more valuable, if society wants to avoid institutionally-based solutions.

Are the awake citizens learning a process that has potential value to society?

The Great Awakening phenomenon has a goal of long-term peace and prosperity. The exposure of institutional corruption is expected to be ongoing for the foreseeable future. The process that awake citizens are currently using is the same process that their children and ancestors can be using, although with ever increasing productivity through technology, and evolutionary refinement over time. One could argue that the jobs of the future will require these types of skills that awake citizens are currently evolving and using.

What are the processes that awake citizens are learning?

Awake citizens are learning to:

- vet information sources
- vet news articles
- identify networks of individuals and institutions
- vet the ethics of institutions
- expose institutional corruption

- collaborate with other citizens to distribute, analyze, process and disseminate information
- collaborate with others to solve problems rather than outsourcing problem solving to institutions
- teach others the processes and procedures required to identify and minimize (and hopefully eliminate) institutional corruption

What types of societal problems can be solved by those processes?

Although the thesis is unproven, one could argue that all large societal problems can be addressed by awake citizens collaborating to apply these processes. Society is improved, and institutional corruption is minimized, by making institutions smaller and more responsive.

There are multiple phases in the civilizational model associated with The Great Awakening:

1. Pre Great Awakening (global shadow institutions prevalent)
2. Early Great Awakening (global shadow institutions broken, with massive institutional corruption remaining)
3. Mid-term Great Awakening (active institutional corruption removal, institutions reforming, power shifting to citizens)
4. Steady State Great Awakening (institutional corruption removal reaches a state of diminishing returns, citizens gain control, peace and prosperity reign)

Is society best improved if a government agency improves it, or if the people primarily improve it?

We have learned that society is improved by making institutions smaller and more responsive. For thousands of years, government has been associated with large institutions. The goal is to have societal improvements be handled in the following priority order:

1. Citizens temporarily form collaborations to make societal adjustments
2. Citizens form temporary institutions, with a flat hierarchy and limited life cycle, to make societal adjustments
3. Citizens outsource to existing institutions with a limited mandate, to make societal adjustments

Is societal stability typically associated with avoiding monopolies?

Citizens agree that monopolies are bad. There are regulations on the books that address that concern.

Monopolies are associated with state capitalism, also called 'crony capitalism.' That implies that state capitalism--even when the state's power is strictly limited--can include failure points and must be handled with care. The reality is that that risk is present in all societies, whether considered 'socialist' or 'capitalist', and whether or not there's a state (a monopoly provider of justice and security.) There is no such thing as utopia.

The following quote from one of the Founders of the United States frames the issues quite cogently:

"If men were angels, no government would be necessary. If angels were to govern men, neither external nor internal controls on government would be necessary. In framing a government which is to be administered by men over men, the great difficulty lies in this: you must first enable the government to control the governed; and in the next place oblige it to control itself." ~ James Madison

You can't eliminate corruption using a corrupt institution. You can't expect the police to police themselves. It's a conflict of interest. The same principle applies to preventing and/or regulating monopolies. That principle applies to governments even more strongly than it does to IBM or General Motors. The regulators must be independent of the institutions they regulate. No exceptions. That's why "open source," independent, competing regulatory institutions and processes are an absolute requirement. And that's the level of individual responsibility we must be willing to accept, if we wish to remain free.

It has been proven that early stage capitalism--where society is organized as a free market with limited state intervention (or none at all)--is resilient and competitive, providing the best value to both the consumer and to society. It is only when capitalist systems (especially state capitalist ones) are allowed to age without proper oversight, or when that oversight is itself a monopoly, that we start seeing monopolistic tendencies, e.g. 900 media companies shrinking to 6 media companies, or 5,000 consumer product companies shrinking to 11 consumer product companies.

Institutions in other sectors, such as government and religion, will presumably suffer from age related problems. The same small market capitalism oversight systems can be applied to institutions in all sectors of society.

Does a continuous competition of ideas offer the best chance for society to embrace improvement ideas?

Small institutions are more responsive to their customers and constituents. Multiple competing institutions allow citizens to observe a competition of ideas between those institutions. Free market dynamics ensure that the best ideas get adopted by institutions that want to remain viable.

Does competition of ideas and societal resilience work better with fewer or more competitors?

When there are multiple competing institutions in any given sector of society, the best ideas are allowed to be displayed, and are adopted by viable institutions. In addition, with multiple competing institutions, it is easier to vet those institutions, and the risk of institutional corruption is minimized as those institutions will have reduced effective power, will have a fear of operating with corruption as they will be less insulated from citizen scrutiny, and cannot use the power of monopoly to stay in business in spite of poor service and/or corrupt operation.

Does the process that we are using with The Great Awakening result in the breaking of monopolistic tendencies?

As institutional corruption is exposed, the affected institutions reform. As the institutions reform, one of the likely adjustments is to downsize. Smaller institutions allow a virtuous circle to form, where competition of ideas can flourish, risk of corruption diminishes, resilience improves, and responsiveness improves.

In the virtuous circle, societal stability is easier to maintain, as you simply maintain status quo until something changes, such as merger/acquisition events, rapid growth, etc. This type of societal maintenance process will break monopolistic tendencies.

Does it benefit society for awake citizens to continue using these processes after Trump/Q?

A key goal of The Great Awakening is long-term peace and prosperity worldwide. To achieve that goal, citizens must embrace the use of these processes for the foreseeable future.

Is it possible that part of the intent of The Great Awakening was to help citizens learn that they have an opportunity to take the ball and run with it to keep improving society?

A key part of The Great Awakening is likely to have citizens become awake and apply these processes before Trump and Q leave the scene, as the long-term peace and prosperity require eternal vigilance, in order to achieve it and to maintain it.

What are the measurable indicators that our efforts are paying off?

- Wars
- Shooting/terror events
- Citizen freedom levels across the world
- Healthcare costs
- Employment
- Financial market stability
- Application of small market capitalism levels across the world
- Energy costs
- Consumer goods variety and costs

If we don't stop when Q stops, how do we know when to stop our efforts?

As The Great Awakening transitions through the four phases defined in answer to one of the questions above, the process evolves, such that more attention is paid to maintenance and less attention is paid to detection and removal of institutional corruption. Eventually a balance will be achieved between maintenance efforts and institutional corruption detection/removal efforts. At that point, citizens will have reached societal optimization.

To keep our society optimized, we will need to continue both institutional corruption detection/removal and maintenance efforts for the foreseeable future, but the overall level of effort will be much less than the effort required in the other phases of The Great Awakening.

Jacob's Dream, by Cornelis Jacobsz. Delff¹⁴²

Appendix A - Q Expressions

Q's messages contain several phrases that are general tips, rather than statements on events in the past, the present or the future. Following is a list of Q expressions with our comments.

Sheep no more¹⁴³

Sheep are easy to herd, easy to fool, and they are prey for predators. For thousands of years many people have been like sheep in that sense. Even Jesus did not change that, but he left a warning.

"Look, I am sending you out as sheep among wolves.

So be as shrewd as snakes and harmless as doves"

— Matt. 10:16

The world is a dangerous place. Wolves eat sheep. In the ancient past there have been human sacrifices: satanic rituals that probably also served cannibalism by the mighty. Both Jesus and Q suggests that such practices are still going on; to stop these we need to become shrewd: get rid of the herd mentality, and know your enemy. Jesus adds we must become harmless: we should be good for each other, so that we don't fall for the temptations of the evil elite. Q encourages kindness as well.

The Great Awakening

This is a further definition of The Great Awakening, from the perspective of hypnosis. Q mentioned a Great Awakening. That must be from a great sleep. Not a literal sleep, but hypnosis. Hypnos (Ὕπνος) was in Greek mythology the personification of sleep. The current Greek word for sleep is hypno (ύπνο).

For centuries the elites have hypnotized the masses. That has been done in various ways. Bread and circuses; instilling fear by fake terror, cruel fairy tales, hell preaching; amusement. Our reptilian brain is sensitive to subtle threat signals. Fluoride in drinking water diminishes the capability for critical thinking.

TV news programs have slowly moving headline scrollers, which induce gaze fixation, much like the pocket watches of hypnotizers. The TV hosts talk with persuasive intonation, gestures and nodding.

In a normal personal hypnosis session, the hypnotist defines at the start a wake up signal. He is often the only one who can give that signal. Without the signal it is hard for the hypnotized person to wake up. In the current situation of mass hypnosis, no such wake up signal is defined. It is really hard to wake up yourself, or to wake up others, in a world full of deceit.

The Great Awakening is an operation to break through this mass hypnosis. The Q team has first focused on a growing group of free thinkers, with many autists, who can show the hypnotized masses that there is a way out. Then the elites have been forced to expose themselves as cheaters; so blatantly that it causes cognitive dissonance, and it awakens many from a deep sleep.

Trust yourself¹⁴⁴

¹⁴³ See Q drops 184, 694, 833, 953, 1010, 1644, 1926, 2683 and 3662

¹⁴⁴ See Q drops 1358, 1489, 1585, 1646, 1822, 2361, 2788, 3038 and 3409

We have been educated to trust other people, maybe more than to trust ourselves. In many cases this trust was misplaced. Many of our political, cultural and religious leaders are currently untrustworthy. They have manipulated people like herds of animals. Q also includes Research for yourself and Think for yourself with this phrase.

Think for yourself; be free in your thoughts

Make your own judgments; often they will be better than what you hear from the leaders. And try to think independently of the group you are in; the group may be herded by bad people, or else the group dynamics may cause bad ideas to thrive.

Expand your thinking¹⁴⁵

We have been educated to think superficially. When you read a news item, the first thing that may happen is that you believe it. That is how our brain works: with the reading you hear a kind of inner voice that dictates the text as truth. But you can train yourself to read critically; your inner voice will then read news items like: "this news item says ...". Would that be true? Who would gain from this? What does it mean? What does it really mean?"

Many things that we have learned may be false; in science, politics, religion. Unlearning is hard, and it is one of our biggest challenges.

But it is hard to really know things. You can open your mind for multiple possibilities on issues; you don't need to fix yourself onto one interpretation. It is often good to inform yourself, but you should know that you cannot really know many things for sure.

Emotions cloud judgment¹⁴⁶

When you get angry or sad, your analytic capabilities shrink. We are in a big fight for freedom. The enemy incites emotions, e.g. with fake news, aiming that we won't judge well, and fight ineffectively, or even counter effectively.

Jesus said: be as shrewd as snakes and harmless as doves. Harmless implies that we can manage our emotions; only then can we be shrewd, and can we free ourselves from the wolves.

Think logically¹⁴⁷

Most of us have not been trained well to think logically in conflicts. We are used to hearing debates with one liners; rarely are the lines of reasoning dissected, and even more rarely are debaters learning from each other; it is mostly about punching and winning.

¹⁴⁶ See Q drops 816, 832, 1862, 1988, 2007, 2008, 2381, 2604, 2788, 2816 and 3647

¹⁴⁷ See Q drops 866, 1263, 1295, 1318, 1402, 1671, 2448 and 2788

In this struggle for freedom the enemy is small in numbers; but it is well educated and it is proficient in manipulation and control. We need to develop and use logic skills to win.

Think mirror¹⁴⁸

It is often useful to analyze situations from a mirrored point of view. This way you understand your adversaries better, and you can use their strength against them.

This is not a game. Learn how to play the game

These two statements are seemingly contradicting, but words and sentences may have multiple meanings:

- The current struggle is serious and the stakes are high. People are fighting and even dying for our freedom. If you want to help, make sure you help achieving proper goals.
- There are rules to play by. You need to obey the law; persuade other people; only work for the good; and also take care of yourself. The adversary is also playing a game in that sense.

How about a nice game of chess? Learn chess

Q recommends that you learn chess. That will give you insight into strategy and tactics:

- Think ahead
- Empathize with your opponent (think mirror)
- Expand your thinking; go after surprising possibilities
- Recognize your weaknesses and improve on them
- Attack the opponent's weaknesses
- Make plans
- See through the opponent's plans
- Each asset counts. Often there seems to be a struggle for a simple pawn; both parties put their forces in. Once such a struggle is over, the losing party's position may be weakened much more than a mere pawn would suggest.
- Don't be too materialistic; assets are important, but also their positions and coordination
- Make self-sacrifices. When done at the right moment these are often effective, and they confuse the opponent.
- Don't get angry with your opponent; keep calm so that you can make proper judgement
- Think clearly, without being disturbed by emotions
- Don't think too long; reserve time to think when it is needed
- Attack!
 - Attack slowly but steadily
 - Bring your pieces carefully in position before you unleash your attack
 - Keep your opponent under pressure (put them in check)

¹⁴⁸ See Q drops 666 and 1953

- What defense could your opponent apply?
- What errors could your opponent make? How can you profit?
- Don't forget to defend
 - Give each other security
 - What attacks could your opponent unleash? How do you defend yourself?

Learn our communications (errors, timing, words)

People in government positions are restricted in their speech. POTUS wants to communicate more than the current rules allow. Therefore he often signals with plausible deniability, using:

- gestures, such as drawing a Q sign in the air by hand
- special timings on tweets, e.g. within 1 minute before or after Q, to validate Q
- spelling errors
- capitalization
- particular words and phrases
- maybe also gematria, but we are not advocating that

Q also provides confidential information with plausible deniability by asking rhetorical questions. Plausible deniability allows Q to bypass the normal government restrictions on release of information.

Disinformation is real. Distractions are necessary

Q mixes proper information with occasional disinformation, so beware, you never can fully trust his statements without research and/or confirmation. One cause for this is to distract adversaries. It also adds to plausible deniability.

This may explain why some of the Q posts do not match reality, while providing a certain level of ammunition to those who are interested in marginalizing Q and his followers.

Future proves past

There are many opinions and analyses in newspapers, TV programs and on the Internet. A lot of news, maybe the bigger part, proves to be fake at some point in time. How do you assess the reliability? One way is to judge the source, but that often goes wrong.

Official sources such as newspapers and TV programs impress many people; talking heads articulate clearly, and their nodding helps to gain acceptance of their messages. But they are often lying.

A better way to judge a source is by the accuracy and sharpness of his past predictions. Q has a good track record. He started saying as far back as 14 December, 2017 (Q350) that RussiaGate was fake. It would take the mainstream media one and a half years to report that as well, and even then, they did not do it clearly.

Do you believe in coincidences?

How many coincidences do you need before you believe?

Synchronicities between events naturally exist. But some synchronicities are remarkable; e.g. when they occur in seemingly unrelated sequences. These are called coincidences. Q uses the term for the ones that have been arranged in some way, rather than happening randomly.

With "coincidence", Q often suggests that Donald Trump and he coordinate closely. Trump cannot just say that Q is in his team because as long as Q is not officially recognized, he can disclose more information. Proof by coincidence allows for plausible deniability. The anon community calls these Q proofs.

You may be critical about the significance of such coincidences. Rather than rejecting them, it would be fair to think of how many additional coincidences would be needed to change your mind. Q seems to promise that more will come, so you can use this as a test.

You may also think of God giving hints through coincidences.

This is the biggest insider drop in the history of the world

Q has dropped thousands of messages. Many of these reveal some context of events and players in the past or present, source by reliable military intelligence. As such this is the largest drop ever.

You are witnessing history

In the years of the Trump presidency, no huge events such as disasters and wars are standing out. But something special is going on. The Cabal is losing its grip on the world. You see and hear some tumult in the media, but behind the scenes people are fighting hard for our freedom. This is a greater event in history than the fall of the Berlin wall. Those who support The Great Awakening are a part of this history-in-the-making.

Trust the plan

Q asks us for patience. Draining the swamp goes slowly. Why?

Trump allows evil to act as long as possible, so that it can be wiped out thoroughly. Jesus taught that in one of the most important parables: the Wheat and Weeds¹⁴⁹.

The farmer's workers went to him and said, 'Sir, the field where you planted that good seed is full of weeds! Where did they come from?'

"An enemy has done this!" the farmer exclaimed.

"Should we pull out the weeds?" they asked.

¹⁴⁹ Matthew 13:24-30 New Living Translation

“‘No,’ he replied, ‘you’ll uproot the wheat if you do. Let both grow together until the harvest. Then I will tell the harvesters to sort out the weeds, tie them into bundles, and burn them, and to put the wheat in the barn.’”

Regular policing actually refines criminality. As one policeman put it: "We don't catch the smart ones". So wait until the bad guys get rich fat and lazy on victory; then take a preplanned harvest. That works well.

You were chosen for a reason Be the autists we know you are

For plausible deniability, Q needs to communicate in often enigmatic language and with rhetorical questions. Thus there are puzzles to be solved. On the chans many autists are active, who are willing to dedicate themselves to these challenges.

Autism is not just a handicap; many autists have excellent analytic capabilities, and they should use their talent.

There are more good people than bad

The continuous stream of bad news may give you the impression that most people are bad. Reports of Islamic terror suggests Muslims are a threat. Preachers in churches and media tell us we are sinners and that we are threatening the ecosystems of the earth. Guilt feelings may paralyze and depress us, which is pitiful, and gives bad people more room to operate.

But most news in the mainstream media is fake. There are many inconsistencies in the official narrative of 9/11 and other alleged Muslim terror attacks, so the billion Muslims are less threatening than the news suggests. Global warming is limited and quite harmless. And your own sins are probably much less serious than the pure evil of the Cabal.

There are really bad people but there are relatively few of them. The Cabal may consist of about 10 thousand people; their helpers may be on the order of 10 million more. That may sound like a lot, but that would still be less than 1% of the world population.

This is good news. It means that by using our numerical superiority wisely, we can gain control. That has not happened before since the Cabal has always been using our weaknesses such as anger, greed and laziness, to lure us into conflicts. It is a pity, but it does not make us bad. We can learn and wake up so that manipulations have no effect any more, and evil will shrink.

Has the word 'conspiracy' been branded to mean something shameful in today's society?

After the assassination of President Kennedy, theories about the motivation and commanders came up. One of these theories might well be true. The CIA then coined the term "conspiracy theory" as a result of paranoia, probably to keep facts about this murder and other events unclear. This mind control operation worked e.g. via trusted personalities on TV to marginalize those who did not fully believe the official narrative.

The word is becoming less loaded, since it gets clearer to the public that conspiracies exist. If someone tries to cut you off by calling you a conspiracy theorist, you may ask in return whether he believes in the official 9/11 theory of 19 conspiring young man to hijack airplanes etc. That is a theory worth further research.

Nothing is what it seems

We have been lied to at a gigantic scale. Most news items are essentially fake or they distort the truth otherwise. Another part of the lying is not covering real news. That is called “lying by omission”. Lies also abound in science, medicine, education, lotteries, competitive sports, religions, you name it.

You have more than you know

Part of the Q drops are written in an enigmatic way. Anons have come up with plausible interpretations in many cases, but Q probably indicates that there is more to find.

Another interpretation of this phrase is that we may have more talents than we thought. We can inspire each other into exploring new grounds. And also the world around us gives us many opportunities, even if our means are limited. This tweet by Martin Geddes illustrates that:

“I think that a purpose of my "funtography" is to remind people that they may be overlooking the beauty of the place they are already in. All my photos are a byproduct of the places I would be in anyway. I've no budget for trips to capture the Patagonian peaks touching the clouds.”

— Martin Geddes

You are watching a movie Enjoy the show

Many things that are unfolding have been planned. This may well apply to the Democrats raging against Trump: this may be the end of the DNC (Democratic National Committee). What would be the use of this show? It could be the best way to wake up the masses, and/or to disempower the Cabal.

Be careful who you follow

Public movements such as QAnon have people at the front lines. Among them may well be infiltrators who act for adversaries. These will start to build up trust, and at some point their behavior is intended to harm the movement.

There may also be people who just try to make a lot of money, without real heart for the cause: patriots. There are as well people who dedicate their days to the cause and who ask for financial support. On the boards some anons say that should not be done, but without support these good amateur journalists can't work, leaving the playing field to the lying MSM.

Every now and then someone accuses someone for being a patriot. Use your own discernment; be careful who you follow, including accusers.

No one person is above another

For thousands of years there have been masters and slaves; nobility and common people. Even now this persists. Super-rich families control the world; often of noble descent. They fly in private planes; they have often diplomatic status and they are not checked at airports. Normal people don't have such privileges.

People have got used to this; as if there is a Natural World Order¹⁵⁰.

The division has been developed over thousands of years. As Q wrote in Q140:

*“Wealth (over generations) buys power.
Power (over generations) buys more wealth/control.
Families combined (TRI) = NWO”*

— Q140, 11 November 2017

But it is ending starting now. No one person is above another. It will require coordinated work of citizens all around the world to ensure that the natural caste systems of the world are removed.

Power belongs to the people

¹⁵⁰ Q has asked what the N in NWO stands for, without providing the answer. N may be New, Natural, Nobility, Nassau, or even Nazarene.

In a true democracy, the power is not in the hands of a happy few. We have not had true democracies: the super-rich own the media and the main politicians. With mass deception there is no true free will, and elections were, if only for that reason, in essence, fake.

To end it, the top needs to be disempowered, and for that it needs to be dispossessed.

Such power accumulations should never return; therefore there should be limits to possessions. In general terms, for discussion purposes:

- Nobody needs to own more than roughly a billion dollars
- Nobody needs to inherit more than say, 100 million dollars

This breaks property rights at some level, and therefore it may sound communist to some. However, as Martin Geddes put it:

Property rights also protect the proceeds of crime; so they become 'crime rights'. Hence limiting societal ruin risk is OK.

The authors contend that you can preserve the full self-motivation engendered by small market capitalism ("living the dream"), and implement limits on possessions. All capitalist systems have built-in limits now, which is the prevention of monopolies. A limitation on possessions makes sense when managed by collaborative citizens rather than large government institutions, as a maintenance tool to limit the risk of re-implementation of excessive institutional corruption.

They want you divided, by race, religion, culture, class, political affiliation

A minority can rule over a majority by division. This is an old practice; the Romans named it "divide et impera" - divide and rule. It is easy to fall into this trap. E.g., you may think that Muslims are adversaries, especially if you believe that Muslim terror is real.

Fake news can effectively cause division. It may be the most powerful tool of the Cabal.

The truth is mind blowing and cannot fully be exposed The world cannot swallow the truth Those who know cannot sleep Pure evil

The Cabal has done terrible things: creating wars, mind control, human trafficking, torture, abuse, and murder in the most cruel forms. Full exposure of these crimes would endanger the mental health of normal people, so more than half of the knowledge of what they have done will remain hidden.

The choice to know will be yours

Videos and other evidence of horrible crimes will appear on the Internet. You can find it if you want, but the impressions may haunt you. You may ask yourself beforehand whether the knowledge would be worth the risks. Would you need to know? Maybe to be able to judge the offenders? But will you really know how they arrived at their bad deeds? How have they grown up? That could be in cruel families. It may be best to leave judgement to God and to criminal courts.

Put on the full armor of God

Q has several times quoted this text by Paul the apostle:

Finally, be strong in the Lord and in his mighty power. Put on the full armor of God, so that you can take your stand against the devil's schemes. For our struggle is not against flesh and blood, but against the rulers, against the authorities, against the powers of this dark world and against the spiritual forces of evil in the heavenly realms.

Therefore put on the full armor of God, so that when the day of evil comes, you may be able to stand your ground, and after you have done everything, to stand. Stand firm then, with the belt of truth buckled around your waist, with the breastplate of righteousness in place, and with your feet fitted with the readiness that comes from the gospel of peace. In addition to all this, take up the shield of faith, with which you can extinguish all the flaming arrows of the evil one. Take the helmet of salvation and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God.

Some practical tips to maintain a healthy state of mind in turbulent times:

- Creativity: photography, music, sculpturing, painting
- Spend time in nature or with friends
- Evade learning cruel details
- Don't be angry; instead be glad that it is all ending
- Allow for doubt and uncertainty. You don't know exactly what has happened, and why people arrive at their deeds
- Don't feel guilty for things you have done in your past. That may paralyze you; you are needed for the present and the future.
- If you have been harmed: try to forgive the guilty; use this as advice, not as a command
- Try not to judge people for what they have done to others; leave that to God (Thy will be done) and to courts
- Pray; ask the Lord for guidance and strength

Those who you are taught to trust the most...

You have learned to trust people such as clerics and workers for NGOs and charities. But this trust may well be misplaced. Trusted positions are valuable for criminals.

Also it is tempting to trust people who appear friendly; smiling and nodding. That may be genuine, but there are also actors who deceive you that way. Some reservation would be wise. Conversely, people who appear less agreeable, such as the autists on the chans, may be worth some more trust than you might initially think.

Symbolism will be their downfall

The Cabal uses symbolism for communication. This is a strong point, because it allows them to share secrets that normal people won't understand. At the same time it is a weakness, since the codes may be broken, and the users of the symbolism are identifiable.

There is much symbolism in nobility, royalty, freemasonry, the Catholic Church, pop culture. Many of these old Institutions will go down as The Great Awakening marches forward.

You are not alone.

Where We Go One > We Go ALL!!!

In this Great Awakening you may have felt lonely; most people in your circles (family, friends, and professionals) may have shown contempt to your opinions. Disputes may have led to broken friendships. This may have silenced you.

But as the movement grows, it becomes easier to come in contact with similar minded people over the Internet and in real life. Your common understanding builds trust; you support and you feel supported.

Q3038 - The Power of Free Thought

12 Mar 2019 - 1:55:14 PM

>Decide for yourself (be free from outside opinion).
>Decide for yourself (be objective in your conclusions).
>Decide for yourself (be true in your own beliefs).
>Decide for yourself (be open to following the facts).
>Decide for yourself (be strong in defending your beliefs).

>Decide for yourself (be free)
Those who attack you.

Those who mock you.

Those who cull you.

Those who control you.

Those who label you.

Do they represent you?

Or, do they represent themselves (in some form)?

Mental Enslavement.

The Great Awakening ('Freedom of Thought'), was designed and created not only as a backchannel to the public (away from the longstanding 'mind' control of the corrupt & heavily biased media) to endure future events through transparency and regeneration of individual thought (breaking the chains of 'group-think'), but, more importantly, aid in the construction of a vehicle (a 'ship') that provides the scattered ('free thinkers') with a 'starter' new social-networking platform which allows for freedom of thought, expression, and patriotism or national pride (the feeling of love, devotion and sense of attachment to a homeland and alliance with other citizens who share the same sentiment).

When 'non-dogmatic' information becomes FREE & TRANSPARENT it becomes a threat to those who attempt to control the narrative and/or the stable.

When you are awake, you stand on the outside of the stable ('group-think' collective), and have 'free thought'.

"Free thought" is a philosophical viewpoint which holds that positions regarding truth should be formed on the basis of logic, reason, and empiricism, rather than authority, tradition, revelation, or dogma.

When you are awake, you are able to clearly see.

The choice is yours, and yours alone.

Trust and put faith in yourself.

You are not alone and you are not in the minority.

Difficult truths will soon see the light of day.

Q3613 - What Happens When 90% of the Media is Controlled/Owned by (6) Corporations?

21 Nov 2019 - 4:00:19 PM

What happens when 90% of the media is controlled/owned by (6) corporations?

What happens when those same corporations are operated and controlled by a political ideology?

What happens when the news is no longer free from bias?

What happens when the news is no longer reliable and independent?

What happens when the news is no longer trustworthy?

What happens when the news simply becomes an extension/arm of a political party?

Fact becomes fiction?

Fiction becomes fact?

When does news become propaganda?

Identity creation?

How does the average person, who is under constant financial stress (by design), find time to research and discern fact v fiction?

Majority of people more prone to believe someone in power sitting behind a big brand 'news' name?

Do people [human psyche] tend to follow the 'majority/mainstream viewpoint' in fear of being isolated and/or shunned?

'Mainstream' is used for a reason [dominate trend in opinion].

[If majority of people believe 'x' then 'x' must be validated / true]

Why do 'mainstream' media heads, within different orgs, always use the same keywords and/or catch phrases?

Coordinated? By who? Outside entity providing instructions?

Do they count on the fact that people [human psyche] are more prone to believe something if heard over-and-over again by different 'trusted' sources?

Do 'echo chamber' tactics provide validation / credibility to the topic/point being discussed?

Threat to intellectual freedom?

Would control over[of] these institutions/organizations allow for the mass control of a populations viewpoint re: a desired topic?

Read again – digest.

Would control over[of] these institutions/organizations allow for the mass control of a populations viewpoint re: a desired topic?

Logical thinking.

Why, after the election of 2016, did [D]'s and media corps jumpstart a [coordinated & planned] divisive blitz intended to create falsehoods re: illegitimacy of election, character assassination of POTUS through sexism, racism, every other 'ism'?

Pre/post 2016 election?

Why were violent [masked] terror orgs such as Antifa immediately created/funded?

Why were these orgs tasked w/ immediate intimidation/shut down of any pro-POTUS rally[s] and/or events?

Why were marches immediately organized to counter and silence pro-POTUS rally[s] and/or events?

Why were marches immediately organized which divided people into sex/gender, race, [ism]?

When you control the levers of news dissemination, you control the narrative.

Control of the narrative = power

When you are blind, what do you see?

They want you divided.

Divided by religion.

Divided by sex.

Divided by political affiliation.

Divided by class.

When you are divided, and angry, and controlled, you target those 'different' from you, not those responsible [controllers].

Divided you are weak.

Divided you pose no threat to their control.

When 'non-dogmatic' information becomes FREE & TRANSPARENT it becomes a threat to those who attempt to control the narrative and/or stable [livestock kept – sheep].

When you are awake, you stand on the outside of the stable ('group-think' collective), and have 'free thought'.

"Free thought" is a philosophical viewpoint which holds that positions regarding truth should be formed on the basis of logic, reason, and empiricism, rather than authority, tradition, revelation, or dogma.

Appendix C - How to Create Public Banners

In order to expose and remove corruption with minimal casualties and maximum benefit, you may need to use tools that open eyes in the public domain. Some of the methods that can be used include social media, creating news articles, blogs, lawsuits, and videos. One additional method is the public banner, which has been effectively used by Veronica Wolski and others.

Overview

This information was created from an interview with Veronica Wolski, who has been using public banners for a few years in Chicago, to raise public awareness for The Great Awakening. Veronica¹⁵¹ can be found on Twitter.

Public banners have proven to be very effective in raising awareness for a cause. The banners described in this document have been successfully used at public demonstrations, and attached to wire fences and walls.

The above example can be seen from both sides, and the painted side faces oncoming traffic on a Chicago pedestrian bridge.

The banners should be sized for the following tradeoffs:

- Easy reading by moving traffic
- Mountable without a ladder
- Withstand wind gusts

Tools and Materials

Tools include:

- 18" x 1" ruler (to create spaces and straight lines)
- Protractor (to create radiused edges)
- Pencil to mark outlines
- Eraser
- Sewing machine

Materials include:

- White cotton bed sheets, low thread count (maximum transparency, viewable from both sides)
- Fabric paint
- Elastic cords, such as silicone bracelets or bungee cords
- Clips to secure ends of elastic cords, if necessary (campaign pins and silicone bracelets in example photos)

Text and Color Selection

- Text characters should be 14" tall and 8" wide, as a starting point
- Text should be quickly readable by traffic and make a clear point
- Square corners are easier to produce, but some characters are much easier to read with rounded corners, such as D, B, P and C
- Black color provides the most contrast
- Blue color emotes positive feelings
- Red color emotes negative feelings
- Some symbols, such as a heart, should use their normal color, e.g. red

Text Layout

You can see rectangular pencil layouts in the above example, based on 1" increments. Typically use the following basic rules:

- Fold the sheet in half and iron, to create a seam to mark the center, both vertically and horizontally
- Work out the lettering layout from the center, both vertically and horizontally
- 1" between letters
- 8" wide letters

- 14" tall letters

Banner Sewing

- The banner will be more durable if you sew edge seams into the banner
- Double fold the edges to create the edge seam
- Allow 2" margin on outside edges of banner (after edge sewing)
- Create mounting tabs by creating loops of doubled-over fabric and sewing them to the corners of the banner
- Add mounting tabs to the centers of long banner runs

Banner Painting

Paint with fabric paint, on one side, with a goal of being able to see the design from both sides of the banner

Banner Mounting

Banners last longer in a windy environment if they have an elastic attachment to their mounting surface.

The above example uses a silicone bracelet to go around a fence wire, through a banner tab, and have the 2 ends of the bracelet captured by a clip. In this case, the clip is a political pin. You can also use short bungee cords.

Appendix D - Meetups

Meetups, with The Great Awakening as a theme, may be inspiring and energizing. You can organize these yourself, small or large. There are plenty of tips on the Internet¹⁵². The following may also be useful:

- Find out the enthusiasm among your target group
- Determine a time and venue
- Limit the subject matter. The Great Awakening is a broad area, and it is easy to digress so that the main points are snowed under. It could be useful to preclude in advance more or less vague subjects such as:
 - Quantum mechanics and consciousness
 - UFOs
 - Free energy
 - Time travel
 - Space travel
 - Crop circles
 - Telepathy
 - Prophecy
- There is a risk that some want to piggyback with your meetup to propagate their ideas in such directions. For you it would be better if they organize their own meetups.
- Make a program
- Finance: cost of venue, consumables, speaking fees, travel. Do you invite particular speakers, and do they want travel reimbursement? Are attendees to pay? What do you do with money shortage or excess?
- Promote the event, e.g. on Twitter, Facebook, chat groups
- Clear leadership. People may well disagree with your own plans; you may give in but maintain your limits. Be clear if you have to enforce a decision; but never be rude.
- In some cases, you may want to consider a security guard, as The Great Awakening, and especially QAnon, can stir up emotional responses
